

Local Mention.

Walter Knox came down from Post Saturday on business.

Dave Adamson is building a new Woodshed on his property in Smith's addition.

F. S. Hoffman, a prominent Culverite, was a business visitor in the city last Saturday.

N. F. McCain was in from Culver Friday and added his name to our growing list of subscribers.

Work has been resumed on Mrs. Susie Slayton's building and it will be pushed to an early completion.

We received a communication from Lamonta too late for insertion in this issue which will appear next week.

J. G. Julian was over from his stock ranch on Squaw creek last week and reports stock having wintered in fine shape.

Z. M. Brown arrived on Tuesday's stage from Portland. He reports it raining down there and very disagreeable weather.

Messrs. Wurzweiler and Thomson returned Saturday from a business trip to Portland. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Thomson and Dr. V. Gesner.

If our friends can spare a few dollars on subscription, it will be appreciated; not that we need money ourselves, but there are others who do, so they tell us.

Don't fail to attend the rabbit drive next Sunday in the Ryegrass country. Let us get rid of as many of these pests as possible and have a little fun while doing so.

J. M. Henkle was over from his farm on Willow creek the first of the week attending to business in the justices court. He paid this office a pleasant call while in the city.

Ward Lamson, who has been teaching for several years in this county, left for Sheridan, Oregon, Tuesday, where he will accept a position in a general merchandise store.

Andrew Morrow was over from Grizzly Monday attending the Smith-Henkle trial and reports stock looking well in that vicinity. He is hearty in favor of a county organization of stock owners.

W. E. Claypool was over from Sisters last Friday attending to business matters. He was accompanied by Miss Jessie Andrews who will take charge of the Culver school for the remainder of the term.

Sunday Portland had a $94,000 fire on the water front. It destroyed the U. S. mills and a lot of other buildings. After six hours of hard fighting the firemen had the fire under control. There was no loss of life.

Ferd McCallister finished haying in the last of his first batch of lucan last week. It was all delivered to Wurzweiler & Thomson, who have stored it in their new warehouse and it is a fine sight to look upon.

Walter Ruible and sister were visitors over Sunday from Culver. Walter informed our agricultural editor that farming was in full swing in that section of the county and that there will be a large acreage sown this season.

Brother Linnett is moving, or his building is, which is about the same thing. Frank Elkins is going to install his blacksmith shop on the land adjoining the Court stables and as the Review office encroached a little on the lot it had to be moved.

A new dancing club has been organized in town and the consequences are that on Saturday night there will be two dances, one at Gimes' hall and the other upstairs over the new brick store. The new club organized Monday night with 22 members and will give a free opening dance Saturday night.

All the stockmen in this county should attend the organization of the stock association on March 8. It is something that has been needed for years in this county and would have prevented a good deal of bad blood between the sheep and cattle men of this section, as there is plenty of range in this county for all the stock in it without crowding.

John Combs went to Wasco county last week to attend to business matters.

Perry Read, the Culver hotel man, was a visitor in the city the first of the week.

Since we received our new job press we have been busy filling orders for job work.

Mrs. M. A. Moore left on Monday's stage for her home in Corvallis after a brief business visit in this city.

Charles A. McKinnon came down from Camp creek last week and is sojourning in town for a few days.

Ban Puett, Mug Puett and S. G. Morsefield came over from our neighboring city of Mitchell Saturday.

J. Hacerow, H. E. Glazier, R. Jordan and H. Seehale were over from Sisters Friday attending to land matters at the clerk's office.

J. E. Newbill was over from Grizzly Friday and made this office a pleasant call. He reports farming operations under way in that vicinity.

F. M. Loveland, of Culver, was a business visitor in the city the first of the week. He reports a large acreage of grain being sown in that section of the county.

The genial countenance of Uncle Billy Quinn was noticed on the streets of our quiet little city Monday. He was accompanied by his nephew, Al Thomas, of Dufur.

J. B. Cornett, a prominent stockman of Shedd, Linn county, arrived on Wednesday's stage. Mr. Cornett also owns a fine stock ranch in Summit prairie.—Mitchell News.

Last week we turned out a lot of posters for the rabbit exterminators of Ryegrass, who will make a grand drive next Sunday. It promises to be a very exciting event if the weather is fine.

W. J. Schmidt came down from Summit Prairie yesterday. He informs us that he is feeding 100 head of choice beef cattle this winter which are in excellent condition for the spring market.—Mitchell News.

A. J. Bennett, "The Old Observer," paid this office a pleasant call Tuesday. He is representing the American Shepherds' Bulletin, of Boston, and incidentally writing up the resources of this great stock range.

C. B. Allen and family came in from Lava last Sunday and were laying in a load of supplies and visiting with friends the first of the week. Mr. Allen is one of the fine chicken fanciers of this county and has a nice lot of blooded Plymouth Rocks.

C. W. Parrish, a prominent member of the legal fraternity of Buras, stopped over a few days the first of the week on account of there being no conveyance on the Buras end of the stage line. He was returning from Salem where he had charge of a case before the supreme court.

We have been requested by the marshal to state that all persons will be required to clean up all alleys and back yards on their premises and to put in good repair all sidewalks abutting on their property in this city or the same will be done by the marshal at their expense. This is ordered at the instance of the board of health and committee on streets.

Order of Washington.
A subordinate union of this order was instituted in Belknap's hall Monday night, Feb. 24th, by Deputy Supreme Organizer Capt. Jay N. Leonard, with twenty-five charter members comprising many of the leading business men of this city. Mr. William Boegli, county school superintendent, was elected president and W. T. Fogle, editor of the JOURNAL, vice president. The order is having a rapid growth throughout the entire Pacific coast. Deputy A. C. Sly, now in Moro, will institute a strong union in that city during the present week. Deputy Leonard purposes to organize at Haystack in the near future. This order is a patriotic, fraternal and beneficial organization.

WE may have been the defendant in a damage suit, BUT—We never did borrow money to avoid a criminal prosecution; WE have served in various official capacities and WE are now fulfilling the duties of stock inspector for Crook county without remuneration, BUT—We never did aspire to the position of Curator of the Prineville museum whose duty it is to arrange the bedraggled feathers of and publicly air the "soiled" ornithological specimens. WE never was conductor of a two-wheeled vehicle in OUR lives.
