PAY FOR SETTLERS.

Mitchell's Bill to Reimburse Eastern Oregon Men.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Senator Mitchell has introduced a bill for the relief of settlers upon the lands of the Eastern Oregon Land Company, in Sherman county, Oregon. The bill authorizes the secretary of the Interior to investigate and ascertain the reasonable value of the lands settled upon and heretofore claimed by the respective persons whose names appear in senate document No. 8, fifty-fifth congress, and senate document No. 240, fifty-seventh congress, and in which documents are also specifically stated an accurate description of the lands claimed by each of such persons, together with the value of the improvements thereon, all of said lands being in Sherman county. The value of said lands and the improvements is to be determined in all cases where the settlers have been dispossessed of their lands as of the date of the ousting of such settlers, respectively, from said lands by either The Dalles Military Wagon Road Company or its successor, or the Eastern Oregon Land Company, in accordance with the judgment and decree of the supreme court of the United States affecting the title to said lands.

The secretary of the interior is required to ascertain the dates when these settlers, or any of them, were respectively dispossessed of their lands, and in all cases where such settlers are still in possession of the lands so claimed by them, the value of the same, and of the improvements thereon, shall be determined as of the date of the passage of this act. Upon the ascertainment of this information, the secretary of the interior is authorized and directed to issue to said settlers severally and respectively, a certificate of indebtedness, in which shall be stated the exact amount each one of such settlers is entitled to in accordance with the ascertained value of such lands and improvements, as provided for by the first section of the act, and on the presentation of such certificate, by such settlers, to the secretary of the treasury of the United States, warrants shall be drawn in favor of such settlers for the amounts so ascertained to be due by the secretary of the interior, which warrants shall be paid out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated. The bill appropriates an amount sufficient to meet the payment of all such warrants so drawn.

Mystery of the Cascades.

Strange and wonderful tales come from the Cascades occasionally, and it appears that region is one vast territory of curiosities. D. B. Ennis, of Sedro-Woolley, who recently returned from a journey to his claim, which is located on the Cascade River, brings back the latest wonderful story of the mystery of the Cascades, says the Courier.

In the bed of the Cascade River, and protruding from the bank is a common Sitash cedar canoe in a good state of preservation. Fully one-half of the canoe is concealed by the bank of the river, which is ten feet high at this point. Growing from the bank immediately over the canoe was until recently an immense cottonwood tree, but this has been cut down, and by counting the layers of growth on the stump, it is easily determined that the stump is 150 years old. Mr. Ennis' theory is that some time, more than a century and a half ago, a landslide occurred on the river bank which completely covered the canoe which had been left in the river. As the years passed on a cottonwood sprout sprang up on the bank above the boat, and it grew and flourished until a mammoth tree was the result. The Spring freshets came, and each year they wore away more of the bank, until at last the long-lost canoe appeared, after a burial lasting more than a century. As the waters of the river gradually eat away the earth above and around it, the old canoe emerges from its grave in a remarkable state of preservation, which is a flattering testimonial to the stability of Washington cedar. Mr. Ennis stated that the tomahawk marks inside the canoe, which shows that the boat was hewn out of a solid log, are easily discernible at the present time.

The discovery of the canoe was made by an aged Sitash, and the Indians up the river are much excited over the find. They say the boat has been there for "many, many moons," but only recently was it discovered, which would indicate that the bank above it had been washed away probably within a year or two.

Strikes a Rich Find.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. E. Green, of Lancaster, N. H., "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Pullman Ordinary Sleepers.

The tourist travel between the east and the Pacific coast has reached enormous proportions in the last few years, and calls for a special class of equipment. To meet this demand the Pullman Co. has issued from its shops what it technically calls the "Pullman Ordinary Sleeper." These cars appear similar to the regular sleeper, being built on the same plan, but not furnished with the same elegance. They are equipped with mattresses, blankets, sheets, pillows, pillow cases, towels, combs, brushes, etc., requiring nothing of the kind to be furnished by the passenger. Each car has a stove for making coffee and tea and doing "light housekeeping," and each section can be fitted with an adjustable table. A uniformed porter accompanies each car, his business being to make up berths, keep the car clean, and look after the comforts and wants of the passengers. In each of the trains which are dispatched daily from Portland by the O. R. & N. Co. is to be found one of these "Pullman Ordinary Sleepers." The car is attached to the "Chicago-Portland Special," which goes through to Chicago without change, and the one in the "Atlantic Express" runs to Kansas City without change. Passengers in this car for Chicago change to a similar car at Granger. Much of the first class travel is being carried in these cars, the rates being lower, and the service being nearly equal to that in the palace sleepers.

For rates and full information, including orders, write to A. L. Craig, G. P. A., O. R. & N. Co., Portland, Ore.
