ANNUAL NUMBER

CROOK COUNTY JOURNAL

Never loan anyone

JOURNAL greets you with this, its first annual edition. It is in its sixth year, and in order to keep pace with the progressive community in which it is published, this plan was adopted.

The resources and advantages of Crook County are so bountiful that it is not only a pleasure, but our duty to announce them to the world.

There is room here for earnest men in every trade, calling, profession and occupation, and we extend a welcome hand.

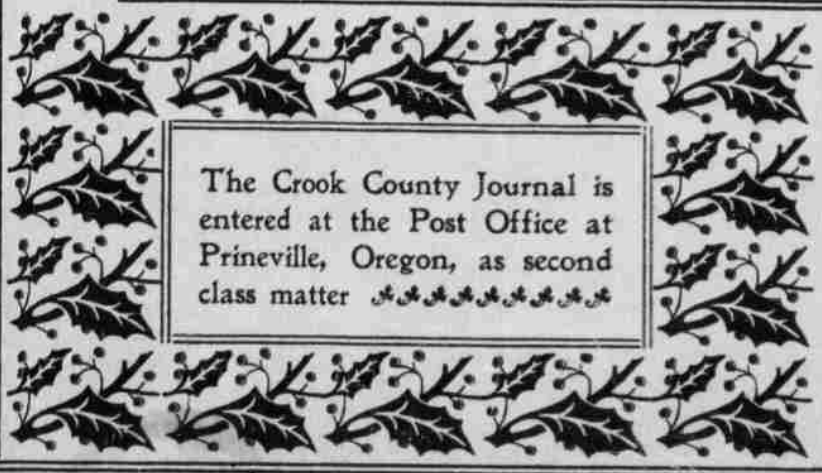

Stock raising, wool growing, farming, fruit raising, mining and every industry known in these times, are, most of them practically just beginning, and the field is large. There is room here for you. It is a place of success. There is not a failure in the county. Prineville, the county seat, 30 years old, boasts of the fact that there has never been a business failure in its history. There is not a tramp or hobo here. No man has ever asked for work that did not get it. If you seriously wish a home among good people, and success in life, come to Crook county.

In the way of recreation, we can show you natural scenery and provide you with hunting and fishing unequalled elsewhere in the world.

The Journal is the leading paper of the county, is the official county paper, has a growing circulation and gives all of the news at all times. Subscription price, $1.50 per annum.

Address all communications to A. C. Palmer, editor and proprietor, Prineville, Oregon.
