JOHN L. ON SHAKESPEARE

At One Time He Was All Right, but Now He Ain't To Be Seen. "Not long ago," said a congressman to A. H. Lewis (the agent), the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Times, "I met John L. Sullivan, the ex-fighter. It was early in Boston. I had gone into a hotel kept by one Paddy Reardon. I believe, who had been a wash basin. Sullivan was quite as much of a humorist as a sportsman. I looked at the higher champion with some interest. He was eating a lunch. There was enough of it for two men. About him hovered a buzzing swarm of admirers. Most of them were theatrical people. They were talking trash, of course. Very happy people, these actors. Sullivan was listening with a sort of condescension which was delightful. It was clear to any onlooker that the big pugilist regarded himself as quite as much of a humorist as any, and when he roared his views on a kind of doubt remained. "Oh, I'll tell you about Shakespeare, he really said as he sipped one tremendous hand in the finger bowl as if it had been a wash basin. Shakespeare was all right. That was all right in his mind. Understand? But that was long ago. He's a humorist. That's what Shakespeare is, and he'd know it if he was here himself. And he'd tell you, he'd break you—that's what Shakespeare would. "Now, I know something about this myself. See? I'm on the stage, and I'm talking in the audience, you can bet your life. Now, I tell you the people don't want Shakespeare plays. They've got to be good. They've got to be good. We ain't got to Shakespeare actors now any more. That fellow Barrett was the best of 'em. That was Shakespeare. He was on the level—that's what Barrett was. But he's dead. He ain't in it no longer. And there's two or three trying it, but they're not of much use—a lot of first class boys. Those muckers make me sick. Understand? They make me sick—on the dead they do."

As to His Appearance

"Can you describe the man you saw hanging about the house the day before the robbery?" inquired the detective. The Perkins Junction storekeeper, whose place of business had been broken into and robbed of a considerable quantity of pig tallow, canned tomatoes and dried peaches, together with the entire contents of the cash drawer, amounting to $1.50, reflected a moment and then asked: "Do you know Bill Quinn?" "I don't know him."

Work to be Commenced on the Grounds and Buildings at Once

TACOMA.—The trustees of the Interstate Fair have ordered work to be commenced at once. Ten thousand prospectuses will be issued and sent throughout the East. Invitations will be sent to the Governors of the various States to participate, asking each State to appoint a commission to meet at Tacoma in May, expenses to be paid by the fair. The $50,000 needed, in addition to a capital of $200,000 already invested in land and buildings, has been subscribed, and work will begin very soon. A clearing crew, comprising 2,000 men of all colors, ready to be employed to remove the brush from the site overlooking Puget Sound, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, British Columbia and Alaska will be represented. The fair will open August 15 and continue ten weeks. The fair aims to present a complete exhibition of the varied resources of the great Northwest for the benefit of Eastern investors and intending to bring to the people of the Northwest together for an interchange of ideas regarding the development of the North Pacific coast region.

AN ALLEGED CONSPIRACY

Southern Pacific Conductors Stand in With the Scoundrels. SAN FRANCISCO.—Another sensation is brewing for conductors on the Los Angeles division of the Southern Pacific. The first intimation of the trouble was during the preliminary examination of J. H. Andrews and J. A. Whitehead, two clerks, who are being jointly tried with A. B. and M. Greenwood, ticket brokers. A. B. Greenwood, who was on the witness stand in his own behalf, dropped a hint which made the other conductors to the conductors. Under cross-examination Greenwood said he told Whitehead and Andrews they were perfectly safe in selling tickets to him, for both he and his brother made a practice to clip the corner of all tickets sold by them, so that conductors would know at a glance that the ticket came from their office and would say nothing. An investigation is now in progress upon the theory that a conspiracy exists between Greenwood and the conductors. Thus far upward of $15,000 worth of fraudulent tickets have been accounted for, and the investigation has only begun.

A MURDERER CONFESSES

He Clears His Father and Sister of the Charge. STOKES.—There was a dramatic scene in court the other day in the Wilson murder trial. Charles Wilson and his son and daughter, Benton and Nellie, were on trial for the murder of the latter's husband, J. W. Johnson, near Chatterbox. The court had overruled a motion for dismissal, when Judge Claggett for the defense announced that he had a revelation to make—that Ben Wilson killed Johnson; that it was done partly in self-defense, but more particularly in defense of his sister, and that the others were innocent. Later the Wilsons went on the stand, and Benton told the story of the tragedy. He walked along the road with Johnson, trying to get from him a check for his sister's trunk. Johnson frothed with rage. Suddenly he turned with a threat to go back and kill his wife, and as he did so threw his hand into his revolver pocket. Then young Wilson struck him in the back of the head with a knotty club, crushing in his skull. He dragged the body into the brush, and that night buried it.

Strike a Gold Mine

TACOMA.—Some excitement exists in this vicinity over recent gold discoveries. Joseph and Edward de Langevin have filed mineral claims on twenty acres of valuable land in the residence part of the city, claiming gold is to be found there in paying quantities. The de Langevins claim they discovered the gold two years ago while digging a well at their home, and that when they pump the gold comes up in fine sand from the bottom of the well. They have also discovered gold in a gulch back of their house. They propose to form a stock company and begin mining operations. Within a few days several gold placer

JUSTICE TRIUMPHANT

Judge Langley Emulates the Example of Caldwell.

THEY GAINED BY NOT STRIKING

The Seattle Street-Car Men Win a Case in Court—The Judge Commends the Spirit of the Men in Appealing to the Court Instead of Striking.

SEATTLE.—The example set by Judge Caldwell of the United States Circuit Court in restoring the wages of the Union Pacific employees, which had been arbitrarily cut by receivers without notice or consent of the employees themselves, has been followed by Judge Langley of the Superior Court in restoring the wages of conductors and motormen on the Rainier avenue electric line, which had been summarily cut from 20 cents to 18 cents per hour by Receiver W. J. Granby. This action by Granby had been taken after a conference between him and other street railway managers, and was followed by similar reductions on the Union Trunk line, the Consolidated Street Railway line and the Third-street electric line, the latter road being in charge of Receiver M. F. Backus, who also made the reductions summarily. In these last two cases the employees also intend protesting in court against the reduction. The court said that all evidence showed the road was an hour and only fair compensation, and if the question of wages had been first presented to the court, he would have prohibited it. He commended the spirit of the men in appealing to the court instead of striking, and said if the men had a higher appreciation of the justice of the courts, there would be fewer strikes. The prayer of petitioners should be granted and wages restored to what they were when the receiver took charge of the property.

Truant Husband Discovered

SEATTLE.—After a search of fourteen years for the husband who deserted her in New York and eloped with the wife of August Hockman Mrs. Anna Friederike Wolfenstein has found the guilty couple living in prosperity in this city under the assumed name of West. They have resided here for the past twelve years, and held themselves out to the public as man and wife. Mrs. Wolfenstein has begun an action in the courts to recover a portion of the wealth which her husband and the woman he has been living with have accumulated. Most of the property is in the name of the woman, but Mrs. Wolfenstein alleges that it all arose from the investments made by her husband and the money he has been living with. She is entitled to one-half of the community property. Mrs. Wolfenstein is 55 years old, and has lived on charity for the last four years.

Chinese Registration

SAN FRANCISCO.—The registration of Chinese in San Francisco under the McCrea act has not been active as was expected at the time of its passing, and it is estimated that from 4,000 to 7,000 have as yet filed no application to register. The Chinese claim that the time has been insufficient to complete the registration, and are said to have sent an appeal to Washington for more time. The last day is May 3. It is claimed that the preparations of the government to carry out the law's provisions were not completed until January 1, when the law went into effect. Consequently there was a long period of time in which the Chinese who wanted to register were denied the opportunity. The appeal sent to Washington asks a considerable extension of time, but it is believed the Chinese will be satisfied if given two months additional.

Foundered in the Breakers

SAN FRANCISCO.—News has been received of the loss of the fishing schooner Dauterive and the drowning of four men at the mouth of Klamath river on the morning of the 12th. The schooner was completely wrecked. All on board perished. The drowned are Captain Marquez and the seamen named Thompson and Brown and Avery Edison, a youth, whose parents live at Crescent City. The bodies of Captain Marquez, Avery Edison and one of the sailors have been cast upon the beach. The disaster resulted through an attempt to put to sea from the Klamath river during a gale. The schooner foundered in the breakers on the bar.

An Attorney Suspended

SALMON.—The Supreme Court has made the following order: In the matter of the charges against C. H. Finn, an attorney of this court, of willful misconduct in his profession, the defendant in this proceeding having been suspended from practicing in the courts of this county until the first of this term, and the matter having been regularly brought before this court, after hearing the arguments of the respective attorneys the court finds the charges supported by the evidence, and orders the further suspension of the defendant.

After Five Minutes' Deliberation

SAN FRANCISCO.—William Fredericks was found guilty of the murder of Cashier Herriek after five minutes' deliberation by the jury. Fredericks' trial was prosecuted with great expedition. No testimony was introduced, and the jury's argument was that Herriek was accidentally shot by Assistant Cashier Melvin during the fusillade which followed Fredericks' attempted raid of the bank. Fredericks was removed when the verdict was announced.

A Horrible Murder

SALT LAKE.—A special from Halley, Idaho, to the Tribune says: S. R. Randolph, a farmer living on Silver creek, Logan county, was murdered in bed the other night. His head was beaten in with an axe, the floor and walls were covered with blood. Randolph was a native of New York, and leaves a brother and two sisters in California. S. A. Stoll, a tenant on the farm, has been arrested on suspicion.

County Superintendent Sustained

OLYMPIA.—Superintendent of Public Instruction Bean has affirmed decisions in four cases of appeals from decisions of the County Superintendent of Lincoln county. These were the cases where applicants for teachers' certificates were refused as not coming up to the requirements of the examination, and who charged partial marking.

Warrants Called In

OLYMPIA.—State Treasurer Bowen has received taxes from King county to the amount of $91,310.95. The Treasurer immediately issued a call for outstanding warrants. By the call general fund warrants to No. 3,115 will be paid on presentation and military fund warrants to No. 1,288.

THE DENVER AND GULF

Governor Evans Makes Some Very Grave Charges.

REPORT OF HOUSE COMMITTEE

The Condition of the National Treasury Presents the Recommendation of a New Battle Ship—There Must Be No Halt in Building up the Navy.

WASHINGTON.—The present and prospective naval strength of the United States in comparison with that of foreign powers is set forth in the report of the House Committee on Naval Affairs presented by Chairman Cummings. The report states that the committee has reluctantly concluded not to recommend the construction of a new battle ship because of the depleted condition of the treasury. It is agreed, however, that there must be no halt in building up the navy. England proposes, says the report, to begin seven battle ships of the first class, six cruisers of the second class and two sloops. Italy with a depleted treasury is preparing to build three first-class battle ships, three cruisers, twelve torpedo boats and four transports. Germany, France and Russia are going to even greater lengths to secure the increase of their navies. The report then says: "In view of this fact it certainly would not be wise for the United States to build no more battle ships. With increasing prosperity the work should go on till the American navy is strong enough to stand all exigencies. The slight increase proposed by the committee will certainly burden the country with taxation during the coming year, and with renewed prosperity the work can be continued in the future without overburdening the nation. The total loss of the fleet, however, is a serious matter. Admiral Farragut's flag ship, the only vessel of the new navy aside from the frigate Constitution around which historical memories cluster."

Protest of Ex-Governor Evans Against the Election.

DENVER.—Wells, Taylor & Taylor, attorneys for ex-Governor John Evans, have filed a petition with the United States Court asking to have the recent election of directors of the Union Pacific, Denver and Gulf, voided. The petition, filed by Governor Evans at the time of the election, April 10, against voting of stock held by the Union Pacific interest, goes over the story of the acquisition of the Gulf road by the Union Pacific and the alleged intentional mismanagement of the Gulf by the controlling corporation, tells the facts of the recent election of officers, how it was all "a put-up job," previously arranged at Omaha, and repeats the protest made by Governor Evans against including the Gulf in the proposed reorganization of the Union Pacific system. It is declared that the mismanagement of the controlling corporation, to cause a foreclosure and sale, and that the Union Pacific desires to buy up the property and make it a part of the larger system, thus doing away with a formidable competitor.

Brookridge is Safe

WASHINGTON.—The feeling among the leading members of the House of Representatives is that no action could be taken concerning the Breckinridge scandal, although one of the best lawyers in the nation, Charles Sumner with a capable attorney, precedents cited, however, deal almost exclusively with offenses of a personal nature committed on the floor of the House, as for instance the case of Brooks, who was expelled for assaulting Charles Sumner with a cane. There appears to be a lack of precedents for offenses committed outside of Congress. Some members interviewed declared no action can be taken on the numerous petitions, which are said to be on the way to the House, demanding the expulsion of Breckinridge, these members affirming Breckinridge is only answerable to his constituents; but the burden of Congressional opinion is against this view, though it is pretty generally admitted no action on the petitions will be taken further than allowing them to be read.

Uncle Sam a Peace-maker

WASHINGTON.—For the clemency shown and the general amnesty extended by President Peixoto to the Brazilian rebels have thanked the United States, and through the efforts of Secretary Gresham that the expediency and propriety of this humane course was urged upon the Brazilian government, although we have declined to act in conjunction with other nations, notably Italy and Portugal, in making a joint representation to this end. Our government made no formal proposition, nor anything that could be construed into a demand to yield, which would have stung the pride of the great neighboring Republic, but in an unofficial way through Minister Mendonca it has been made clear to Peixoto that he would add to the glory of his triumph and sooner restore good feeling at home and retain the respect of other powers by kind and humane treatment of the defeated rebels.

Mackay Again Sued

NEW YORK.—John Anderson has begun suit in the United States Circuit Court before Judge Chapman against John W. Mackay of the Commercial Cable Company for $100,000, alleged to be due him for services to the Commercial Telegram Company, of which he was Manager and Treasurer from March, 1885, to March, 1890. Anderson's contract was made with Edward S. Stokes, who transferred his stock in the company to Mackay January 1, 1889, one of the conditions of the transfer being that this contract should be assumed by Mackay. It is charged in the complaint that the value of the stock in the Commercial Telegram Company acquired by Mackay, clear of all indebtedness, amounted to $400,000.

NATIONAL CAPITAL NEWS

Wilson of Washington has reported to the House his bill granting the Columbia Irrigation Company rights of way through the Yakima Indian reservation.

Da Gama Will Seek Revenge in Mortal Combat

Senator Palmer has introduced a bill prohibiting the issuing of money by State banking institutions or other corporations except national banks.

CONTEMPT FOR HIS TREACHERY

The Navy Department has just published the reprinting in the case of Captain E. M. Shepard, who was convicted of writing a letter reflecting upon Captain Bunce. The Secretary deems the publication of the findings and sentence of the court and the action of the department thereon in general orders to be sufficient compliance with the requirements of the sentence that he be publicly reprimanded.

Admiral de Mello, Leader of the Brazilian Rebel Fleet Commanded by Admiral de Mello, Branded on All Sides as a Coward—The Surrendered War Ships in a Dilapidated Condition

BURGOS AVIS.—The remains of the Brazilian rebel fleet commanded by Admiral de Mello, which arrived in this port recently, are subject to extensive exchanges by telegraph messages between the authorities at this place and the Brazilian government through the Brazilian Minister here. The rebel ships are the Republica, Meloroe, Iris, Urano and Esperanza. They are in a very dilapidated condition, and the rebels on board are suffering from sickness, wounds and lack of proper food. Advice from Rio de Janeiro says that a general amnesty will be granted the insurgent rank and file, and that the Brazilian government would pay the quarantine expenses of the ships if they surrendered to the Brazilian Minister. The Argentine government with the consent of the rebel leaders is now superintending the delivery of the five war vessels to the Brazilian Minister. President Peixoto's government has notified the government of Uruguay that all with the exception of the leaders can return to Brazil with no fear of being severely punished. Nothing seems known of the ultimate destination of Admiral de Mello or General Caldeira, although it is believed the former will take the earliest opportunity of escaping to a foreign country, where he can hide himself for the rest of his life. On all sides the utmost contempt is expressed for Admiral de Mello, whose desertion of Admiral da Gama is looked upon as being a piece of cowardly treachery. It is openly stated Da Gama proposes to seek out Admiral de Mello and compel him to meet him in mortal combat. If the rebel Admiral falls into the hands of Peixoto, there is little doubt he will be promptly tried by court-martial and shot.

THE BEHRING SEA BILL

Measure Relative to Scotland to be Considered by a Committee.

LONDON.—The bill introduced into the Commons by Sir George Trevelyan, Secretary for Scotland, providing for the appointment of eighty-seven members of the House, including the Scotch members, is now before the House. Scotland was again up. Goschen, Chancellor of the Exchequer in Lord Salisbury's last administration, asked whether a similar committee would be appointed to consider Irish measures. The bill, he said, was not to be considered as a precedent. He said that the bill should not have similar bills if they wanted them. Balfour introduced an amendment declining to sanction the proposition. The amendment was rejected by a vote of 232 to 21. The House then agreed to the amendments to the Behring Sea bill made by the House of Lords.

LORD SALISBURY'S ADDRESS

He is Not Opposed to Reforming the House of Lords.

LONDON.—Lord Salisbury in addressing an audience composed of members of the Primrose League said he himself was not opposed to reforming the House of Lords, which he thought could be done by the appointment of more life peers. He said that the government, if it believed that the action of the House of Lords in rejecting the home-rule bill was against the wishes of the people, should at once dissolve and appeal to the country. He did not say he understood as saying that the government ought to dissolve every time a difference arose between the two Houses; but upon a difference affecting the relations between two parts of the kingdom, which had subsisted for seven centuries, it was manifestly their duty to appeal to the electors. Lord Salisbury then referred to the government's registration bill, which, he said, would disfranchise thousands of the best people and extend the right to vote to many who were practically vagrants.

The Brazilian Refugees

MONTVIDEO.—The vessel sent to Castillos Island, on the east coast of Uruguay, to convey the destitute and wounded Brazilian insurgents to the quarantine station here is capable of embarking only 300 refugees. Consequently another vessel will have to be sent, as there are fully 3,000 Brazilians in the hands of the Uruguayan authorities. The men are very bitter in their denunciation of Admiral de Mello, claiming that the rebellion would have had an entirely different ending if he had transported his forces to the assistance of Admiral da Gama while there was yet time to succeed that commander.

Turned up a King

CAIRO, Egypt.—Prof. Morgan, who has been excavating in Egypt for some time past, has made a great and important discovery. A few weeks ago he discovered the remains of a supposed King of Egypt, and now it is announced his explorations at the Brick Pit of Dushour have led to the discovery of the fourth dynasty King, Mornu Ratohu.

Whole Town in Ruins

VIENNA.—The fire in Neusandau has burned out, and virtually the whole town is in ruins. Many persons are missing, and are supposed to be dead. The injured have been removed to other towns. Hundreds of families are sleeping in the fields. They are without sufficient food or clothing, and many cases of extreme distress are reported.
