LABOR PHENOMENA.

A riot occurred at Homestead near Pittsburg, Pa., on the 6th inst. which is a most deplorable affair and a disgrace to America—a disgrace because it was brought about by a force of Pinkerton detectives (hired assassins) attempting to enforce laws or rather to subject workmen to accept the will of their employers. Homestead is the seat of the Carnegie Iron and Steel Company's works, and there are several thousand laborers employed about the works. Some time since the company undertook to cut down the wages of the laborers, a scale of wages was prepared and submitted to the workmen but was rejected. The company shut down their works which were taken charge of by the laborers. To dislodge them the company undertook to land two barges loaded with Pinkerton's cut throats who were to oust the laborers by force, although they were not acting as officers. The working people heard of the coming of the Pinkertons, fortified themselves on the bank of the river and prepared to resist the attempts of the detectives. When the boats were landed and the Pinkerton men, armed with Winchester rifles, attempted to come ashore, the working men opened fire and a terrible battle ensued. The fight continued until 5 o'clock in the evening, when the Pinkerton men surrendered, and were disarmed and sent to the opera house for safe keeping. The result of the fight was nine Pinkertons and eleven workingmen killed and some thirty or forty wounded.

Such occurrences as this are deplorable but what is to be done? The men whose wages were to be cut down were usually skilled laborers who had devoted the greater portion of their lives to fitting themselves for the work they were performing. Their homes and families were in Homestead, everything they had was there. To be thrown out of employment or to have their wages reduced to low starving rates was to deprive them of their all. The company had decreed this, and attempted to carry its decree into effect by the aid of hired mercenaries by force of arms; this, too, when the strikers were not attempting violence nor the destruction of property. They were only demanding what they believed to be their rights, and were battling manfully for them. Who could blame them? What class of people would submit to be driven from their homes by a band of hirelings, whose only authority was here backed up by Winchester rifles? Americans would certainly not. They did nothing else than any other free Americans have a right to do, and while they may have acted hastily in some respects, in the main they were in the right and deserve no censure.

A large discovery frame building in Portland, owned by John Catlin and George Lings, was burned last Saturday, causing the destruction of $15,000 worth of property. Another Sunday a fire broke out in the house in the city, destroying a row of buildings on Washington street. The loss is estimated at $250,000.

RIVER IMPROVEMENTS.

The river and harbor bill has become a law, and it grants Oregon everything that was asked except the ship railway. It provides for placing the improvements at the Cascades under contract system, and appropriates a sufficient sum for the completion of the canal and locks. This will be a big thing for all of Eastern Oregon and Washington, and will furnish them what they have never had—an open outlet to the sea. It has in it something of more than ordinary importance to Crook county. We believe that the opening of the river will result in the building of a railroad from some point on the Columbia into this county. Heretofore there has been no inducement for any company save the U. P. to build such a line, as another company would have had no means of transportation beyond the end of their line but over the U. P. road, and as that company got the traffic there was no inducement for them to build a line from the river southward. But when the obstructions to navigation are removed from the Cascades the traffic can be handled on the river, and a road leading from here to The Dalles, Arlington or Grant's will have an outlet. This we believe will be an inducement that will result in the building of such a road as soon as the work at the Cascades is completed.

MALES PREDOMINATE.

The new census bulletin on population informs us that the people of the United States—62,622,550 in number—are divided between 32,417,881 males and 30,534,370 females. There are thus 1,513,510 forlorn bachelors who are left without mates and who are doomed to a life of agonizing celibacy; and every girl who grows up may congratulate herself that there is not only a whole man waiting to espouse her, but a fraction of a man over.

This is not the case all over the country. In New England and the Middle states of the East, the females slightly predominate. Out of the population of 17,401,545 there are 20,382 more males than females, so there are twenty thousand females in that section who will be left without mates unless they migrate westward. In the Northwestern states, which in the census tables are called the North central division, there are 214,811 more males than females, giving the fair daughters of Eve a variety to choose from, and then some of the lone bachelors will get left. In the old slave states the disproportion is still more marked. In those states there are 1,351,980 more males than females, which makes marriageable women at a premium. On this coast, which has a total population of 2,027,612, the excess of males is 537,439, so here too many of the sterner sex are going to get left in the matrimonial race. With such preponderance of males on the coast there ought not to be any old maids left in the country. They ought all to be able, with so many to select from, to find one that is up to their standard of perfection. But probably having so many to select from accounts for their being so particular or so slow in making choices. Yet while hesitating to cast their lot, they may get left. This is a happy hunting ground for the spinster, and the time may come when the fair maids of New England may accept Horace Greeley's advice to young men to go westward, and restore the equilibrium of sexes. Hence our home production of pretty and attractive girls had better mend their ways (get a move on themselves and select husbands) or some day they may realize what an Adamless Eden really is.

Bradstreet's estimates that on the basis of the latest government wheat crop, this country will be able to export 250,000,000 bushels of wheat in 1892-93, and leave reserves on July 1, 1893, equal to those carried over a year ago. For ten years past the average annual wheat exports of the United States have been less than 125,000,000 bushels.

The total amount received from the government for Indian schools during the last five years by the Methodists has been $213,315; the Episcopalians, $402,000; the Friends, $241,000; the Congregationalists, $153,000; the Presbyterians, $283,083, and the Roman Catholics, $1,003,000. These totals include some incidentals not given in the report of the superintendent of the Indian schools. The Methodists and Baptists will, in the future, refuse to accept any appropriations from the public funds for their ecclesiastical enterprises.

Following on the heels of the dreadful famine, the cholera is sweeping over Russia. Never was an unfortunate people in better condition to be swept away by an epidemic. Having little vitality left the poor, starved creatures will be able to offer but little resistance to the inroads of this terrible disease, and will be carried away by the thousands.

WEBSTER'S LIGHTNING SICKLE GRINDER.

One Hundred Thousand now in Use.

This Grinder has not only overcome all difficulties as have hitherto been experienced by other machines, and will grind a sickle that is perfect, but has the following points of superiority:

1st. It grinds both sides of the sickle at the same time consecutively, and it is impossible to grind them unevenly, and it grinds the heel of the section as perfectly as the point.

2d. It saves the price of the machine in saving of sickles.

3d. It saves it in humiliation.

4th. It saves it in wear and tear of the nerves and temper.

5th. That it will last any farmer a natural lifetime, from the fact that we used in Carnelian Stone, which is the hardest known stone in the world except the diamond.

This machine is thoroughly protected by Letters Patent, and infringements will be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

SUMMONS.

In the County Court of the State of Oregon, for Crook County.

W. R. UREN and T. A. UREN, partners doing business under the firm name of UREN & SON, Plaintiffs, vs
JAMES DOBBS, Defendant.

To James Dobbs, the above named defendant: In the name of the state of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled action on or before the first Monday, the same being the 5th day of September, 1892, and being the first day of the next regular term of said court, to be held at the court house in said county and state, and if you fail so to answer, for want thereof, the plaintiffs will take judgment against you for the sum of $240, with interest thereon at the rate of ten per annum from the 18th day of November, 1891, and for the costs and disbursements of this action.

This summons is served on you by publication by the order of the Hon. J. F. Moore, a weekly newspaper published at Prineville, in the said county aforesaid, by order of the Hon. J. F. Moore, Judge of said court, said order being dated the 7th day of June, 1892, and the date of the first publication hereof is the 9th day of June, 1892.

J. F. MOORE,
Attorney for Plaintiff.
