

Submitted Salem-Keizer School District released photos of some of the new McNary High School spaces last week. CLOCKWISE FROM ABOVE: Music room, hallway and weight room.

First look at new McNary spaces

Major construction is complete at McNary High School and Salem-Keizer School District is now preparing it for student use.

Unfortunately, the first time students occupy the space will be no earlier than November. “We’re planning a virtual ribbon cutting video celebration and building tour for release around Sept. 7 or 8,” said Karma Krause, bond coordinator.

Furniture for the new classrooms is being delivered and set up through early next week, along with floor clean-up and prep before staff enter classrooms. Equipment for the diesel bay and culinary programs is expected to be delivered next week, those two career-technical (vocational) programs expanded by the bond.

Contractors will be working through a list of remaining tasks for the next couple of weeks. Sod is currently being installed on the relocated soccer field. Parking lot paving, seal coat and striping should finish up by the end of next week.

SKPS extends EDGE registration

The Salem-Keizer School District has pushed back its deadline to register for the EDGE online program.

If families want their child to participate in the EDGE online program, applications must be submitted by Monday, Aug. 24. Applications can be submitted online, or for new students, during the online registration process.

If you have any questions about the EDGE program, please call 503-399-3041 or email infoedgeprogram@salkeiz.k12.or.us.

The EDGE online program is designed for families who know they want their child to participate in online learning throughout the school year, and do not plan to have their child return to their physical classroom

Families who want their child to return to in-person learning as soon as possible should not apply for the EDGE program; however, students will begin the school year learning online through comprehensive distance learning.

COVID-19 cases linked to Keizer In-N-Out, last was in late July

By ERIC A. HOWALD
Of the Keizertimes

The most popular spot in town for the past eight months has now become the Keizer’s first site of a COVID-19 outbreak linked to a restaurant.

In-N-Out Burger at Keizer Station, 6280 Keizer Station Boulevard, was listed as reporting five cases of COVID-19 in the Oregon Health Authority’s weekly report on coronavirus spread throughout the state.

In-N-Out has had five cases linked to the site. OHA officials launched an investigation on July 18 and the most recent onset of symptoms was listed as July 29.

In-N-Out’s vice president of operations, Denney Warnick said the day a COVID-positive employee worked in the restaurant was on July 28, and that a housemate of one of the employees was included in the count.

“We have been in contact with the Marion County Health and Human Services Department about the steps that we are taking in this situation to protect our associates and customers. Associates who have had close contact with the individual have been excluded from work,” Warnick said. “Nothing is more important to us at In-N-Out Burger than the health and safety of our associates and customers. In addition to our already-rigorous cleanliness and handwashing standards, we’ve taken many additional safety precautions including pre-work symptom and temperature checks for all Associates and enhanced disinfection and sanitation procedures.”

Symptoms of COVID-19 can take up to two weeks to present themselves and include: cough, fever, shortness of breath, fatigue, headache and body aches among others.

“State and local public health officials work intensively with staff at workplaces where outbreaks are identified to isolate sick workers, test and quarantine those who have been exposed and implement workplace changes to reduce risk of transmission,” the report states.

Only workplaces with at least 30 workers and five confirmed cases are included in the report.

In-N-Out shifted to drive-through service only when Oregon went into lockdown, but reopened its dining room area as Oregon began its phased reopening. It is not known whether In-N-Out altered its hours or methods as a result of the outbreak.

With the report, In-N-Out becomes the first restaurant with a reported COVID-19 outbreak in Marion and Polk counties.
