

Local Mention.

Will Wurzweiler returned last week from a business trip to Portland.

H. G. Kibble and wife, of Hay creek, were visitors in our town last week.

R. H. Barclay, postal inspector, has been transferred from this district to Montana.

Frank Fulton, of Biggs, was circulating in our midst last week looking after business matters.

Mr. Tom Smith and family, are at Sisters visiting with Robt. and Alex. Smith.—Grass Valley Journal.

T. Y. Hauck of Rocky Ford, Colorado, was registered at the Prineville last week. He is a stock buyer.

J. W. Hon was in from Howard Saturday after supplies. Mr. Hon is an old time friend of yo editor.

There are many men in Prineville, no doubt, who are lazy, but there was a Lazier registered at the Prineville, last week.

Work on the foundation of the Maling brick is under way and will soon be done when the brick work will go up with a rush.

Born, at the home of W. F. Elliott, to the wife of Joe Lister, a son. Mother and child doing nicely and papa Lister was able to get to town Monday.

Miss Ida Friday passed through here last week enroute home from Paulina valley, where she has just completed a very successful term of school.

C. E. McDowell was repairing and remodeling grain racks last week preparing for the hay and grain harvest, which will be in operation in a short time.

L. D. Claypool was in from the ranch in Paulina valley last Saturday and reports the hay crop as being a little tight. He will begin work haying this week.

Dr. Cline went over to Willow creek Sunday to look at his new purchase of real estate, consisting of a section of school land, which makes a nice little block of 800 acres in one body of very good land, the larger part being covered with timber.

Henry Foster and his sister, Mrs. J. T. Faulkner of Paulina, Crook county, were in the city this week. Mr. Foster and Mrs. Faulkner enjoy the distinction of being children of the first white couple married in Oregon. Their father Henry Foster crossed the plains with Joe Meak in 1842.—Dalles Mountaineer.

C. P. U'Ren is in town having a broken collar bone set. Two days before the accident, he had been worried by an aggressive insurance agent into taking out an accident insurance policy and now he will draw $25 per week for some time. Nice thing accident insurance, when you are insured before the accident.—Antelope Republican.

C. C. Hutchinson was in from the Deschutes last week, and reports that the frosts there this summer did not do much damage, as from the peculiar atmospheric conditions existing in that altitude light ice has been frozen in a basin of water while tender plants along side were not hurt in the least. These conditions were found to exist also at C. H. Dealy's place near Bear Creek Buttes and at Peter Zell's place on the Deschutes.

The party, consisting of C. A. Graves surveyor, Jack Harris, Isham and S. J. Newson as viewers, J. D. Newson and Wm Bradford chairmen, and McDowell marker, met on Monday 12 M. took dinner under the ordinary supervision of Wm Bradford, and were then sworn in according to law and forthwith proceeded to commence the work of viewing, laying out and marking a county road, leading from a point 2½ miles west of Frank Forrest's to a point of intersection of the Powell Butte and Paulina wagon road. This road will be of great benefit to the traveling public. S. J. N.

Albert I. Frye, chief engineer for the Oregon Irrigation Co., was in from Bend, Sunday.

Knox Huston and wife started Sunday for the Willamette for a visit with relatives and friends.

On August 1 the name of the station on the Columbia Southern known as Guthrie will be changed to Kent.

Genial Lew McCallister, of the Ocho-co mines, started for the desert and the mountains for an extended outing last week.

Ben Oppenheimer, the well known travelling man, has been spending the past week in our city interviewing the business fraternity.

Supervisor Gray has fenced up the bridge at Newsom creek, as it is in a dangerous condition. It will soon be replaced with a good bridge.

Ed Harbin has added a complete turning lathe to his planing plant and a Barnes foot power iron turning lathe to his bicycle repairing plant.

A. L. McIntosh, of Paulina, passed through here last Saturday enroute from The Dalles, where he had been to dispose of his wool. He realized good prices.

City marshal Prine and family returned Monday from a two weeks trip to Benham Falls and other points of interests on the Deschutes, having spent the time very pleasantly.

Judge J. C. Sumner, an old-time resident of this county, died at his residence on the North side, Tuesday afternoon. He had been ailing for a time and death was not unexpected. Obituary next week.

Born, Sunday morning to the wife of P. B. Doak, a son. Mother and child doing well and Park is pardonable for stepping a little high, for its the first boy in the family and it weighs ten pounds.

A force of men are at work on the timbers of the Yancey bridge and it will soon be framed when it will be taken from Harbin's lumber yard to the place where it is to be installed and there placed in position.

Champ Smith and wife started Sunday for the mountains. They will enjoy the cool breezes of the Cascades for a few days and then go to Eugene for a visit with relatives. While below Champ contemplates visiting Portland and laying in a supply of liquors.

Before the ink dries on the paper this week, namely sometime Wednesday, our efficient county school superintendent will have taken unto himself a partner for life. He gracefully surrendered to Cupid and we will no doubt be furnished with full details of the ceremonies attending the capitulation for next issue.

About four o'clock Friday morning in the Dalles Mrs. J. W. Moore, mother of Med Moore, died from heart failure. She and her husband had returned the evening previous from Shaniko, where they had gone to meet the body of their son. Grief and the shock of her son's death are supposed to have been the cause of death. The remains were taken to Corvallis and interred Sunday at the same time that those of her son were laid to rest.

Last Saturday evening two young people came to town from the Haystack country and attended the social dance at Glazes hall. Sunday morning the services of city recorder Bell were called into requisition and they were made one. Whether it was a premeditated matter we are unable to state, but from the expression of their faces as they passed this office we are satisfied they are happy. They were C. L. Hinton and Miss Irene Hale.

A number of Mrs. Carey's pupils gave a private rehearsal in the parlor of the Prineville hotel, last Saturday evening to a few of their friends, which was an enjoyable treat. The little ones are making good headway in their studies and it will not be long until Prineville will be noted for its musical talent. Some of these little tots cannot sit on a piano stool and reach the pedals, and the larger part of them cannot reach an octave on the keyboard.

Costs more to make than others, but it's steeped with honest value. Drop in and look it over.

ELKINS & KING,

Prineville, Oregon.

John Cyrus and wife started Sunday for a two months outing at the Soda springs in the Cascade mountains. While there they will partake largely of the succulent wild blackberries that are usually so abundant in that section of the state.

Judge Wills and C. N. Scott started last Sunday on a prospecting and pleasure trip to the upper part of the county and had proceeded as far as the grade this side of Meyer & Brown's stock ranch when the judge thought he would pull off his coat and handed the lines to Mr. Scott when one of the horse got the line under his tail and away they went. Scott jumped out and tried to stop them, but was unsuccessful and after they got under good headway the judge climbed out over the brake and in doing so fell in such a manner as to break his arm between the wrist and elbow. He was brought to town Monday night and the fracture reduced by Dr. Belknap and is now doing nicely. This has been a bad year on Judges; first it was Judge Bradshaw, then Judge Calk and now it is Judge Wills, but we want it distinctly understood that no county in the state is going to outdo us even in the matter of crippled Judge.
