After an impressive regular season, former Salem-Keizer Volcanoes, and current San Francisco Giants pitcher Logan Webb was a standout performer in his first postseason. In Game 1 of the National League Division Series (NLDS) against the Los Angeles Dodgers, Webb pitched 7.2 shutout innings, giving up just five hits and striking out 10 in the Giants 4-0 win on Oct. 8.

Webb also pitched in Game 5 of the series on Oct. 14 and earned the no-decision after pitching seven innings, giving up just four hits and one run — the Giants were eliminated by the Dodgers after losing 2-1.

In his first full-season in the big leagues, Webb was 11-3 as a starter with a 3.03 ERA in 27 appearances.

Webb made 14 starts for the Volcanoes in 2015 and went 3-6 with a 4.92 ERA. He returned to Salem-Keizer in 2017 as a reliever and went 2-0 with a 2.89 ERA over 28 innings.
