On the morning of Sept. 22, a large semi-truck carrying nearly 40,000 pounds of food arrived from Salt Lake City at the Marion Polk Food Share in Salem.

The truck, which contained food and household supplies donated by The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, was ultimately bound for the AWARE Food Bank in Woodburn.

The AWARE Food Bank was significantly damaged last month after a 24-year-old man intentionally set fire to the AWARE building, damaging a large portion of the food stored there.

According to Marion Polk Food Share, "This donation of high-quality, nutritious food and high-demand household items will help AWARE restock its shelves and will provide thousands of meals for our neighbors in the Woodburn area."

Below is a statement from Dan Kohler, public affairs director for the Keizer
