Pentacle Theatre’s Dashing Through the Snow by Jessie Jones, Nicholas Hope, Jamie Wooten. Directed by Deborah Johansen. It’s four days before Christmas in the tiny town of Tinsel, Texas, at the Snowflake Inn. Trina, the harried yet upbeat innkeeper of this B&B, has more than she can handle coping with her eccentric, nuttier-than-a-fruiteake guests who include Mrs. Claus and one of Santa’s elves, a troupe of pompous B-level actors, a feuding family and a wacky wedding party. A fun-filled way to ring in the Christmas season. Suitability: This comedy is suitable for teenage and older audiences who can handle references to alcohol consumption and silly sexual innuendo.

Friday, November 29 – Sunday, December 22

Ken Ludwig’s ’Twas the Night Before Christmas performed by Enlightened Theatrics. Wednesdays through Saturdays at 7:30 p.m. The wild holiday adventures of a mouse, an elf, and a spunky little girl who just won’t take no for an answer, on their quest to find out why Santa missed their house last year. Matinees Sundays at 2:30 p.m. enlightenedtheatrics.org

Saturday, November 30

Santa arrives by helicopter at Volcanoes Stadium. Touchdown at noon, Santa visits and free photos until 3 p.m.

Dance and potluck at 7 p.m. - 10 p.m. featuring music by Lee Nicholas and Diane. Admission is $5

Sunday, December 1

Advent Lessons & Carols featuring the entire music ministry with choirs, strings, brass, handbells and organ—part of St. Paul’s Evenson Concert series. St. Paul’s Episcopal Church, 1444 Liberty St. SE, Salem. stpaulsoregon.com.

Friday, December 6 – Saturday, December 7

Faith Lutheran Church is hosting a free toy swap in partnership with Marion County Environmental Services. On Friday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., the public can donate their gently used, clean toys. Participants then come back on Saturday from 9 to 11 a.m. to shop for free toys.

Friday, December 6 – Sunday, December 8

Keizer Homegrown Theater presents The Santaland Diaries, an essay by David Sedaris about his stint working as a Christmas elf in “Santaland” at Macy’s department store. Visit www.keizerhomegrowntheatre.org for showtimes and tickets.

Saturday, December 7

Countryside Christian Church Holiday Bazaar from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. 50 or so vendors will feature handmade goods in addition to a gourmet bake sale.

FRANK,

Frank opted to retire from the fire service not because he’d lost his enthusiasm, but because another opportunity came calling. Frank’s parents owned the True Value Hardware in Keizer and a second location in West Salem. As they reached their Golden Years, they hoped their son would take over the business.

Frank graduated from San Jose State University with a degree in business management and started working at the family’s hardware store in Keizer soon thereafter. At that time, it went by the name Coast to Coast.

Frank ran both stores, oversaw a change to Ace Hardware and, finally, the shuttering of the Keizer location when a conflux of economic changes forced him to make the tough decision. Numerous employees of the Keizer store transitioned to the West Salem location when it happened.

The year after his retirement, Frank was named Keizer First Citizen by the members of the Keizer Chamber of Commerce.

He said that the fire service and business weren’t all that different at the end of the day.

“You have a certain set of skills that are unique, but the way you deliver them is no different than any other service – taking care of the customer,” he said.

For almost every year after he turned 18, Frank spent Sundays taking care of some his youngest customers, Sunday school students at Day-spring Fellowship Church.

In addition to his public roles, Frank was a long-time member of the Rotary Club of Keizer – serving as president from 2010-11, a one-time board member of the Keizer Merchants Association, a member of the city’s budget committee and, eventually, returned to the Keizer Fire District to serve as an elected member of the Keizer Fire Board.

first half of the year. Buttigeig raised $3,804.57 from two donors. The average contribution was nearly $346.

PRESIDENT DONALD TRUMP

Trump led all of his opponents during the first half of the year but now lags behind three Democrats. Tump’s total, $3,224, and average donation, $73, were dwarfed by Democratic contenders, but he had 16 donors – more than twice the number of each of the three leading candidates.

SEN. AMY KLOBUCHAR

Klobuchar’s $1,560 total all came from a single donor in four separate contributions of $390. It was still a marked increase over her Keizer-based support of $190 in the first half of the year.

OTHERS

Businessman Andrew Yang found support from two Keizer donors totaling $445.78. Sen. Kamala Harris found support from one donor to the tune of $262.84. Noticeably absent from the list of candidates receiving donations from Keizer residents is former Vice President Joe Biden, who leads the Democratic field in many polls.

TOURNEY: Logistics of parking, concessions TBD

Cherry City Baseball has hosted tournaments at KLL Park in the past, but they were more limited in scope.

“In those tournaments, we had about 10 teams each in three divisions. In some of the upcoming tournaments, we’ll be adding travel teams in 8U all the way up to 14U,” Hughes said.

He said KLL Park has an added benefit for local teams that often gets overlooked.

“There’s a lot of grandparents who want the opportunity to watch the kids play and having a place right in Salem-Keizer is going to be a big opportunity for them,” Hughes said.

Reiners added that having a hotel and, soon, a destination burger joint in Keizer Station sweetened the pot.

Signing outside tournaments to use the fields at KLL Park is seen, by some, as the way forward for the complex as a whole. Members of Keizer’s two prominent youth ball leagues, Keizer Little League and McNary Youth Baseball, have been discussing for months how to create a system that treats both fairly and raises money for the complex and the leagues themselves.

The final meeting of the Holiday bazaar in Keizer Dec. 7

Countryside Christian Church will host a Holiday Bazaar Dec. 7 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The event will feature approximately 50 vendors who will sell their own handmade, quality, products in addition to a gourmet bake sale.

group was slated for Wednesday, Nov. 20, past press time.

It is still unknown how parking for major tournaments that bring in numerous outside vehicles will be handled. Community volunteers, either connected with the youth leagues or from the public at large, will also need to be wrangled up to staff the concession stand during tournament weekends with longer-than-usual hours of operation.

TRAFFIC,

given Keizer’s close proximity to Portland.

The current plan involves stacking drive-through traffic from the entrance to In-N-Out to roughly the Cherris transit center.

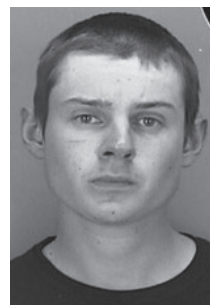

“This would be accomplished by segregating off a lane with cones and flaggers just for those wanting to use the drive-through,” Eppley said.

In-N-Out has the ability to stack 80 vehicles on site for the drive-through with an additional 70 spaces for dine-in. The business is planning for a peak of 180-vehicles in the drive-through line based on other openings. Traffic stacking is not expected to impact Interstate 5.

Another option includes stacking vehicles in the parking lot of Volcanoes Stadium and then metering them out to the east side of Target. Eppley said the In-N-Out planned meetings with Volcanoes and Target representatives to determine if an agreement could be reached.

Regardless of which plan gets greenlit, there are going to be opportunities for Keizer Police Department traffic team member to work overtime paid for by In-N-Out to augment the flagging crew they are hiring.

Representatives from Holiday Inn Express & Suites and the shopping center management team also attended the meeting.
