

NEGRO ASS'NS. SUPPORT 6TH WAR LOAN

The cities of Boston, Buffalo, Chicago and Durham, N. C., are planning large rallies next week to promote the sale of war bonds in connection with the Sixth War Loan Drive, William Pickens, chief of the International Section, War Finance Division, announced on Monday.

The Ministers Alliance of Massachusetts will sponsor the Boston show on December 1 with the cooperation of Carl T. Banks, deputy manager for the state, and Benjamin Seldon, of the interracial staff. Mr. Pickens will speak.

The Chicago demonstration on December 5 will be the $1000-a-plate dinner which the South Central Association is holding at the Morrison Hotel. Major Udell Turpin, of the Illinois War Finance Committee, is assisting.

"American Negro Day" will be sponsored in Buffalo on December 6 by the Erie County War Finance Committee and the Negro citizens of the city. During the last drive Brig. General Benjamin O. Davis addressed a large crowd on a similar occasion. Mr. Pickens will speak this time.

The Durham effort will come sometime during the first week in December, according to Ed Merrick. He is being aided by J. L. Henderson and J. S. Steward, all of the Negro War Finance Committee.

There is great rejoicing here, Mr. Pickens said, over the splendid meeting held by the Virginia State Negro Teachers from November 22 to 24 at Richmond. "We were able to reach into every corner of Virginia through this contact with the teachers," Mr. Pickens said. "It should be fruitful during the current War Loan campaign."

"Lucky" Millinder and his popular band made such a great hit with the dancing public that he has been re-dated. He is scheduled to return here on Thursday, Dec. 7th to the same old spot, McElroy's Ballroom at Fourth Avenue and Main Street.

Judging from the crowd attending the last "jump", this should be a sellout.

Connoisseurs of the fruit bowl may look forward to seeing Turkish dried figs on their grocers shelves soon. The War Food Administration announces that 5,000 tons will probably be available for American importers.

Student Nurses At Harlem Hospital

Three girls in starched blue-and-white uniforms with insignia on their sleeves, and clean white aprons—these are typical cadet nurses, students in training at the Harlem Hospital, 136th Street and Lenox Avenue, New York City.

Each wanted to take an active part in the war effort. Each regarded nursing a worthy profession. Their answer to both was the Cadet Nurse Corps, administered by the Public Health Service of the Federal Security Agency. Such patriotism, coupled with the realization that their future would be secure, has motivated approximately 2,000 Negro girls to join the corps since it was established over a year ago, the public Health Service said.

Enthusiastic and quietly earnest in turn, Armentha Elliott, of Dallas, Texas; Charmaine Young, of New Castle, Pa., and Priscilla Carter, of New York City, outlined the routine of a cadet nurse's day, and discussed their plans for the future.

Miss Elliott, 20, explained that their day started at 6:30 o'clock, "but it's about 7 by the time I'm buttoned into my uniform." Chapel and breakfast—and then they go on duty and to classes.

"Of course, the subjects differ in each class program," Miss Carter, 25, added. The only senior of the three, the white cap she wore was rounded, while those of Miss Elliott and Miss Young, both freshman, were pointed.

For a definite number of weeks, depending on school requirements, the freshmen spend the major portion of their day in classes. Their very limited duties on the wards are closely supervised. At the end of a six-month period, freshmen at the Harlem Hospital are presented with their caps, and they officially go "on duty."

"We really feel as if we are part of the hospital then, as we are actually filling a nurse's place," Miss Young, 19, said.

"On duty" means that the cadet nurses are assigned to the wards to care for patients under supervision, to the operating room and to the diet kitchen.

"After studying diet therapy," Miss Elliott explained, "we went right into the diet kitchen to plan menus and weigh food for the patients."

War duty seemed particularly fascinating to each of these future nurses.

"Having first learned the underlying causes of disease in class, it is interesting to watch the progress of a patient with whom you work," Miss Elliott said.

Leisure time for these hard-working nurses-to-be comes at the end of the day. From 4:30 in the afternoon until 7 is letter-writing time for some, while for others, it is time enough for a set of tennis.

"We have a recreation room here in the hospital," Miss Carter said, "with a phonograph, table tennis table and a handball court, among other things, to enjoy and to keep us fit."

From 7 to 9 p. m., the cadet nurses review the notes they have taken in classes, and read various texts on the subjects they are studying. Lights go out at 10, but from 9 until that hour, there is time for relaxation.

Since cadet nurses have a choice whether they will go into the armed forces or stay in civilian nursing, discussions among the girls concerning their future are not infrequent.

"I plan to go into the Army when I graduate in February," Miss Carter said.

"After the war, I shall go into obstetrics after I have done graduate work," said Miss Young. "I

Labor Advisor Named

Leon M. Erickson, until recently general chairman of the System Board of Adjustment at San Francisco, has been named assistant regional labor relations advisor for the Portland, Seattle and Spokane OPA districts, with headquarters in Portland, Charles R. Baird, regional administrator of the Office of Price Administration, San Francisco, announced today.

"Mr. Erickson is an outstanding spokesman for organized labor," Baird stated, "and will be in a position to develop closer cooperation of organized labor groups with OPA in holding down the cost of living and warding off inflation which is the greatest potential menace to the working man's standard of living."

Erickson was with the Southern Pacific Railway in various capacities in Portland from October 1922 to February 1929. In that year he was named chairman of the System Board of Adjustment, handling grievances for the Railway Brotherhood arising out of application of rules, pay rates, working conditions and enforcement of employment contracts.

On April 1942 he left Portland to serve as general chairman of the System Board of Adjustment at San Francisco, a post he maintained until now. Erickson will also serve as assistant to Joseph M. Casey, regional OPA labor relations advisor, headquarters in San Francisco.

A native of North Dakota, Erickson is 42 years old, married, and has five children.

want to be equipped to go as high in the profession as I can."

Psychiatry and plastic surgery are Miss Elliott's special interests. In either of these fields she plans to do rehabilitation work.

The composite opinion of these three typical cadet nurses is that any young woman between the ages of 17 or 18 and 35, who is in good health and a high school graduate or college girl with a high scholastic standing, should join the corps at once. They agree that the U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps, under the Public Health Service, is an opportunity to study for a postwar career few girls can afford to miss, the Public Health Service said. Cadet nurses receive scholarships covering complete tuition, books, fees, maintenance, uniforms, and even a monthly cash allowance. The parting thought of these three cadet nurses was, "It's satisfying to know that we are studying for a future with a purpose."

HERE'S WHAT I SAY!

Sir:

How'd you like to earn a decoration from Hitler or Hirohito? Here's the way you work it. You don't have to join the German Army or the Jap Army. You don't even have to blow up an American war plant.

It's easier than that. All you have to do is follow the line the Germans and their stooges are handing out in this country. All you have to do is swallow the race-bunk. That's what the Germans want us to do. They figure that if enough of us talk this race-bunk, we'll get to fighting among ourselves. That'll weaken us so much that we'll be easy pickings the next time—even if we should win this time.

Listen, brother. In this man's country you can marry the girl you like. You can pal around with the folks you like. You can pray in a Church of your own choosing. Okay. But that doesn't mean that one kind of Church is better than another. It doesn't mean one kind of people is better than other.

Let's look at the record.

Here's what science knows. It doesn't say maybe. It Knows.

There are no "superior races." There are only people who for a time happen to be luckier or better situated than other people.

There are no "inferior races." There are only people who have had bad luck, or poor education, or maybe live in a tough climate.

For example, there's no such thing as a "Jewish Race." There are Negro Jews, there are Chinese Jews. If you believe in the Jewish religion, you're a Jew. That's all there is to it—although Germans want you to believe different.

Examine a man's brain. It tells you nothing about his "race." Test his blood. It tells you nothing about his "race." (Healthy blood plasma can save the life of any wounded soldier of any color.)

Figure this one out. It's funny, isn't it, that the two peoples on this earth who are responsible for the fact that decent Americans are suffering and dying today — The German people and the Japanese people—are exactly the two people who believe in "race superiority" and "race inferiority" and who are out to murder everybody who doesn't agree with them.

So—if you want to be a German or a Jap stooge, you know how to go about it. Just get out in the street or talk to your neighbor and preach race prejudice.

Hitler will bless you, Hirohito will applaud you. In fact, you'll be a damned good Jap, a damned good German.

There's only one thing you won't be.

You won't be a good American.
