Linn Woods is having considerable improvements made to his dwelling.

Three dollars will pay for the Ochoco Review and S. F. Call for one year.

Ex-County Clerk Brown and family returned on Tuesday from the mountains.

Knox Huston is now comfortably and costily located in his new office on Main street.

Several parties intend putting in bids for building the new county bridge across Crooked river.

Several parties in this county want to buy stock sheep, but there are very few offered for sale.

A. B. Webdel started last Monday for Webfoot with eight head of fine young geldings for sale.

George Jones and family left yesterday morning for Harrisburg. They will be gone about three weeks.

No further reduction in prices is needed at Bowman's. Everything is now marked down to the lowest notch.

A Hackleman passed through town on Sunday en route to Albany from his stock ranch on Camp creek.

Mark Cary was called home Tuesday from a pleasure trip to Matlatlan, on account of the sickness of T. A. Uren.

Ex-Sheriff John Combs has returned from a protracted visit to Willamette valley, looking as fat and hearty as ever.

Wm. Allen came back home from Willamette valley last Saturday. Mrs. Allen and the little girl remained at Halsey.

Rue Bosten, one of the old-time boys of this country, was in town Wednesday shaking hands with old acquaintances.

Farmers whose wheat is ripe say the berry is plump and that this year's crop will make an excellent quality of flour.

Geo. Gibson was down from Newsum creek yesterday. He says the farmers in his neighborhood are ready to begin threshing.

J. Nat Hudson and family passed through town last Saturday returning home to Harney City from the Cascade mountains.

Col. Smith says he has found it difficult to get hands to work on the road to complete his contract for building the road around Rock Point.

For Sale—One of the finest little ranches in Crook county, located 3 1/2 miles from Prineville. For particulars inquire at this office.

T. A. Uren has been confined to the house all week with an attack of fever, though he is now recovering and expects to be about in a few days.

One by one those who were rusticated in the mountains return to their homes, and ere long Prineville will regain its usual number of inhabitants.

D. F. Stewart is putting in a new bolting process in the grist mill and expects to be able to make a better quality of flour this season than ever before.

M. Sichel & Co. are making a memorandum of the fall and winter stock they expect to lay in. As soon as M. Sichel buys this in Portland he will return home.

Lige Sparks and Johnny Stevens were over from Squaw creek the first of the week. They say they have harvested more hay on their places this year than ever before.

T. H. Glaze came over from the Black Butte country the first of the week. He says there has been more hay harvested in that section than at any two harvests in the past.

Elder Holman has held religious services at Union Church each night during the week. Mr. Holman is a pleasant speaker, and his lectures are listened to with interest.

Mrs. A. Robbins returned on Monday from a visit to The Dalles, Union, La-Grande and Baker City. She has bought a residence in Union, where she will move this fall.

The total amount of delinquent taxes due Crook county is $13,995 08, divided as follows: On the roll 1887, $1642 33; on the roll of 1888, $2458 82; on the roll of 1889, $9915 93.

Dave Hobwood's children are said to have the whooping cough. The disease will most likely spread throughout the town, and most of the young folks will be whooping ere long.

Parties who have seen the hay that Jerry Young has put up on his Squaw Flat ranch say he has enough hay to winter all the stock that now ranges west of the Deschutes.

Linn Woods started on Wednesday for Foley Springs after his family. Life at the springs had not proven beneficial to Mrs. Wood's health, hence she desired to return to Prineville.

C. M. Charlton and family returned on Thursday from the Deschutes where they had been camping.

They left G. W. Barnes and family encamped on the banks of Little river.

Uncle Elisha Barnes finished haying this week. He has put up something over 200 tons, which he says is the most hay and the best quality that he has ever put up on the ranch.

Mannel Sichel left by Monday's stage for Portland, where he will spend a few days and then join his wife at Clatsop beach. He expects to be gone from Prineville about a month.

Col. Helm and A. T. Jenkins returned on Wednesday from Harney county. They did not find the "Blue Bucket Diggings," but had a pleasant trip and did considerable insurance business.

C. F. Smith has begun the work of grading the county road around Rock Point on Crooked river. He had a force of hands working this week and last, and has most of the heavy blasting done.

Chris Cobbs has leased A. Hamilton's livery and feed stable, and hereafter will be sole proprietor. Chris is a good business man, well liked by everybody, and a profitable business is in store for him.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Luckey, of the Warm Spring agency, were in town the first of the week. Mr. Luckey says the plans and specifications for the new Indian school have been approved by the department.

Farmers complain that harvest hands have been scarce all summer. Joe Crook was unable to find a hand who wanted to work, so he and his little boy about ten years old did their haying alone, putting up about 50 tons.

B. S. Pague's "Crop-Weather Bulletin" for August 9th reports a yield of 60 bushels of barley to the acre in Crook county. At that time no barley had been threshed in this county, so where he got his information is a wonder.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Combs returned the first of the week from Washington, where they have been for the past three or four months. Their many friends will be pleased to learn that they have come back to Prineville to stay.

Oliver Hyde and Harry Sommerville, of Harrisburg, were in town last Tuesday on their way to John Day. Mr. Hyde intends closing out his stock business on the John Day this summer, having gone into business in Harrisburg.

Jasper Gulliford and family arrived here from Halsey last Tuesday, and are visiting relatives and old friends in this locality. Mr. Gulliford is the same Jas. as of old, though he looks as if he would lift up a little greater weight on the scales than he formerly did.

Episcopal service will be held at the Methodist church in Prineville on Sunday, August 24th, by Rev. Mr. Sutelliff, of The Dalles, and Rev. Mr. Potwine, of Pendleton. All are invited to attend, and members of the Episcopal church are especially requested to be present.

Justice Sasser, of Mitchell precinct, neglected to hold an inquest upon the remains of Geo. Chamberlain, who was killed last Monday, and in absence of the coroner from the county, Justice Bell, accompanied by Dr. Belknap, went to Mitchell on Wednesday to hold the inquest.

When a man gets his inventive genius started he seldom lets up until he has invented something grand, and we expect next to hear of J. N. Blair studying out a flying machine or some like contrivance. This week he showed us a tug-boat which he has invented and has applied for patent.

The directors of this school district have employed Mrs. Waller as teacher of the primary department in the schools here, and Mr. F. M. Anderson as teacher of the intermediate department. They have not yet employed a principal, though the position has been offered Mr. Elliott, who is teaching at Liberty.

Pierce Chamberlain, brother of the man who was killed on Mountain creek last Monday, was in town Wednesday and employed J. F. Moore to conduct the trial on part of the prosecution against Flock who did the killing. Mr. Moore, accompanied by his wife, left Wednesday evening for Mitchell to attend the preliminary examination.

John Dee, wife and family, late arrivals from Old England are visiting this country and if suited will probably locate here and become permanent residents of Crook county. Mr. Dee is a brother-in-law to C. C. Maling, an old-time resident of this county. We hope they may find a desirable location and thus become one of our number.

The crowd of Prinevillians who were mentioned last week as having gone to the head of the Deschutes have been heard from. Two of them, Percy Davis and Ves Belknap, were last seen going at break-neck speed past the upper settlement, Percy representing that Ves was Dr. Belknap and had been called to the summit to treat one of the Three Sisters for volcanic troubles. It was, no doubt, fun for the boys to impose upon the credulity of the people, but Doc has sworn vengeance upon the hilarious youths when they return.

Last Tuesday Joe Elliott had quite an exciting runaway at the Sichel place 10 miles above town. He was hauling hay and had his lines tied to a stake in the front of the rack. The horses became frightened and started to run, throwing the hay and a boy who was on the load off as they crossed a small ditch. After exercising around the field for a while they got into the road and ran past Mr. Claypool's place before they were overtaken and stopped. No damage was done to the team or wagon, but they came near scarring the life out of Billy Palmer, who was coming down the road with Howard's meat wagon.

Nearly all the railroad men in New York went on a strike last Saturday. They demand a slight advance in wages.

ANOTHER HOMICIDE.

John Flock Shoots George Chamberlain Three Times on Mountain Creek—Probably the Result of an Old Feud—Flock Surrenders to the Authorities.

Last Monday afternoon John Flock shot and killed George K. Chamberlain on the latter's place, about five miles from Mitchell, on Mountain creek. The facts connected with the killing, are as near as we have been able to learn, are as follows:

Chamberlain and Flock have places adjoining and their houses are about 300 yards apart. To get into Chamberlain's house he had to pass through a gate near Flock's house. On the evening of the shooting Chamberlain was riding toward his house from the gate, and it is claimed, shot Flock's dog, when Flock fired three shots at him, all of which took effect in Chamberlain's head and body, causing almost instant death. Flock immediately went to Mitchell and surrendered to the justice of the peace. This account is only one side of the case, and the preliminary examination, which was to take place before Justice Sasser at Mitchell yesterday, may bring out an entirely different account.

We understand there had been ill feeling existing between the parties for several years, and probably the shooting last Monday was the outcome of an old feud that had long been brewing. At least parties here say that Flock had at times previous to their difficulty threatened to kill Chamberlain. If this be true, the way in which he has put his threats into execution will most likely land him either at the gallows or in the penitentiary for a long term.

THE CORONER'S INQUEST.

Justice M. H. Bell, who was called to Mitchell to hold an inquest over the remains of Chamberlain, returned yesterday, and from him we have gained some additional facts regarding the killing and also a synopsis of the evidence produced before the coroner's jury.

The remains were buried on Tuesday, and Justice Bell had them taken up on Thursday. He called in as jurors O. S. Boardman, Jas. Woods, Med Moore, M. Putz, Fred Looney and Jas. Willis. Dr. Belknap examined the body and found three gun shot wounds, either of which would have been fatal.

The first was in the center of the back and passed through the body, the other two in the head, one entering the left side, tearing off considerable of the skull, the other entered the top of the head and came out at the chin.

Dude Edmunds, a boy 10 years of age, brother of Mrs. Chamberlain, testified that he was standing in front of Chamberlain's house and saw George come through the gate and ride in a gallop toward the house. When Chamberlain was in front of Flock's house he heard three shots fired and saw George fall from his horse.

Mrs. Flock, wife of the man who did the shooting, testified that Chamberlain rode up in front of their house, stopped and fired two shots at their dog, killing it; that her husband was holding the baby in his arms and went to the door, when Chamberlain pointed the pistol toward him; Flock then went into the bedroom and laid the baby on the bed, passed into another room and got his gun (a Winchester rifle) then went out of the kitchen door and shot Chamberlain.

Other witnesses testified that the pistol found on Chamberlain had only one chamber empty, also that the tracks made by his horse did not indicate that he stopped in front of Flock's house.

The verdict of the coroner's jury was that Chamberlain came to his death from the effect of gun shot wounds inflicted by John Flock and charges Flock with felonious murder.

Encouraging Railroad News.

A friend at Portland, who is in a position to know and who is reliable authority, writes under date of August 10:

"I inform you from reliable authority that negotiations are pending for the negotiation of the Oregon Pacific railroad by the Southern Pacific Company. If this deal is consummated, the extension of the O. P. is an assured fact, and your fanciful dreams of a railroad through your country will be realized."

It is certainly to be hoped that this deal may be consummated, for should the S. P. get control of this road there is little doubt but it would be completed through this country, either to an eastern terminus or into the Pendleton country.

In either event this country would be given railroad communication with the outside world which we sorely need, and which we must have to develop the resources of our naturally wealthy country.

Mitchell Notes.

August 7, 1890.

Freethought in Mitchell is booming.

Jim Chamberlain is building a new barn.

Whisky in Mitchell is $1 50 a bottle—300-yard lightning half price.

We can hear the song of the threshing machine in these parts. It says "last winter was a hard one."

Uncle Billy Gage had the misfortune to lose the little finger off his right hand the other day. He was leading a horse and had the rope wrapped around his hand, when the horse became frightened and pulled back, tightening the rope so that it cut the finger off.

Bradley Edmundson intends moving to Idaho soon. All of Mitchell regrets losing him, but we can't help it.

Bud West is going to Webfoot to locate. We tried to get him to stay but he won't take advice.

We expect to get John Robinson's circus to show in Mitchell at least one night. John can't afford to overlook big places like Mitchell and Prineville. J. W.

On the Road.

Two citizens made a tour through portions of Crook and Harney counties, and furnish the following extracts from their diary:

We left Prineville on July 30th, went up Crooked river 18 miles and camped for the night. Next day we went two miles further up the river to Jess Yancey's place, and insured his property. Jess has about 80 tons of hay. Stock was fat and fine in this locality.

From Yancey's we started for Bear creek, going by Johnson's ranch on Alkali Flat. We followed up Bear creek to the Castle ranches and up Castle creek to the head where we camped, bobbled our horses out on bunchgrass, cooked and ate supper with a relish that none but the hungry traveler can appreciate.

On August 1st we started for Camp creek, stopping on the way at Wm. Wigle's, and found him enjoying the blessings of home. After a short rest and pleasant chat with our old friend, we started for Abe Hackleman's. We found him busy preparing to go to Albany. We wrote some insurance on his hay and fine stock. Mr. H. takes great pleasure in showing his fine animals, and probably knowing my weakness, displayed his finest horses. We met Mrs. A. E. Colver here, and found her enjoying excellent health.

From here we went across the mountains to Cold Springs, J. J. Brown's place. This is one of the best ranches in the country.

On Saturday we started for Buck creek, taking dinner with our old friend, Mr. Belfour, and passed on up the creek to the ranch of Street Bros. There are some excellent little ranches on Buck creek, and the ranchers are putting up large quantities of hay. We were entertained that night by Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Harris. They have a nice place, and, by the way, Mrs. H. is a most excellent cook and fed the weary travelers well. We insured their house and barn.

On Sunday we crossed Buck mountains into Silver valley. This valley is about three miles wide, is all taken up and fenced, and is a fine looking country. The next day we drove down the valley and insured the school house. We met Mail Carrier Baker flying around like a chicken with its head cut off, taking stock out to put on the line from Burns to Vale. H. & J.

The Linkville Hotel Company, of Linkville, Klamath county, has had articles of incorporation filed with the secretary of state. Object is to conduct a hotel in that city. Capital stock is $10,000 in 100 shares. Geo. E. Baldwin, B. F. VanBrimmer, G. W. Loosely, C. S. Moore and A. Martin, Sr., are the incorporators.

The country has six sorts of money now—gold coin, silver coin, gold certificates, silver certificates, greenbacks and national bank bills—and it will have another sort in a short time, the treasury bullion which the new silver law provides for.

Bay of the Oregon Land Company.

The records of Marion county, Oregon, show the platting of many thousand acres of land in small tracts of from 5 to 10 acres.

Capital City Fruit Farm of 640 acres; Sunnyside No. 1, 320 acres; Sunnyside No. 2, 140 acres; Sunnyside No. 3, 500 acres, and a number of others have been placed on the records by the Oregon Land Company of Salem, Oregon.

This company is also doing business in Portland and Albany, and has for sale numerous other small tracts. The great advantage of this plan is that it brings together in one community the class of people who are all engaged in the same business, viz, fruit growing, consequently there springs up large drying and canning establishments similar to those in the city of Salem, which advantages make profitable markets for the products of these fruit farms.

NOTES AND NEWS.

R. Jacobs, of Albany, died very suddenly last Friday. He was an old pioneer, and was 83 years old.

F. H. Kissinger, the young man who was bitten by a dog near Pilot Rock recently and made crazy, died at the asylum at Salem last week.

It is sincerely hoped that the rumors flying about the proposed resumption of the work of construction on the Oregon Pacific railroad have foundation in fact. After that line crosses the mountains it will help develop an immense country, nearly half of the state of Oregon in territory. The Oregon Pacific would at once get a big business, which would increase rapidly making in one of the best paying lines in the country.—Statesman.

Edward Zeys, of Albany, working in a sawmill there, met with a serious accident Saturday afternoon. He was engaged in sawing a small plank on a rip saw, when it struck a knot, causing the plank to fly up, striking him in the breast. The stroke was not severe, but unconsciously he threw up his left hand in protection, but unfortunately too far, for it struck the saw, which, quicker than a flash, severed all the fingers, and so badly mutilated the thumb, that it was necessary to amputate it.

Three fatal accidents occurred in the vicinity of Portland last Sunday. William Hunter, a young man of 22 years, was drowned while bathing in Columbia slough. J. T. Jenkins, a conductor on the Second Street Electric Motor line, was killed by falling off his car and down a trestle 75 feet. Arthur Cosgrove, an amateur aeronaut undertook to descend from a balloon with a parachute, and becoming exhausted when 150 feet from the ground, let all bolts go and fell to the ground. He was instantly killed.

J. E. Jemerson, a pioneer of the county, mysteriously disappeared about a month ago when working at wood cutting for D. Peninger near Tolo. Last Monday his remains were discovered in Peninger's corn field decomposed almost beyond recognition, the attention of a boy passing that way being attracted to the body by the stench. A coroner jury was empanelled by Dr. Parson on Tuesday afternoon, and after viewing the body rendered a verdict to the effect that deceased came to his death by means unknown to them. The remains were afterwards taken to the Central Park cemetery for interment, and it was averred by several that one of the man's legs had been broken, giving rumor of foul play. Jemerson was an old miner and was generally respected although in destitute circumstances. He leaves a wife and several children surviving. Jacksonville Times.

The whole amount of the school fund interest as divided among the several counties of Oregon during 1889 was $130,377 20 while for this year it amounts to $144,372 15, an increase of $13,994 95. The total number of school children last year was 93,058 and the number reported for 1890 is 99,567, making an increase of 6,499. Marion county last year was allotted $10,306 80 while $11,524 60 is her share from the state this time, or $1217 80 more. Curry county received the smallest apportionment last year, being $820 40 for 586 children, and the smallest for 1890 is Sherman, with $865 65. For 1889 Multnomah county's share was $19,643 40; this time she gets $22,422 80—the largest of the whole 31 comprising Oregon. Last year Marion county had 7364 children of school age and now she has 7948, and increase of 584 for the year.—Salem Statesman.

Keep his hold on the tale of a mule which, from overfeeding, palpitated and fell away, saying to himself: 'My father, surely, was a high-mettled racer, and I am his own child in speed and spirit. Next day he was sick and weary; he then exclaimed: "I must have made a mistake: my father, after all, could have been only an ass." A man, after eating a good dinner, may feel extravagantly proud, but next day "don't" many, and you infer he feels like an ass) he is surly and grim, his stomach and liver are sluggish, he is nervous, dependent and "out of sorts" generally.
