now and reserve your tables. There are going to be a lot of last minute requests for tables that it will be impossible to fill. So if you want a table reserved, your best best is to call now and be sure to have one.

all workers were urged to stay on the job. If it was compulsory to leave, the workers were requested to stay at least until new workers could fill their place. Employment was assured all workers until October 1945, but an attempt to set a record between now and November 1st was planned in order to launch as many ships as possible from the three yards in that time. This special plea to employees to stick to their job was directed to those who were planning to take their vacation at this particular time.

Emphasis was placed on the fact that as badly as workers were needed, the company did not want the young people of school age to continue working. They were given credit for the amount of work they had done and praise for their patriotism, but that is would be of more benefit to them and their country for them to complete their schooling.
