

Mrs. America Meets the Peace

CHICKEN SOON TO BE PLENTIFUL

Hard-to-get chicken will soon be much easier to find in the meat markets and poultry stores. This is the time of the year when farmers cull their flocks and sell broilers, fryers and stewing hens which they don't wish to keep in their laying flocks. Needs of the armed forces are also reduced, so fewer chickens will be set aside for that purpose. These two factors—the seasonal increase in poultry marketing, and more of the available supply for civilians—will make meal planning a little easier for Mrs. America.

TEA BACK TO NORMAL

Many a busy housewife finds relaxation in the middle of the afternoon with a cup of hot tea—or iced tea in the warm summer months. The tea-drinkers will be interested to know that tea supplies are almost normal now. Distribution controls are no longer needed and restrictions have been lifted on the size package sold and amount which could be distributed for civilian use. This applies only to black tea, however, as green tea imports have not been resumed yet, and there is no civilian supply.

ICE CREAM, WHIPPING CREAM BACK

Ice cream lovers will welcome the news that the War Food Administration has removed restrictions on the amount of butterfat which manufacturers can use in making frozen desserts. Richer ice cream will be available soon and whipping cream can again be sold to civilians. During the war, controls were set up limiting the amount of butterfat that could be used for frozen desserts and heavy cream, so that available supplies would be diverted to production of dairy products needed for military purposes.

CANNED FOODS

With the removal of rationing on processed foods, canned vegetables will figure more prominently in Mrs. America's meal-planning. There will be very good stocks of beans, corn, peas, and tomato juice, and more lima beans and carrots than we had last year. There'll be more tomatoes, but still the supply won't be as much as is normally consumed. Asparagus, sauerkraut and spinach will be in smaller supply than last year.

OVERSHOES AGAIN

Another step has been taken on the road to elimination of all rationing. The latest item to be freed is industrial rubber footwear. Rubber boots and rubber work shoes are not off the rationed list. Six types were rationed—hip height boots, above knee height boots, below knee height heavy boots, below knee height light boots, mine pacs, booties and other footwear in this class 10 inches or more in height, and pacs, booties and work shoes below 10 inches in height. Improved production and reduced military needs should enable workers in industry, fishermen, farmers and miners, to be able to get the rubber footwear they need to stay on the job.

Plans are being made now by the Office of Price Administration to extend retail dollar-and-cent pricing over a wide range of mom's, women's and children's clothing made of rayon and wool. More items will be available to clothing manufacturers, now that the war is over, and controls will be designed to see that clothes made will be sold to consumers at prices below present levels. Most items will be pre-ticketed, that is tagged by the manufacturer so that the ceiling price can be plainly seen.

turnover, duplication and lost time and travel in the job shifts during reconversion.

2. See the counsellor in your military separation center or assembly area about your veterans' rights to medical or dental training. Twelve thousand students for medical and dental schools are needed to help meet the nation's serious shortage of doctors and dentists.

3. Eat and store potatoes to avoid spoilage of this nourishing, cheap and plentiful food. The 1945 crop is expected to be one of the largest on record.

4. Postpone your pleasure travel a few months longer. Leave the trains free for more comfortable journeys for troops who will soon be returning at the rate of more than 500,000 a month.

5. Continue to save tin. Large quantities of salvaged tin will be necessary in the manufacture of many civilian articles and there will be no supplies from formerly Japanese-held tin mines for months.

Details of Ship Sinking in 1943 Now Revealed

AN AMERICAN BASE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC—(Delayed)—In a drizzling rain at dusk the U.S.S. McCalla, a destroyer, edged up to the docks heavily laden with exhausted men. They were survivors of the torpedoed U.S.A.T. Cape San Juan, hit in the vicinity of the Fiji Islands in mid-November, 1943.

Their faces showed the stress of the nightmarish hours just passed. Officers and enlisted personnel alike were garbed in blankets and nondescript pieces of clothing. They were mostly members of the 855th Aviation Engineer Battalion, a Negro unit now stationed in Manila. All were weary, but the sight of land after tossing about in the sea for interminable hours, was a welcome one for them.

U. S. Medical units were ready at the docks. Stretcher cases and those needing care were taken at once from the destroyer and whisked to one of two general hospitals. Under the watchful eyes of Colonel George Finney, Commanding Officer of the 18th General Hospital, and lieutenant Colonel Murray M. Copeland,

Construction to Begin on St. Philips in October

New Building to Cost $20,000; Ready by Easter '46

St. Philip's Episcopal church is building a new $20,000 church. Religious services will be held in the parish house during the time the church is under construction. There will be change in the hours of worship.

The old church is being razed and construction will start on the new building on or about October 1. Every effort will be made to finish the new church by Easter 1946.

The architect's pictures of the interior and exterior of the new building are on display at the parish house. Persons who have seen the pictures agree that the new church will be one of the most beautiful in the country. It will have statures of the roof which were carved in Belgium. These statures are considered the finest art of their kind in the Northwest.

In April, of this year, a new parish house was built at a cost of $20,000, which means St. Philip's will spend a total of $40,000 for new buildings. $36,000 of the amount needed has been raised in cash and pledges. The money is being raised by the National Council of the Episcopal Church, the Diocese of Oregon and the communicants of St. Philip's church. Communicants and friends of St. Philip's are asked to send their pledges and gifts to St. Philip's Church, c/o the Rev. L. O. Stone, 1216 N. Williams Ave., Portland 12, Oregon.

Commanding officer of the 142nd General Hospital, the survivors had immediate attention.

Both Negro and white troops, but more of the former, were among the survivors and, although haggard and worn, many smiled broadly as they stepped onto the dock. Representatives of the Army Special Service Office and the American Red Cross were on hand with cigarettes as they left the McCalla.

In the quiet of the hospitals, the more serious cases were handled at once, while those less affected discovered the luxury of a hot bath, a glass of cold ice water, a hot meal, clean hospital clothing and a comfortable bed.

After rest, the men had plenty to talk about as they exchanged experiences and located friends lost in the confusion.

Those unharmed were transported to a military camp. After food and rest they were taken to the Quartermaster warehouse and issued complete sets of clothing. Three hundred and four members of the 855th were later presented with the Purple Heart.

It had been a wild and nerve-racking experience — but they were again ready to settle scores with the little men from Nippon.

A JIVE EXPONENT!

Exclusive to Ted Yates Publications

Hot Lips Page is strictly a jive artist from 'way back. Well, as far back as the days when he tooted the trumpet and solidly "sent" diversion seekers frequenting Harlem's Small's Paradise. And from that nitery Page went to bigtime and has become a sensational box office smash. At the Oynx Club he thrilled cafe society. So you see the little man with the trumpet who is to embark on a cross-country tour on September 15 with his band—is by far a jump, jam 'n' jive specialist.
