Being one delegate at large for each precinct and one delegate for each 16 votes or major fraction of 9 or over as cast for the Hon. J. N. Williamson for State Senator in 1900.

It is recommended that the primaries be held on March 15th, 1902, at 1 o'clock p. m., in each precinct for the election of such delegates.

Also further recommended that all persons holding proxies shall be a resident and voter in the precinct for which he holds such proxies.

By order of the Republican County Central Committee, done this 12th day of February, 1902.

W. A. BELL, Chairman.

M. R. ELLIOTT, Secretary.

We would like to ask Mr. Moody's followers if their chief ever served an apprenticeship at the plowhandles, if he ever herded sheep and hazed horses or cattle over the mountains, if his sympathies are with the herder in his lonely camp or with the miner as he delves for the hidden treasures of the earth? In fact if he is closely in touch with the common people by reason of having passed through the hardships they have to endure to gain a competence? How about Williamson? He has served his time at all of them and in him will the common people have an advocate such as they have never yet had from this district.

Judging from press reports all over this district we feel safe in predicting that Hon. J. N. Williamson will win the nomination for congress "hands down." On another page will be found an extract from the Arlington Record that shows the sentiment in that county. A significant fact in the matter is the stand taken by the press of Wasco county, the home of Mr. Moody, where the two leading republican papers are radical Williamson partisans, while the two that are located at out of the way places advocate Moody's nomination.

Politics make strange bed-fellows. The Salem Journal, that for years was the most blatant, loud-mouthed free silver lunatic in Oregon, is now as pronounced in its support of Geer and Simon as it was for forty cent dollars.—Dalles Chronicle.

Brother Leuddeman takes the Journal to task in the following classic language: "Of all the little, dirty, mean, low things that the present congressional fight has brought out, the following from the Crook County Journal is the worst," and then goes on to quote an item clipped by us from one of our exchanges that has appeared in not less than half of the papers in the district. Either our good brother is becoming affected in the region of his eyes or he has been looking over his exchanges after four o'clock, when all good Dutchmen are supposed to be troubled with defective vision. If the former we would advise him to consult an oculist at once, but if the latter, there is no remedy as it is a constitutional ailment and is incurable.

In another column we give an extract from the Telegram regarding the Mays law. It says that the democrats will take advantage of this law as they have always been in favor of the election of U. S. senators by popular vote. If they have what have they done to show it? The Mays law was promulgated by a republican, introduced by a republican and passed by a republican legislature. The only man of any prominence in congress that has advocated the election of senators by popular vote is a republican senator. Where do the democrats come in?

The Moody contingent down in Antelope canyon must be on the verge of mental dissolution to judge from the tone of the last issue of the Herald. "Whom the gods wish to destroy, they first make mad." The sight of the Journal last week seems to have had a red rag influence in that region, judging from the bellowings it brought forth. "Dat's alright, I aint mad."

The Antelope Herald, published at a way station on one of Mac Cornett's stage lines, tries to explain away the fact that Moody was in favor of the lease law, but the fact remains that he didn't come to himself until he found it was a bad move. The fact of the matter is that Mr. Moody has been identified with the corporations all the time, being himself a banker.

J. R. Whitney, editor of the Albany Herald, is receiving a lot of advertising in connection with his candidacy for the office of state printer. Well, Joe is alright, and if the office is to fall to the western part of the state we hope he will get it. He understands the business thoroughly and will do the right thing by the people.

The Dalles Chronicle seems to think that Simon is a better man than Geer and that there is little to recommend in either. Let them fight it out on their own lines, we have nothing to do with Western Oregon fights. What this part of Oregon wants is a reasonable representation on the state ticket. We must either have the governor or its equivalent in minor offices.

The editor of this paper does not intend to be short sighted and narrow minded, but does the best he can with the mental equipment nature has furnished him. He makes mistakes, others do likewise, but in championing the cause of J. N. Williamson he makes no mistake and time will prove the correctness of the assertion.

Notice.

A. H. Lippman has sold part of his extensive business to G. M. Meyer and will conduct business hereafter under the firm name of A. H. Lippman & Co. All bills dated up to and inclusive January 2, 1902, must be settled before March 1.

HOW TO MAKE MONEY

THIS INFORMATION IS FOR PEOPLE OF MATURE WISDOM

Don't set up a "coin-plant" and make your own dollars. Uncle Sam has ideas of his own about such things. People have come to grief before by trying it. There is a surer, safer way, if not so rapid.
