

Kettle corn company finds explosive success after Keizer move

PAGE A14

BUSINESS is poppin'

David Maldonado bags caramel corn at Suzy Q's Kettle Corn, which recently moved to Keizer.

Photo by ERIC A. HOWALD of Keizertimes

NEWSTAND PRICE: $1.00/ISSUE

SUBSCRIBER ADDRESS:

New life for local garden

By ERIC A. HOWALD
Of the Keizertimes

During the past year, a community garden in southeast Keizer has gone largely unused at Salem Mennonite Church.

A group of Keizer residents will begin restoring to its pre-pandemic state on Saturday, April 17, and they are inviting other members of the community to pitch in. From 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. The church is located at 1045 Candlewood Drive N.E.

"I live close to the church and I'm part of a group of other Keizer residents known as Progressive Keizer. RJ Navarro put me in touch with the previous coordinator and we decided to help restore it as a group," said Clare Snyder, project coordinator. "There are a lot of families in this neighborhood that could use the fresh produce and it can also be used to teach others

See GARDEN, page A20

OREGON'S
#1 FORD
DEALER

8 YEARS
IN A ROW

TEST DRIVE
THE ALL NEW BRONCO SPORT
& MACH E

3555 River Rd N, Keizer
(503) 463-4853
skylineforddirect.com