

Local Mention.

W. D. West was a business visitor from Paisley last week.

George M. Totten passed through here from Burns last week.

A. H. Weddell returned Saturday from an extended trip through California and Western Oregon.

Roscoe Knox was down from his ranch near Post the first of the week looking after business matters.

Thomas J. Chick, of Pendleton, was in the city one day last week. He is here in the interest of timber land.

J. A. Finch, local editor of the Daily Herald, and Fred Dawson, the drug dispenser, arrived from Albany Saturday.

W. H. Staats, of Bend, was a city visitor last week. Mr. Staats is one of the pioneer settlers in that part of the county.

E. B. Knox, E. E. Gillewater and Caleb Davis were in from Post Friday. Knox and Davis were making final proof on their homesteads.

J. N. Quiberg was in the city from the timber belt of Squaw creek last week filing on a quarter section of some of the choicest timber there.

Any one wishing to employ girls for general housework will do well to advertise in the JOURNAL, as we have had a number of applications for such positions.

U. S. Cowles was in from his ranch in the Mud springs country Saturday and reports having an average of 100 per cent in his lamb crop this season, which is a very good yield, especially as he has 5000 head.

Joe Graham was over from Sisters last week and made this office a pleasant call. He was filing on a timber claim and incidentally renewing his subscription for this family journal.

Henry Montgomery and B. C. Montgomery were in from Willow creek Saturday and reports the crops looking well over that way, but some of the farmers are not yet done sowing grain.

C. F. Slater, B. N. Sprout, R. E. Cameron, of Hood river, and E. R. White, of Grand Forks, N. D., were in the city Sunday returning from a cruising expedition in the pine lands of this county.

C. A. Graves informs us that the impression has gone abroad that he is a partner of A. C. Palmer, but that such is not the case. He simply has office room with Palmer and is in no way connected with him in business.

John W. Gunn and wife were in the city Friday from Seattle. Mr. Gunn is special agent and adjuster for this district for the London, Liverpool and Globe Insurance Company and was looking after the company's interests in this place.

E. E. Kingsley and wife, Mrs. Dan McDowell, J. Gully and George Cutler passed through here last week on their return from the timber lands of the Deschutes where they located claims. They belong to the Albany contingent that has been locating in that part of the county.

Harry Schlosser, M. Brandeberry, H. Connaway, Joe Williams, C. Benlow, A. J. Scott, Elmer Conn, H. R. Kirsch, J. F. Powell, Geo. Halinan, L. Vetric, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Riley, Mrs. Kate Mariman, Jerome Williams and M. McAlpin were among the Albany delegation that arrived here Monday enroute to the Deschutes to take timber claims.

A few days ago Hudson & Brownhill sold the Davis place on Eight-Mile to Vince Carole recently from Crook county. The place contains 195 acres and was sold for $4000. Mr. and Mrs. Carole recently sold their interests in Crook county and have come here to permanently locate. They are a valuable acquisition to the country.—Dalles Mountaineer.

Douglas Allen came in today from Matoles with a party of eight men from Spokane, whom he had taken to Matoles, Crook county, to locate on timber land. They were quite well satisfied with the timber belt in that section and all made locations. Mr. Allen took a party of Michigan timbermen to Matoles, and they were well pleased with the timber there, stating that it is far ahead of anything that is to be had in Michigan.—Dalles Mountaineer.

W. H. Peck was in from Culver Monday filing on a forty of timber land in that part of the county for the purpose of saving it to the community as a public grove for picnics and other gatherings. Mr. Peck shows a spirit of public enterprise in this matter that is beyond the common as such a proceeding divests him of any right to file on timber land again and he will reap but little benefit from land filed upon. The grove is known as "Peck's Grove" and has been used by the citizens of that part of the county as a place of gathering for picnics for the past 17 years.

Leo F. Arnold was a business visitor from the classic shores of Squaw creek last Friday.

Andrew Morrow, the Grizzly sheep man, was doing business in the county seat one day last week.

Nick Smith, John Steidle and E. A. Sather, of Bemidji, Minn., are in this county looking after timber land.

H. J. Healey was over from his ranch in the Haystack country Tuesday and reports crops looking well.

Clarence Wiley, Wallace Post, E. N. Wakefield and E. D. Starr were down from Post transacting business last Friday.

George Milliean was down from his ranch at Pine mountain the first of the week looking after business affairs in the city.

Several parties have taken up homesteads in the Haystack country during the past week and yet there is room for more.

The weather still continues to border on the Weebot style and no wonder with from twenty to fifty of Albany people coming every week.

Charles Brock was down from Bend Saturday and paid this office a pleasant call. He reports things getting lively over in that part of the county.

Mrs. W. H. Parker, Miss Bessie Parker and Master Harvey Parker arrived from Albany Friday and made glad the heart of ve business manager of this family journal.

E. H. Smith and wife returned last week from a trip to Portland and outside points. They were accompanied home from Portland by Mrs. Smith's sister, Miss Iva Adams.

Reports from a number of fishing parties show that the trout are beginning to bite and as soon as things warm up a bit we may expect to get a mess of fish for the larder.

A fine piece of work was done last week in Smith's harness shop by Mr. Rex. It was a light bridle and was as neat a specimen of that kind of work as one meets in a long time.

Owing to sickness in the JOURNAL family this week we are unable to get out a supplement, but will endeavor to do so next week in order that our patrons may get as much reading as usual.

Elmer Clark came down from his ranch on Upper Crooked river last week with his wife who has been suffering with a severe attack of tonsillitis. Mrs. Clark is recovering at this writing.

Judge Willis returned Monday from a trip to the grade on the Sisters-Haystack road looking after the work. He says that whether he is elected or not he intends to do his duty toward the county.

Ed. Fortner came in from Idaho the first of the week and reports everything looking well out that way. But little grass has started up yet in the range of mountains bordering on the John Day river.

John Edwards and wife came down from Alkali flat Saturday and after a day in town caught the timber fever and went out with the Albany contingent and before this has selected a quarter section of fine timber.

W. A. Bell returned Monday from a business trip to Salem. He reports a very rough time getting home from The Dalles. He talks as if he might have been sitting up with a lot of candidates, but he says it is only a bad cold.

H. W. Reed returned from a trip to Portland Monday. Mr. Reed informed our reporter that he had been appointed a U. S. Commissioner at Bend and is now preparing to take filings on timber land and all other kinds of filings that come before such officers.

In last week's paper we placed a local that a brother of Phil. A. Begg desired information of his whereabouts. We received a letter from Mr. Grant, of the B. S. and L. Co., stating that Mr. Begg is working for the company. It pays to place notices in the JOURNAL when in need of information.

This seems to be an off year for coyotes. Last week we reported a catch of eleven by Pole Lafollett and now comes a letter from the B. S. & L. ranch at Hay creek that says: "Hay creek can go Mr. Lafollett two better in catching coyotes. S. S. Crawford, in the employ of the Baldwin Sheep & Land Co. dug one mother and twelve pups out of a hole on the Durham ranch." Next.

Monday night the Artisans had a fine time socially. Lodge adjourned early and a few invited guests were then brought up to the lodge room and a short literary program was rendered, after which ice cream and cake were served and then all hands took part in games and pleasant converse until a late hour. The Artisans are hard to beat when it comes to insurance and social good times.

Frank Bogue was in from Bend Monday looking after business affairs at the county seat.

W. E. Claypool and wife, accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Wood, came over from Squaw creek Tuesday to secure medical treatment for Mrs. Wood.

Mrs. A. P. Jones died at her home near this place Tuesday and was buried Wednesday. She was the daughter of M. D. Powell.

Little Dick Morford who has been a great sufferer for a year, passed quietly away at the home of his parents in North Prineville Wednesday morning.

Henry Cleek, a former resident of the Willow creek country, is up from the Willamette valley visiting with his son Isom Cleek, of the Reception.

J. M. Houkle was over from his ranch on the other side of Grizzly Tuesday looking after land matters. He reports some heavy hail having fallen there during the recent storm.

A great deal of interest is being manifested in this country by people in the middle west as is evident by the numerous letters of inquiry we are receiving almost daily.

Ed Cusick, Geo. D. Barton, Lee Morgan, Edith Rowell, F. J. Tracy, M. B. Reeves, Fred W. Bergman, E. L. Umphrey, J. M. Talt, Wm. Stephens, C. DuBrulle, Ben Clelan, were among those who have arrived from Albany during the past week.
