Our readers should ever bear in mind that Roxans is the place to buy tin and hardware cheap for cash.

Some people don't know much, but the simplest know enough to jump at the bargains offered at Sichel's.

J. W. Gage, of Mitchell, was in town yesterday. Mr. Gage says we have been misinformed regarding the disposition of the people of Bridge creek desiring to withdraw from Crooked county and form a new county. A dance will be given next Thursday evening, February 14th, at the Willow creek school house, for the purpose of raising funds with which to buy furniture for the new school house. It being for a good cause, will no doubt be well patronized.

This week C. L. Salomon's building on Second street, one of the oldest buildings in Prineville, and which has been occupied by different owners as a wagon and blacksmith shop since 1873, was torn down. This an old land mark has succumbed to the march of progress.

The many old friends of Dr. L. Vanderpool, who was Prineville's first physician, will be pleased to learn that he has gone into the medical manufacturing business. The doctor is a big-hearted, whole-souled old gentleman, and is kindly remembrance by many of our old residents.

For the past few years we have threatened delinquents with lawsuits, and have even gone so far as to put accounts in the hands of collectors; neither plan has proven satisfactory, so we have concluded to offer inducements that no man who has any business about him can refuse to avail himself of. For particulars see advertisement on first page.

County court has been in session during the week and had not adjourned yesterday evening at the time of making up the forms, hence we are unable to give proceedings this week. Very little business, outside of appointing of road supervisors, adding bills and making up the jury list, had been transacted. Full proceedings next week.

Attention is called to the new advertisement of Chas. M. Elkins in this issue. Mr. Elkins has enlarged his business by purchasing J. C. Luckey & Co's entire stock, and has added wagonmaking to his business, so he is prepared to do all kinds of wagon work as well as general blacksmithing. When in need of anything in his line give him a call.

Many of the oldest and best patrons of the Ochoco Review are republicans, and take the Review only for the local news. In order to treat such of our patrons fairly and give them a leading city paper and able exponent of republican doctrine, we have made arrangements with the S. F. Call, whereby we are enabled to make the following rates: The Ochoco Review and Weekly Call one year, $2.75; the Review and Morning Call, published every day, one year, $3.50.

The other day George Dodson and Joe Crooks desired to make a friendly call at this office, but noticing the cold, inviting appearance, concluded it was best to bring along a supply of carbolic producer, so they came into the sanctum laden with wood. We were of course grateful, for it made the whole office glow with acceptable warmth, and probably ought not to ask any questions, but our curiosity leads us to want to know from whose wood pile they borrowed it.

When two old heads are seen privately caressing, everybody concludes something is going to be done. Last Sunday a private detective in the employ of the Review discovered Ben Allen and E. R. Cary in a secluded spot over in Sam Newson's garden, earnestly engaged in conversation. He concluded something was up, so he got to the leeward and slipped up, so he got to the leeward and slipped up, so he got to the leeward and slipped up.

Last Monday Douglas McGruff a herder in the employ of the Ballwin Sheep & Land Co., accidentally shot himself with a 44-caliber revolver, the ball passing through the fleshy part of the left arm and lodging in the back near the spinal column. The accident occurred about 10 o'clock, but McGruff was lucky enough to stay with his sheep until evening, when he came to the Hay creek store and had the ball extracted. He refused to have a physician sent for, so Charlie Van Houten and James Loney, who chanced to be spending the evening at Mr. Van Houten's, undertook the operation. Neither of the gentlemen was much versed in the science of surgery, but they were most successful in performing this operation, removing the bullet and dressing the wound as scientifically as an old practitioner M. D. would have. McGruff suffered very little inconvenience from the wound and was herding sheep the next day.

Our space will not permit giving State Treasurer Webb's report in full, but the following totals of the receipts and disbursements of the state for the past two years are taken from his biennial report submitted to the legislature last week: Total receipts for the two years ended Dec. 31, 1888, $2,034,636.64; disbursements for the same period, $1,791,228.25; balance on hand, $243,408.39. He reports the total indebtedness of the state at the beginning of the year to be $43,551.77.

Passed Away. On last Monday morning a gloom was thrown over the entire community by the announcement of the death of Mr. J. T. Bushnell, which occurred at his residence in Prineville shortly after 12 o'clock of that morning.

For many years Mr. Bushnell has been one of our best respected citizens and business men, having been engaged in the saddlery and harness business in Prineville since 1880, and by strict integrity in business and sober and industrious habits had won the respect and esteem of his fellow man. In 1884 he was elected treasurer of Crook county, in which capacity he served two years.

Mr. Bushnell was born near Kerbyville, Adams county, Missouri, on February 2, 1848, and came to Oregon when a boy. On October 15, 1873, near Salem, Or., he was married to Miss C. Croisan, his present widow. He was an agreeable companion and neighbor, a kind and affectionate husband and father, one whom all will miss, and one for whom the whole community may join his bereaved wife and three children in shedding tears over his grave.

The funeral services were held on Tuesday at Union church, Rev. Mr. Grant delivering an eloquent funeral sermon, after which a large concourse of friends followed the remains, in solemn procession, to the cemetery, where all that remained to those that were near and dear was laid to rest by the Masonic fraternity, of which society Mr. Bushnell was an honored member, and at the time of his death was master of Prineville Lodge No. 76.

Condition of Range Stock. By inquiry from stockmen from all parts of the county, we learn that range stock generally is in good condition, and it is thought that the loss will not reach 5 per cent. This is indeed flattering, when the condition of stock and the scarcity of grass on the range last fall is taken into consideration. The prospects at the beginning of winter was anything but flattering. The past season having been dry, grass had not grown to its usual height, and there had been about two hundred thousand foreign sheep summered in the county, which had materially damaged the range, so stock had not fattened as they should. But this seems to be a specially favored section, and the present mild winter has saved the country a serious loss in livestock which could not have been avoided had the weather been severe.

Will Be Recommended. We have been shown a letter from Mrs. Mitchell, widow of Capt. Mitchell, who was at one time agent at the Warm Springs agency, to Mr. J. C. Luckey regarding his appointment as agent, in which that estimable lady says: "Capt. Mitchell was well acquainted with Gen. Harrison and if living would do all in his power to aid you, as he always held you in high esteem. I have spoken to a friend of our family, who was a law partner of Gen. Harrison's, and who is one of the general's warmest friends, to intercede in your behalf."

Besides such recommendations as this, Mr. Luckey is highly recommended by the leading business men here as well as those of Eugene City, his former residence, and nearly all the Indians on the reservation have partitioned for his appointment. There is little doubt but Mr. Luckey will be one of Gen. Harrison's first appointees.

An Unusual Criminal. A short time ago a Portland crook by the name of Frank Howard was sentenced to the penitentiary, and in being conveyed to that institution declared he would not work. He was, nevertheless, put to work in the moulding room, and his first act was to burn himself so as to be disabled for a short time, but after recovering he was again put to work, and on day last week when no one was watching he seized a dull hatchet and cut off his left hand, stating after the act was done that he did it to avoid work.

A few days after he tore the bandages from the wound to prevent its rapid healing. Convicts frequently resort to all manner of excuses to keep out of work, but Howard, we believe, is the first on record to mutilate himself for this purpose. He is said to be one of the worst criminals in the state, and even his hardened associates in the penitentiary hope that his wounds may result in making him a candidate for executive clemency at the "court above."

New Laws. The following bills have passed both houses of the legislature and only require the Governor's signature to make them laws: Senator Watt's bill authorizing the construction of a bridge across the Willamette river between Marion and Yamhill counties. Senator Raley's bill to appropriate money in aid of a wagon road from Pendleton to Canyon City. Senator Irvine's bill to incorporate the city of Halsey. Senator Carson's bill to amend the Portland charter, authorizing the water committee to issue bonds to the amount of $1,500,000.

State Orphan's Home. Archbishop Gross has started a project for establishing a state reformatory or home for orphans which is deserving of success and is meeting with deserved encouragement. The subscription was started by the archbishop himself, who kindly donated 500 acres of land for a building site. An effort is being made to procure 200 subscribers at ten dollars per month each for five months, or five dollars each for ten months. If this can be accomplished, the building will be begun by the 1st of April. In addition to this, a society has been formed, its branches extending all over Oregon and Washington territory, each member of which pledges himself or herself to pay 25 cents per month until the college is built. The archbishop has issued circulars to the various parishes in his diocese requesting them to organize societies to act in conjunction with the central society in Portland. These notices will be announced in the Sunday services and all who are able will be enjoined to identify themselves with the enterprise. This institution is to be a home for the care, support and education of orphans and destitute children, irrespective of creed, color or sect. Being entirely non-sectarian, this institution is deserving of all support.

Clark Fleck, the young gentleman who worked in this office for several months past, but went to The Dalles recently, writes us under date of the 3d that he arrived at that place on Jan. 31st, after a pleasant ride over 120 miles of excellent roads and found The Dalles enjoying spring-like weather, though the streets were muddy, there having been considerable rain in that section. The Columbia river, he says, has not been frozen over this winter, though the steamboats are laid up in winter quarters. He says the Salvation Army is holding forth at the garison and is drawing large crowds.

Wonderful Cure. To the S. B. MANUFACTURING CO. GENTLEMEN:—I take this method of informing you of the wonderful effects of your S. B. Headache and Liver Cure. I am in my sixtieth year, have had what the doctors call Kidney disease for 35 or 40 years, my liver and bowels being badly affected, going at times as long as 14 days without evacuation, in fact, I was in a deplorable condition, not being able to work for five or six years. About one year ago I got acquainted with Mr. Hamilton, a merchant, of Grass Valley, Oregon, who induced me to try your S. B. Headache and Liver Cure, and to my great surprise I am well of the Kidney disease, which for years kept me from sleeping a good portion of the time. Now my back is as strong as ever and I am not troubled nights at all. I have considered myself cured of this terrible malady for the last five months, with no symptoms of its return up to date. I am seventy-five per cent better of the constipation of my bowels, which has troubled me so long that I had little or no hopes of ever being well again. At first it required one-third of a bottle to move my bowels, while now one spoonful is quit enough. I have used six bottles. My father died with the gravel, and I expected to go the same way, but I have no such fear at this time. I will praise the S. B. Headache and Liver Cure to everybody, as I consider it a sure cure for such diseases. If you wish to publish this, you are at liberty to do so. Respectfully, J. H. KNAPP. Rutledge, Wasco Co., Oregon, Dec. 6, 1888.

Advice to Mothers. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, for children teething, is the prescription of one of the best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and has been used for forty years with never-failing success by millions of mothers for their children. During the process of teething its value is incalculable. It relieves the child from pain, cures dysentery and diarrhoea, griping in the bowels, and wind-colic. By giving health to the child it rests the mother. Price 25c a bottle.

Representative Roberts' bill to change the name of Ayvill, Crook county, to Bandon. Representative Maxwell's bill to change the time of holding the terms of the county court in Tillamook county. Representative Harrington's bill amending that section of Hills Code defining magistrates, so that circuit judges are included.

Not a Chestnut. Bones—Say Brown can you tell me sir, what is the most wasteful article of a lady's dress? Brown—Can I tell you what is the most wasteful article of a lady's dress? Of course I can sir. It's a bonnet.

Bones—No, sir; that's not the answer. Brown—Say let me ask—then he'll know. Bones—Come sir, if you don't know I'll tell you. The most wasteful article of dress a lady wears is a corset.

Bones—A corset, I don't see the point. Bones—Isn't it always waist full when it's on after being sold at such very low values at the Brick Store? Brown faints.

An Unpleasant Eruption. Last Thursday quite a furor was raised among the patrons of the public schools by the teachers suspending 17 students for violating rules prescribed for the government of the school. The rule which was violated was one providing that any pupil absenting himself from the school without a good excuse shall be suspended until action of the school board shall be taken. Tuesday forenoon the teachers dismissed school to allow the pupils to attend the funeral of the late J. T. Bushnell, informing them that school would again convene at 1 o'clock. A majority of the students appeared at the prescribed hour, but those who were suspended failed to attend during the afternoon session, whereupon they were suspended. The directors held a meeting on Thursday evening and the teachers were instructed to re-instate all suspended pupils upon their making due apology to the school and by making up time lost from recitation. A number of the students have availed themselves of the proposition, while a few refuse to re-enter school.

Such eruptions in our public schools are, to say the least, disagreeable, and evinces a disposition on the part of the offenders to refuse to submit to laws necessary for their government. There seems to be an idea prevalent among some of the patrons of the schools that they can send their children to school one day and keep them out the next; in other words, that the school has no authority whatever to enforce regular attendance of pupils. The idea is decidedly erroneous. Any parent who reasons at all must know that others have rights as well as he; that if his children are not regular in attendance, they retard the progress of classes, and thus encroach upon the rights of others. And further, every parent should realize that his children are now forming dispositions that will be characteristic through life; that if the child is allowed to disobey rules of school and consider them unjust, he will in after life look upon the laws of the state as unjust and will feel no hesitancy in violating them; and if the parent encourages his child in disobeying rules adopted for school government, he is instilling into the mind of the child an idea that there should be no law higher than his ungodenable will. We trust that the parents who are encouraging this feeling of insubordination will come to their senses and do their children the justice of returning them to school.

A meeting of the citizens and patrons of this district was held at the court house yesterday afternoon to take action in reference to this matter. A. C. Palmer was made chairman, and H. A. Dillard secretary. The following resolutions were passed: "Resolved, That it is the opinion of this meeting that the directors should permit the pupils recently suspended to return to school without punishment or being compelled to apologise, or stay in after school hours, and that the directors accept the written excuse of the parents."

"Resolved, That the directors be requested to adopt the following rule: Hereafter whenever a student shall present written notice that his or her absence was by the request or consent of its guardian or parent, that such notice shall be a sufficient excuse for such absence, and that all rules to the contrary be repealed." Such action as the above we cannot approve of, though it was the unanimous resolution of quite a large number of the patrons of the school, for the reason it is establishing a dangerous precedent. It is liable to create in the mind of the pupil that he can at any time violate any of the rules of school, and escape punishment by calling an indignation meeting and getting the people to resolve that such rules should be repealed. Of course yesterday's meeting was governed by excitement caused by the recent unpleasantness, and we cannot but think the people on more sober consideration will also view the matter in the same light and regret the action that has been taken.
