His wife knowing his weakness would not let him take one for fear he would be hunting most of the time and not catch any fish. The League meeting which was held at Glaz's hall Monday night, for the purpose of seeing if the business men were willing to have a fair and race meeting this fall, did not do any important business. They were in favor of having a fair and race meeting sometime this fall. They also voted to have a series of base ball games at the same time. A committee was appointed to canvass the county and see what the people were willing to do towards assisting it. They then adjourned to meet again next Monday night, Aug. 4th. Let everybody turn out and help the cause along, and make this meeting the most successful ever held in this county.

Last Friday night while one of our citizens was enjoying a quiet snooze in front of Champ Smith's resort, some of the boys seeing him, thought it would be a good time to blow him out of existence, and proceeded to get a large bomb, one that had been left over from the fourth of July. Stealing up on him they put it where it could do the most good, and then after lighting it made a sneak for the alley and waited for the fun to commence. When that bomb exploded the gentlemen most of been dreaming of capturing Tracey. He sailed up in the air about ten feet and when he got through hunting for broken bones and found none he was on the war-path with blood in his eyes, but the boys had concluded it was time to go some where, and did not quit running until they reached Crooked river bridge. When they showed up in town half an hour later the marshal promptly placed one of them under arrest but turned him loose after he promised to show up in the morning. Our good citizen had cooled off by that time and seeing the comical part of the joke refused to prosecute him. We would advise him to find a more secluded place in which to take a nap. It is said that the man who tortured the piano over at White's place thought Tracey was in town and almost broke his neck in hunting a place of safety. Ed. H. who was also having a nap in the saloon, was very busy in finding a safe place under a card table. The boys say it was worth the risk of serving out two or three days in jail to have seen the expression of surprise and fright that the mayor had on his face, he did look as if he had felt in a Roubidou.

He was married to Miss Naomi Long, Nov. 23, 1882. The oldest child, a son, died at the age of six years. The wife and four daughters survive him, to mourn his sudden and tragic death.

The funeral services were held at the M. E. Church, July 24, at 2 p. m. Rev. Ed. Baker, of Arlington, assisted by the pastor officiating.

Many were the tributes of respect paid to his memory. Not the least of which was that of J. Geiger's, Mr. Salomon being the only member besides himself, of the Sons of Hermann. Mr. Geiger placed an arch on the bridge over which the funeral passed and draped his building in mourning, in honor of his late lamented brother.

Louisa J. Yancey was born in Nevada, Oct. 4, 1867, and died from congestion of the stomach and bowels and internal hemorrhage, July 22, about 1 p. m.

In 1880, with the family, the deceased came to Oregon, and was married to Isaac W. Ward, Jan. 5th, 1887. A daughter was born to them, whom with the husband, father, mother, four brothers and five sisters are living.

Mrs. Ward was converted under Brother Bailey's ministry and Feb. 10, 1895, united with the Prineville Baptist Church, of which she was a consistent and faithful member till her death.
