 approach one of the explorers from behind and, in response, he yelled at the male to get back. At this point the male started to advance on the explorer and I stepped in between them instructing the male to back away and leave. The male continued to make threats at us, including beating us up, killing us, and shooting the police," Farrand wrote.
 After the man made shooting gestures with his fingers near Farrand's face and refused to move along, Farrand called 9-1-1 to report the matter. The man then turned and ran south along River Road North.

After taking a report, Keizer Police Department officers located the individual walking along Cherry Avenue Northeast.
 "The individual is a local transient and we have had multiple encounters with him. He likes to yell at anybody who happens to be in the area," said Lt. Andrew Copeland of the Keizer Police Department.
 Copeland said the responding officers watched the man from a distance and he appeared to have calmed himself down. Police are not aware of anyone the man has physically assaulted.
