The Chantileer Club met at the home of Irene Braggs. The secretary presided. Mrs. Rovine Martin won first prize, and second prize went to Winfred Cokren.

They had discussions of Bridge hands. Mrs. Thelma Flowers brought in a wonderful suggestion, that we passed out, "no more hands, we will bid regardless." That will be the rule of the Chantileer Club next week at Mrs. Jessie Flowers.

N. Y. S. C. A. D. Appoints Mrs. Hunter

NEW YORK—Mr. Irving M. Ives, chairman of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's New York State Commission Against Discrimination, this week announced the appointment of Mrs. Lillian Sharpe Hunter, nationally famous woman organizer and civic worker, as public relations consultant of the Commission which is mapping recommendations for submission to the New York State Legislature next February to remedy discriminatory employment practices based on race, color, religion and national origin.

The Commission was named by the Governor to recommend legislation for a permanent State Fair Employment Practices Commission. It has been busy in its several meetings to date, studying laws of the United States and of other countries, on discrimination in employment as a basis for its February recommendations to the Legislature.

Mrs. Lillian Sharpe Hunter, one of the Nation's outstanding business and professional women, whose indefatigable energy and ability have attracted many national institutions to her for campaign and fund raising purposes, is shown with Assemblyman Irving M. Ives, Majority Leader of the New York State Assembly. Mrs. Hunter has been appointed Public Relations Consultant for the New York State Commission Against Discrimination by Governor Thomas E. Dewey. Mr. Ives is chairman of the Commission.

The Greater Vancouver Women's Council will meet Wednesday, September 27, at 1 p. m. at 112C West Wintler Drive. Prior to the showing of war psychiatric films at last week's meeting, a dinner meeting was held at the home of Miss Eloise Keller, Ogden Meadow. At the suggestion of a member, the group decided to change names of service men or women who will receive Christmas cards or gifts, rather than planning an exchange among themselves.

At 1 p. m., Tuesday, September 26, a mothercraft class will be organized by Miss Muriel Young, public health nurse, at 122C West Wintler Drive.

Membership in the council and class is open to white and colored women living in the area.

During the noon hour Friday, September 29, a variety show will be presented at the Victory Center featuring talented Vancouver youngsters and sponsored by the recreation association, Mrs. Josephine Hasbrook, music director, said today.

Mrs. Hasbrook also announced that a program of sacred music will be conducted at the Kaiser shipyard every Sunday. The first program is scheduled for October 1, and will present the Bagley Downs children's chorus.

Several new classes will begin this week at the Burton Home community center, Mrs. Helen Vassard of the personal services staff, reports. The groups are being conducted by Mrs. Vassard, by Mrs. Hazel Pratt and Miss Edith Foster of the services department.

Coming instruction will be given on Wednesday and Fridays from 4:30 to 7 to 9 p. m. under the direction of Miss Eloise Keller.

Both white and Negro women are eligible for membership in all classes, Mrs. Vassard said.

Recreation association dancing classes are being conducted in all recreation centers, and youngsters wishing to appear on Mayflower matinee stage shows, both at the Castle theater and at McLoughlin Heights must have their dance routines approved by instructors before they will be allowed to take part, Mrs. Mary Ayers, dancing ac-companion, said today. Complete class schedules may be had at schools and community center project service departments.

Willis Williams, 847 NE Webster street, Portland, has joined the recreation association staff at Bagley Downs where he will work with Negro tenants, replacing Lee Standifer, who is now employed by the housing authority project services department as director of activities for colored persons.

Mr. Williams was formerly assistant playground director at Greensborough, N. C., and graduated from the Lutheran College at Greensborough and Lemoyne College, Memphis, Tenn.

Extensive Halloween plans are under way for Vancouver housing authority project residents, with special parties planned at all community centers, recreation workers said today.

An under "teen-age" costume party will be held at the Mill Plain center, and children parties are planned for both the Burton Homes and Bagley Downs centers.

Teen-agers will be feted at the McLoughlin Heights and Ogden Meadows centers.

Herney Hill is planning a carnival for the entire family with events for both adults and youngsters.

At Fourth Plain Village a motion picture show will be followed by a children's party.

Although the event is not definitely scheduled, there may be an adult dance at the Ogden Meadows community center, Leo Randall, recreation advisor, said.

A rummage sale for the American Red Cross will be sponsored in the near future by the Greater
