

A regal post

Salem sculpture artist Jim Johnson had his fourth piece of art selected as part of the Keizer Public Art program recently.

The metalwork piece featuring a bald eagle and standing about 8-foot tall was installed Monday at the northwest corner of the Chemawa Road North and River Road North.

Johnson's other works along River Road include Blind Date, on the southwest corner of the Chemawa-River intersection. Praise at the Keizer Plaza shopping center and Guardian, a dragon, in front of Abby's Legendary Pizza.

Surveys will inform county's development

Marion County is currently developing a five-year plan for housing, community development, and infrastructure. The plan will guide investment policy and actions such as housing, economic development, public services, public facility and infrastructure investments over the next several years.

Residents can take a survey on housing and development at tinyurl.com/mcdev21.

The planning process is intended to more comprehensively fulfill three basic goals: to provide decent housing, to expand economic opportunities, and to provide a suitable living environment. The plan depends on the opinions and experiences of people who are knowledgeable about housing and community development in Marion County.
