LOCAL, PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

Mrs. M. H. that lounge is paid for. P. B. Mrs. Helman returned last Sunday from Portland.

Mr. Miller, of Canyon City, spent the week in town. The brick store is receiving a fine stock of new goods.

S. M. W. Hindman, of Lebanon, is here attending court. Fuller & Co's. new goods have arrived. Call and inspect them.

Bob. Mizner, the jovial saloonist of Mitchell, knows how it is to be pecked. Johnny Barkum returned to town this week after an absence of several months.

C. Rogers, dealer in lumber, hides, grain and flour, north of Ochoco, on Main street. All day Wednesday was occupied in empanelling a jury in the case of the State vs. Brown.

J. B. Fryer, of New creek, says the people there are well liked for the coming winter. This week J. M. Fugitt and Line Sparks bought a number of fine bucks of B. F. Allen.

We understand that C. A. VanHouten has sold his interest in the Baldwin, Sheep & Land Co. Space will not allow a personal mention of all the friends who have been in town this week.

Several wagon loads of Webfoot fruit were disposed of in town this week at two dollar a bushel. It is no use for you to sleep cold these nights when you can get blankets so reasonable at Stiehl's.

The Hay Creek and Trout Creek people seem to favor county division, but Bridge creekers oppose it. O. S. Boardman, of Mitchell, was exhibiting some fine thoroughbred horses on the streets this week.

The Weaver cattlemen say they have the finest herd that has been turned off in that country for many centuries. The proposed new county to the north has been nicknamed McKinley county. Quite an appropriate name.

A. R. Lyle recently bought 200 head of young cattle in Webfoot, and has taken them to his ranch on Hay creek. Some time since Perry Reed moved his family to The Dalles in order that his children might attend school.

Ed. Eber, formerly in the employ of M. Sichel & Co. here, has taken a position as clerk in a store at the Dalles. W. H. Rowan has made an assignment in favor of his creditors, and Geo Summers has been appointed receiver.

This is the first term of court for a year, and only one divorce case. This speaks well for the comradely feelings of the county. Mr. W. E. Wills, a former Crook county boy, and Mrs. C. Wills, was married at Dallas on the 24th to Miss Vera Simpson, of Polk county.

M. W. Flower and John Laffollet returned from Mitchell Tuesday and will keep their gentry open during the season of circuit court. Senders Loran returned this week from below. He says at present there is no sale for best cattle either at Portland or on the sound.

M. E. Preiding Elder F. R. Spaulding spent Saturday and Sunday in town, and was kept busy shaking hands with his old friends here. Hereafter Elder Holman will hold services at Hay creek on the second Sunday and Rev. Dewese on the fourth Sunday of each month.

Ranchers from all parts of the county who have been in attendance on court this week report that they are well prepared for the winter. The county court has ordered Sheriff Booth to force collection of delinquent taxes, hence he has no other alternative. See notice elsewhere.

Otto Weenan wants signboards put up at the forks of all the roads on Willow creek. He has learned it is unsafe to inquire the way in that section. Hiram Gibson returned last week from California where he went some time ago with a band of horses. He found sale for all his horses.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gulliford have returned from a visit to Mrs. Gulliford's relatives in California. They did not see anything in the "golden state" that suited them better than Oregon. There must have been plenty of justices dealt out at the recent term of circuit court in Harney county, court having been held in the church house.

Hon. T. J. Stephenson, representative-elect for this county, spent the week in town. We are pleased to state that he is not in favor of county division. Herman Sichel left for Portland Wednesday. For some time he has been troubled with an enlargement of the tonsils and has gone below for medical treatment.

P. B. Dook, formerly of Hay creek, but now residing near Pullman, Wash., was here this week, having been subpoenaed as a witness in the case of the State vs. Brown. Mr. E. Barnes returned last Sunday from below. He left his grand daughters and Miss Dodson at Eugene where they will attend school at the State University.

James Delevan, who has been driving on the Prineville Dalles stage line for the past two years, will leave soon for California to take a position on a line running into Livinville. Mike Brown wants somebody to point out all the county officials the next time he comes to town so that he may know who he is talking to when discussing county affairs.

Mitchellites say they have raised about enough wheat this season to supply them with flour, and that Mr. Puller, the miller, is kept busy converting their grain into bread stuff. All who have had business in court concede that Judge Stuckert is a very able judge and ready in rendering decisions on all questions of law that are brought up for decision.

Jeff Monroe, of Gresham's creek, says if Crook county is divided and he is forced into the new county, he will be ready to sell out and leave the country. He says Crook is good enough for him. Attention is called to the advertisement of John Deo on the fourth page. Mr. Deo has been charged with the furniture store, and we recommend him to those wanting anything in his line.

Willamette valley papers report heavy rains all over the valley. It would be a fine thing if some of their extra moisture could be rendered around over the country this side of the mountains. Lark Miles was the first man whom the grand jury made happy this term. He had been bound over for assaulting Bob Cannon, and the grand jury returned "not a true bill" last Monday.

A gentleman who lives in the east end of the county thinks there will have to be a tunnel at the north end of the new bridge being erected across Crooked river, so that teams can get out of it, as the north approach will end on a very abrupt and in accessible hill.

J. E. Keys and E. W. Brown, of Mitchell, have bought Minor Lewis' fine thoroughbred stallion, bred by the old racer "Winters". This is one of the finest bred horses in Eastern Oregon, and Messrs. Keys and Brown will find him a serviceable animal from which to breed.

G. W. Barnes returned from Burns last Sunday. He says while there he had an opportunity to talk right in church, circuit court having been held in the M. E. church at that place. He was quite successful in the case he tried in the court there. He cleared Bill Page, who was tried for the killing of Bill Page, the jury only being out fifteen minutes.

A Close Call. Last Monday what might be considered a fortunate accident occurred in Linn Wood's saloon. Jerry Cochran stooped to pick something off the floor and a pistol fell out of his side pocket, striking on the hammer and discharging it. The ball struck B. F. Allen, Jr., in the fleshy part of the right leg, inflicting a slight wound, and lodged against Jas. Cantrell's back, though it did not enter the flesh. Mr. Allen was called here as a juror, and having nothing to do in the afternoon, dropped into the saloon, probably for the first time in a year, and about his first introduction was to catch the bullet from a pistol carelessly discharged.

As a result he will have a sore leg for some time, but was fortunate in getting excused from jury duty on account of the wound.

Why Service Has Not Been Increased. The following letter from Assistant Postmaster General Whitfield to Hon. J. H. Mitchell, under date of Sept. 27, explains why service has not been increased on The Dalles-Prineville mail route from six to seven times a week: "Sir:—Referring to a letter from Hon. C. A. Cogswell, transmitted by you to this office with your recommendation for increase of service on route No. 73, 1926, The Dalles to Prineville, Oregon, from six to seven times a week, I have the honor to inform you that upon investigation, the postmasters at the principal offices on the route report that Sunday service is not necessary, and the request of your constituent is therefore respectfully declined. Very Respectfully, S. A. WHITFIELD, Second Asst. P. M. Gen."

From this it seems that the wishes of the people are second to the wishes of the postmasters along the line, and that we are denied the advantages of a daily mail service because the postmasters "think it is not needed." We would suggest that the postmasters consult the people along the line and ascertain if they consider a service of seven times a week necessary and then report to the postal department accordingly. If they will do this there is no doubt but we will get the extra service.

Well Said. "Shall Oregon throw off its mossy cloak, arouse from its lethargy, come proudly forward, claim and fill a prominent department in the great international exhibition of the World's progress, or will she sit supinely indifferent in her imbecility, and listen to the triumphal march of surrounding states rolling vast trains across the continent, carrying their resources and productions to Chicago? In 1892, when the resounding roar of the vast machinery of the Columbian exposition is echoing and re-echoing all over the civilized land until its stupendous melody is heard on the most distant isles of the sea, listened to in the wilds of Africa and the jungles of India; when the representative millions of earth's broad domains are gazing in wonder at the gorgeous spectacle presented in the city on the great lake, shall Oregon be there in place, or will we dishonor our American manhood, ignore the grand opportunity and be relegated to the obscurity synonymous with the ignorance and barbarity of the dark ages."—Astorian.

Buggy Demolished. Last Saturday B. F. Allen Sr. had a runaway which resulted in his buggy being strewn around over the country, possibly, though he escaped without injury to himself. He was driving quite a spirited team beyond Wm. Circle's place and turned out of the road to pass a freight team and as he came back into the road one of the wheels struck a rock throwing Mr. Allen to the ground. The team took fright and ran away, tearing the buggy all to pieces.

Better Than Government Bonds. The ordinary living expenses of a family of five persons, living in the customary manner of the American people, amounts to not less than $1500 a year. It would require nearly $40,000 in government bonds to produce this income. Ten acres of land in the Willamette valley planted to prunes, with an ordinary crop at ordinary prices, will net more than $1500, after paying for all the labor placed thereon. You can buy this land from The Oregon Land Company of Salem, Oregon, in tracts of ten acres or more at from $65 to $75 per acre. Address The Oregon Land Company, Salem, Oregon.

Fine Weather. It is often said a weather item is always in order, and this week the Review can furnish one though of no material importance, may be of interest to readers abroad. During the week the weather has simply been delightful. The sky has been clear and the days warm, almost like summer, while the nights are a little frosty. But it is just the kind of fall weather common to Eastern Oregon, and nothing unusual to those who reside in this locality.

No Women in the Oregon Penitentiary. "Among the 215 convicts in Oregon's state penitentiary in this city there is not one woman. The last one, Edith Holmes, was liberated a few days ago. She was sentenced to a one year term and came from Clatsop county. Her crime was larceny and she served her time uncomplainingly. This woman was the sixth to be imprisoned in Oregon's penitentiary. "Charity Lamb was the first."—Salem Statesman.

State vs. J. P. Hunaker, dismissed. Max Putz, a native of Germany, admitted to citizenship. A. J. Friday, subject of England, admitted to citizenship.

T. N. Ballour, a native of Scotland, admitted to citizenship. The Trial of Brose.

On Wednesday Gottfried Brose was arraigned for trial for the killing of Shields Looney on the 23rd of September, 1899, under the following jury: S. A. Prose, A. L. Allen, J. W. Shepherd, E. E. Stone, V. Circle, F. M. Lawson, W. H. Kinder, T. J. Powell, C. B. Allen, Wm. Smith, B. F. Zell, T. N. Ballour. All day Thursday was devoted to the examination of witnesses, and a good portion of yesterday was occupied by the attorneys' argument. Owing to the case not being completed until so late in the week it is impossible to give a synopsis of the testimony to day, but it will be given next week.

At 7 o'clock last night the jury returned a verdict of "manslaughter." Haystack News.

The appropriation of $154,000 made by the last legislature for running the insane asylum has been expended, and that institution now runs on "tick."

Investigation shows that the center pier of the big bridge being built across Willamette river at Salem is settling and leans to one side several inches. This will delay the completion of the structure.

John Stonebreaker, a Umatilla county shepherd, was found last week wandering in the hills near Alba almost naked. He was examined and found to be insane. He thinks the devil is chasing him all the time.

Pendleton is afflicted with thieves. Friday night two attempts were made to enter the house of E. T. Romick. The last time the Chinese cook chased a man down street with a large knife but the thief was too fleet footed and escaped in the darkness.

Three energetic young men have made a successful haul in horse stealing near Vansycle, Umatilla county. They gathered up about twenty head of horses, from two to six in a place, on the ranches in that section one night last week, and escaped. At last accounts they had been captured.

A man living a few miles southeast of Lebanon brought to Albany some specimens of plumbago and fire clay, so pronounced by those who have seen them, which appear to be of a remarkably fine quality. A test is being made at the Albany Iron Works of the fire clay and the plumbago will be sent away for examination.

"Jim Towne, the Chinese gardener of Pendleton, has undoubtedly the tallest horse in the Northwest. It is a big-boned, ungainly animal, but stands fourteen and one-half feet high in its stocking feet, and is not to be trifled with."—East

World's Fair Matters.

A Chicago dispatch dated October 20th says: "At to-day's meeting of the executive committee of the world's fair, the national commission director general submitted a report urging the adoption of a system of bureaus for the administration of the work of the exposition. He announced the appointment of Gen. F. A. Armstrong as his assistant, to be sent to different states to assist in organization. The sub-committee of the committee of classification submitted a report reviewing the entire work of the commission, and making an estimate of the number of acres of floor space and uncovered ground required for the various displays, as follows: Agricultural hall, fifteen acres; horticultural hall, five acres, with outside space twenty-five; live stock, 100 acres; no estimate of buildings; fisheries, two acres; mineral palace, fine arts; machinery hall, twenty acres; transportation, twenty, besides open space; electrical palace, four acres; manufacturers' palace, twenty; fine art gallery, five acres. The space to be converted by federal buildings and those of foreign and state governments and special and prison exhibitors are not included in these estimates.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by mothers for children teething for over fifty years with perfect success. It relieves the little sufferer at once, produces natural, quiet sleep by freeing the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste, soothes the child, softens the gums, allays pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Oregonian. Did you measure him with a telescope, Bro Jackson?

Sheriff Furnish, of Umatilla county, last week received a telegram announcing the arrival of Missouri of F. E. P. Adams aboard.

The United States contains about one-twentieth of the world's population, but it consumes 28 per cent. of the world's crop of sugar, 35 per cent. of the world's production of coffee, nearly one-third of the world's production of iron, about one-third of the world's steel and copper, and more than a quarter of the world's cotton and wool.

A burglar entered the apartments of Mrs. Tony Noltner in Portland, and she awoke, grabbed a pistol and snapped it at him three times, but it failed to go off and the burglar escaped. The burglar probably did not know Mrs. Noltner's husband had been an editor for thirty years or he never would have gone to the trouble of hunting for money in her apartments.

William H. Spencer, who died recently in Chicago and whose body was cremated in New York City, was a son of John C. Spencer, who was secretary of the treasury under President Tyler. The death of Spencer recalls the fact that his brother was hung on a charge of mutiny on board the United States brig "Somers" by Captain Alexander Slidell McKenzie. The evidence against young Spencer was found in some manuscript written by him in Greek, which fore-shadowed, it was argued by Captain McKenzie, a mutiny.
