Nature's Ice House.

The number of birds that go to the arctic regions to breed is vast beyond conception. They go not by thousands, but by tens and hundreds of thousands, and because nowhere else in the world does nature place such a lavish prodigality of food.

The vegetarian consists of cranberry, cloudberry, and crowberry bushes, and these, forced by the perpetual sunshine of the arctic summer, bear enormous crops of fruit. But the crop is not ripe until the middle and end of the arctic summer, and if the fruit-eating birds had to wait until it was ripe they would starve in the meantime, as they arrive on the very day of the melting of the snow.

But each year the snow descends on an immense crop of ripe fruit before the birds have time to gather it. It is thus preserved perfectly fresh and pure, and the melting of the snow discloses the bushes, with the unconsumed last year's crop hanging on them or lying ready to be eaten, on the ground.

The frozen meal stretches across the breadth of Northern Asia. It never decays, and it is accessible the moment the snow melts. The same heat which thaws the fruit brings into being the most prolific insect life in the world—the mosquito swarms on the tundra. No European can live there without a veil after the snow melts. The gun barrels are black with them, and clouds of them often obscure the sight.

Thus the insect-eating birds have only to open their mouths to fill them with mosquitoes and thus the presence of swarms of cliff chaffs, pipis, and the wagtails in this arctic region is accounted for.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Oil in Polk County.

The first crude petroleum struck in Oregon has made its appearance near Monmouth, Polk county, and the predictions of oil experts have thus been verified. The fluid began appearing at the top of the well shortly after a depth of 670 feet had been reached, and efforts have been made to suppress the news until more land can be secured in the vicinity, but the secret was too good to keep.

The well in question was bored on the Whiteaker farm, three miles from Monmouth, at the expense of H. Hirschberg of Independence. D. M. Watson, of this city, who has been drilling the well declines to give any information on the subject, but would not deny that oil had been struck. Persons posted on the work say that arrangements are being made to pump the water out of the well so as to permit the oil to flow. As the oil is now kept down by a pressure of 100 feet to the inch, only a small portion of it manages to reach the

The well was not cased, and could not be pumped out. A 5 1/2 inch pipe is now to be sent down and as this will shut the water off, the oil will then be permitted to come to the surface and show how strong the flow really is.—Herald.

Pullman Ordinary Sleepers.

The tourist travel between the east and the Pacific coast has reached enormous proportions in the last few years, and calls for a special class of equipment. To meet this demand the Pullman Co. has issued from its shops what is technically called the "Pullman Ordinary Sleeper." These cars appear similar to the regular sleeper, being built on the same plan, but not furnished with the same elegance. They are equipped with mattresses, blankets, sheets, pillows, pillow-cases, towels, combs, brushes, etc., requiring nothing of the kind to be furnished by the passenger. Each car has a stove for making coffee and tea and doing "light housekeeping," and each section can be fitted with an adjustable table. A uniform porter accompanies each car, his business being to make up bottles, keep the car clean, and look after the comfort and wants of the passengers. In each of the trains which are dispatched daily from Portland by the O. R. & N. Co., is to be found one of these "Pullman Ordinary Sleepers." The car is attached to the "Chicago Portland Special," which goes through to Chicago without change, and the one in the "Atlantic Express" runs to Kansas City without change. Passengers in this car for Chicago change to a similar car at Granger. Much of the first class travel is being carried in these cars, the rates being lower, and the service being nearly equal to that in the palace sleepers.

For rates and full information, including orders, write to A. L. Craig, G. P. A., O. R. & N. Co. Portland, Ore.
