said. Two years later, Indiana was adopted and officially became a member of the Donahue family. During this time, Donahue says that her family experienced some financial hardships and that she and her siblings had to make multiple sacrifices — like skipping out on sports at times. But in the end, Donahue wouldn't change a thing. "She is the best little girl in the world. She is so wise and so smart and has been such a blessing to our family," Donahue said. "It's been amazing to have had this little girl come into my life and teach me so much." While there were numerous high-quality applicants according to MYB President Bo Lane, Donahue's essay made her stand out from the pack. "Regann's essay is really what captured us," MYB President Bo Lane said. "She embodies the word sacrifice on a personal level and I think that is why we felt like she was deserving." After being one of the senior leaders for the McNary girls' soccer team in the fall, Donahue was greatly looking forward to her final season of lacrosse as a senior captain. However, the COVID-19 pandemic ripped her final high school season away. For Donahue, the disappointment wasn't necessarily related to the sport. After all, she will be playing lacrosse in college next year. What was hard to take, however, was the realization that she wouldn't ever get to be with her McNary teammates again. "I'm still flabbergasted that something like this could happen," Donahue said. "I cried a lot because I knew that I would never be able to play with the same girls." Donahue started playing lacrosse just last year, but it didn't take long for her to fall in love with the sport and have a big impact for the Celtics squad. After starting the 2019 season as a defender, McNary head coach Becca LaFramboise moved Donahue up to the midfield, where she flourished offensively and defensively. "Regann has amazing field awareness and is a determined and motivated competitor," LaFramboise said. "She is really skilled with getting possession of ground balls and her stamina makes her an asset on both offense and defense." Donahue's favorite memory of her time as a McNary lacrosse player came in the Celtics final game of last season. Donahue scored the go-ahead goal with less than a minute remaining and the Celtics were able to play keep away to run the last 33 seconds of the clock to defeat Crescent Valley.

"It was one of the best things I have ever experienced on a sports field," Donahue said. EOU will have their inaugural season next spring and Donahue's coach believes that her former player will be in a position to succeed at the next level. "She is so versatile that she can play any position and do whatever the team needs of her," LaFramboise said. While she's ready to be a part of the school's first-ever girls lacrosse team, the main reason Donahue picked EOU was because of their nursing program. After college, Donahue plans to either work as a Neonatal Intensive Care nurse or as a midwife. "I want to go into nursing because of my love for babies and children. They are the purest forms of life," Donahue said. "I want to help families that are in need." Although she is ready for the next chapter in her life, Donahue is extremely grateful for her four years at McNary. "My four years at McNary were absolutely amazing. There is no other school I would have rather been at. It has been such an honor to be a Celt," Donahue said.

different areas. Ebbs has spent numerous hours volunteering her time at a food bank and homeless shelter. She also has served as a student trainer and youth softball coach. Most recently, Ebbs made and passed out sandwiches to the homeless in the Keizer area that were in need of a meal. "I feel for the people that aren't able to support themselves during this time. Not everyone is as fortunate as me. That's why I want to do what I can to help," Ebbs said. Even though she missed out on her junior season at McNary, expect Ebbs' impact to continue as she goes into her final season next year. "Her leadership is invaluable to this team. Taylor is someone that brings the best out of everyone because her teammates look up to her," Wise said.
