

NEWSPAPER TALK.

Justice in Ireland is not blind. She has merely been knocked down, jumped upon, scalped, quartered and dragged out. She is pretty well used up.—Statesman.

A one-armed man in Salem lately applied for a divorce on the ground that the hand he had given his wife in marriage was lost and the contract was therefore void.—Roseburg Review.

The government is still tearing away fences from around cattle ranges. One by one monopolies are going down. We may yet live to see the day that "a man is a man."—Palouse News.

The carnage wrought in railroad accidents on inter-state lines this year has not killed a single editor. This is not the journalist's year to travel. He is at home thinking out loud about the inter-state commerce law.

The carnage wrought in railroad accidents on inter-state lines this year has not killed a single editor. This is not the journalist's year to travel. He is at home thinking out loud about the inter-state commerce law.

Twenty-two years ago the steamship Brother Johnathan was wrecked off Crescent City. Only last Monday was the wreck of the lost steamer found—eighteen miles north of Crescent City. The rock which wrecked her was not on the chart.—Portland News.

One Omaha editor calls another "a liar and a howling sneak." A liar he may be, but a sneak will ruin his business by howling. Howling is incompatible with susaking. A howling liar can trade. Perhaps the howling adjective was misplaced.—Omaha World.

Barnett G. Haskell is yawping in Denver. He announces his desire to kill a policeman, and his belief that nobody will dare hang him for it. We are willing to sacrifice a policeman just to prove that Mr. is mistaken. We know of no more beautiful neck for the halter than his.—S. F. Alta.

Maryland is said to have put a wholesome restriction upon the practice of wife beating, by passing a law that men convicted of that crime should be publicly flogged. That is all very well until some one rises the question that such a law is an infringement on personal rights.—Herald-Disseminator.

Henry George refused to serve on a jury. The refusal cost him $200. The ordinary citizen would rather do jury duty than pay such a fine. George, however, is not an ordinary citizen. He does not care much for a trifling fine. He has only to pass the anti-poverty hat a little more freely than usual to make himself financially even.—Portland World.

Gov. Waterman, republican, is rapidly undoing the work of his dead predecessor, Gov. Bartlett, democrat. Bartlett has been dead less than three weeks, and Waterman has put a republican in the place of every democratic official in office when he took possession of the governor's chair. Waterman believes that to the victors belong the spoils.—Portland World.

J. K. Stewart, a drug clerk, of Wichita, Kansas, has been sentenced to seventeen years and four months in jail and fined $2,800 for violating the prohibition laws of the state. Stewart pleaded guilty to an indictment containing 2080 counts. The punishment imposed upon him is the heaviest ever given for the violation of the liquor laws.—Courier-Journal.

An exchange wants the troublesome Apaches distributed about over the country, so that the people of Arizona may be free from their wars and rumors of wars. The proper way to make good Indians of them is to plant them, five and six in a bill, about six feet deep. An Indian thus judiciously planted has never yet been known to go on the war path.—Statesman.
