game. Running back Andy Taylor amassed 357 rushing yards for the contest, a state title game record that stands to this day.

"The way that team got better every week was something special," said Atwood, who was an assistant coach on the '01 team.

Before he became an assistant coach, Atwood had an incredible career as a three-sport athlete for the Celts.

In 1996, Atwood was the quarterback for the McNary football squad, leading the team to a league championship and helping them earn a berth in the state semifinal game. He earned all-state honorable mention status and participated in the East-West Shrine Game for the top players in the state.

On the hardwood, Atwood was a three-year letterman for the Celtics basketball team, earning all-league honors in his senior season and leading McNary to a conference title and a fifth-place finish at the state tournament.

Atwood also excelled on the diamond as an all-state outfielder for the McNary baseball squad. Because of all of his accomplishments during his senior year, Atwood was named athlete of the year by the Salem Sports and Breakfast Club in 1997.

Atwood went on to play football and baseball at UC Davis University and Willamette University. He also played professional football in Vienna, Austria for seven years. But even after graduating more than 20 years ago, Atwood still has that McNary pride running deep through his veins.

"I get really excited about the Keizer community and I can't stop thinking about ways in which it's special, because rather than being in a city with different high schools, we got one big school. It's a one horse town," Atwood said. "I still got that McNary High School spirit going man."

Along with Atwood, Volz was also one of the best multiple-sport athletes in McNary history, and is still the only female Celt to receive All-State honors in two different sports (volleyball and soccer).

Volz led the McNary volleyball team to three Valley League titles during her tenure with the Celts, including a fifth-place finish at the state tournament in 1998.

"That was probably my most memorable sports experience at McNary," Volz said. "It was such a special time in life."

Volz was selected as the Valley League player of the year in her senior season, as well as the all-region player of the year in volleyball.

In softball, Volz experienced similar success, helping the Celts win a conference title in all four years of her career. And in her senior season, Volz took home the same individual accolades as she did during volleyball season, once again winning all-region player of the year and Valley League player of the year.

Volz also was recognized at the female athlete of the year by the Salem Sports and Breakfast Club in 1999.

After high school, Volz received a scholarship to play softball at the University of Utah and even got the opportunity to play professionally in Europe for a season.

"I just feel incredibly thankful and blessed to be provided the opportunity to be considered for the Hall of Fame. To be recognized 20 years later is an incredible honor," Volz said. "I love the comradery of Keizer. I love that so many people I grew up with, parents and kids alike, still live there. That really speaks a lot about the Keizer community."
