

Warm Spring Warblings.

From our regular correspondent.

Will H. See, wife and niece have gone to Portland on business, but of course went during the Carnival.

A Smithsonian Institute man is here to have a pow-wow with the Indians in a week or so.

Indian Policeman H. Miller is the accomodating counter-jumper during the absence of Mr. See.

Clerk Bishop intends to go to The Dalles during the fair, not for vacation nor to meet his wife, but to attend to official business.

Indian children are pouring into school earlier than usual this fall as the sheep from the Forest Reserve have come onto the Reservation and destroyed most of the "ollallies" for the Indians.

It is reported that Mr. Clee has sold his ranches and ferry near here to a Mr. Cole.

Disney and Campbell have had a surveyor out on the Agency plains locating some claims, including the dried up Jack rabbits.

We have a new government farmer, a white man from Dakota. His duties are not to go out on the reservation and teach the Indians how to farm, but to conduct the school farm.

We learn that the postoffice department has concluded to give us a daily mail after next July, via Shaniko and Hay Creek by a 22 mile route. We will be cut off from The Dalles and Prineville as the present routes will be discontinued, but as we are given a money order office we will be at least within reach of civilization. Ex-CORNERACKER.

Bend Items.

From our regular correspondent.

We are having splendid fall weather, having had several heavy frosts.

W. H. Staats and family are expected home from the Willamette valley in a few days, having been gone for about a month on a visit to relatives and friends.

Our genial postmaster is putting the finishing touches on a new wooden leg. Jim is an expert in this line.

The Deschutes Irrigation and Reclamation Co. will resume work on their canal in a few days. The boys are determined to complete their ditch this fall and winter.

In spite of irrigation talk and surveying, the old Deschutes continues to roll onward to the sea.

At an early hour Monday morning the tracks of large bear were discovered in the streets of Pilot Butte. In a short time the entire population was in hot pursuit. The latest returns from the front are that the entire party were eight miles up the Tumalow with bruin just a little in advance, in consequence the city is somewhat dull today.

John Sizemore has finished putting up his hay crop. John is a rustler.

Colonel Keeper, of Georgia, an old friend of Mr. Drake, is stopping at Pilot Butte looking over the country.

The fly season is about over, but some good catches of trout are still being made at this place.

REPORTER.

An Answer.

In the review I noticed an article about the Newsom creek bridge, in which I noticed a good many mistakes which are misleading. He says that the lumber will be furnished by Hawkins Bros. It is furnished by Moor & Robbins and the lumber costs $9 per 1000 on the yard and $4 per 1000 for hauling. He states that it is delivered for $9 at the bridge. The bill is less than 20,000 feet and he says that the contract calls for 25,000 feet. Therefore the item is a mistake from one end to the other, so I answered to correct the mistake. Arthur Bennett.

Bob Officer Injured.

While riding a horse last Saturday at Izee, Uncle Bob Officer, one of the best known citizens in this section, was thrown against a post and came very near losing his life. Several ribs were broken and other painful injuries sustained. Dr. Fell was summoned from John Day and drove to Izee that night. The doctor stated to a News representative on his return Monday evening that the horse upon which Mr. Officer was riding was considered perfectly gentle and had at one time been a race horse. Mr. Officer did not know himself how the accident happened.

It is thought that the injured man will recover unless complication arises not at present indicated. —Gruu Co. News.

Sherlocks Return.

Will J. Sherlock and Mrs. Richard Sherlock, who started to Portland recently to meet Mr. Sherlock's sons coming out from Ireland, only got as far as Prineville, where they met the boys.

They visited the sheep farm of Allen & Lafollett and spent a most enjoyable day. Will looked at the blood sheep and as he had orders for 87 head of bucks purchased that number from the Allen & Lafollett pastures. He says the sheep are the finest he has seen. He intends starting after them about the first of October, and if he can get orders for about 100 more it will make the trip much less expensive for all. Parties wishing to buy fine bucks at a reasonable figure should drop Mr. Sherlock a line and order what they want, as he is a good judge of sheep. —Paisley Post
