

Local Mention.

Chris McRae was up from Antelope Sunday looking after varied business matters.

C. M. Cartwright and J. G. Edwards, of the B. S. & L. Co., have gone to Portland on a business trip.

John Campbell and Pete Sager left Monday for Erie, B. C. They will look over the country there for minerals.

F. C. Whisen, F. Gallinger and Mrs. Gallinger, of Portland, came in from the railroad Sunday after timber claims.

P. T. Monroe, H. L. Friday and Mrs. A. J. Friday were up from Lower Hay creek last week transacting business at the county seat.

James Keenan was over from the sheep farm of Morrow & Keenan Tuesday and reports everything lovely and haying under full blast.

J. W. Shattuck and wife came down from their home near Crook Sunday to visit with relatives and friends and to lay in a lot of supplies.

Frank Bonney is adding to the room in the restaurant and will have a reception room and a lot of sleeping apartments ready in a short time.

Mrs. Frank Hadley, of Eugene, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Poindexter for some time past returned to her home last Sunday.

Dr. Ralph Hutchison has leased the premises adjoining the office of Dr. Rosenberg and will open dental parlors as soon as the rooms are ready for occupancy.

A letter from C. B. Allen informs the Journal that the rain did but little damage in his part of the county and that haying had been resumed and would soon be over with.

Mrs. Mima Wilmarth, of Burns, wife of Editor Wilmarth of the Harney County News, is here visiting her mother, Mrs. Charity Wilson, who has been ill for some time past, but is now improving slowly.

D. W. Barnett was in from Haystack Tuesday and informed the Journal man that threshing would begin in his neighborhood this week. The grain is not as heavy as usual in that section of the county.

J. R. Harvey was down from his ranch at Powell buttes and informed our reporter that there was a water spout out that way during the rain storm last week. No damage was done of any consequence.

Joe Lister came down from his stock ranch on North Crooked river Sunday and transacted business with our merchants Monday morning, returning home the same day. He reports haying about done in that section of the county.

Ed Parker was down from the ranch on Crooked river Monday to get some repairs for his mowing machine. He reports having just begun cutting the second crop of alfalfa which was slightly demoralized by the recent rain, but not enough to damage the crop.

Mert Bailey, Charley Christiani, Clarence and Harvey Parker left Tuesday for the mountains in the vicinity of Davis and Odell lakes where they expect to lay in a winter supply of venison and fish as well as a few bear and cougar for good measure. They go well equipped with dogs, guns and a little grub box well filled—a good idea.

The rain last week was a much needed visitant and came at an opportune time for there had been very little grain cut so far in the district covered by it and the hay crop was so nearly up that only a small amount was damaged to amount to anything. It has cleared the atmosphere of smoke and put out the fires in the mountains and thus saved much valuable timber from being burned. The grass will now have a chance to grow on the mountains and fall feed will be good.

John Craft, of Lebanon, was registered at one of the leading hotels Sunday.

E. E. Mogan was a business visitor from the coming town of Paulina Sunday.

Wm. Staats, the Bend postmaster, was in the city Tuesday looking after business affairs.

Will Marks and his sisters started for the Willamette valley Monday for a two weeks visit with relatives.

John Poindexter and wife arrived from Vancouver Tuesday evening and will visit with relatives for some time.

It will take about $750 to meet the expenses of the Crook county stock show and this should be easily raised.

A. M. Logan was down from his stock ranch near Price last week looking after business affairs in the metropolis.

Mrs. Maggie Weigand was in from Lamonta Tuesday and stated that she would open a photograph gallery here about the middle of September.

Ben Pettyjohn and wife were up from their home on Lower Crooked river Saturday attending to business affairs and visiting with friends.

H. M. Peters, F. W. Dunstan, Henry Jones and Ralph Aune, of Clarkston, Wash., were among the arrivals Sunday enroute to the timber for claims.

Rev. H. C. Clark will leave Saturday for Colfax, Wash., to attend the annual conference of the M. E. church, which convenes at that place.

Editor Holder, of the Review, left on Monday's stage for Moro where he will settle up business matters and move his family here for permanent residence.

A. Lippman & Co. are erecting a cottage on the north side of the Ochoco which will be for rent or sale as completed. There is a great demand for cottages and small dwellings this fall by parties coming to town to take advantage of our school facilities this winter.

The tract of land known as Agency Plains, to which land there was a rush of settlers last winter and this spring, is now completely covered with little cabins of the homesteaders and fencing and improving are going on at a great rate. This land is pronounced excellent wheat soil and will produce as much as the land in Sherman county.

Jas. S. Kelley, of Wasco, will be here in a few days with a complete photographic outfit and will be prepared to take pictures that will look like the original. This is something this town has needed for a long time. Mr. Kelley has forwarded this office samples of his work and if he does that kind all the time there will be no room for kicking.

Rev. B. F. Harper returned last week from an extended trip in the Sisters country. He reports crops as being good in that section and at Cline Falls he saw as fine wheat as ever grew in the Walla Walla valley, thus showing that the desert under irrigation will be a wheat producer second to nothing in the Northwest. While at Sisters he established a Sunday school that bids fair to be permanent and prosperous.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Smith returned Sunday from an extended business and pleasure trip to the Willamette valley. Mrs. Smith spent the time visiting relatives in Portland while Mr. Smith went up the valley with a band of horses which he succeeded in disposing of at remunerative figures. After getting rid of his horses he went on up to Myrtle creek in Douglas county to look after some real estate that he has in that country. He reports a pleasant trip with the exception of a little rough rider experience at Jefferson where his horses stampeded at the sight of the train on the S. P. railroad and clambered over the fences and tore around on the Santiam bottom for a time. E. H. didn't get back without an adventure which assumed the aspect of the purloining of a dog—but it wasn't his fault. The dog was a six bit pet hound belonging to another Smith and perhaps made a mistake in the name. Mr. and Mrs. Smith came up from Portland to The Dalles by boat and from there home on horseback.

W. T. Casey had just started to cut his grain out in the Powell butte country when the rain came last week and it was fortunate for him that he was no further along. Last year he had a lot of grain damaged by rain and it looked for a time as if his bad luck was to follow him this year, but we hope not.

Adolph Davin was down from his ranch near Soda Springs last week and informed our reporter that his sheep were doing very well, but the outside sheep were eating up the range pretty badly. Perhaps the new reserve will act as a barrier to this scourge and there will be a little range left for our home stock hereafter.

Any one noticing the fine fruit being brought into town by Ferd McCallister and E. T. Slayton will find evidence enough to convince the most sceptical as to the productiveness of this county in that line. It is only because people have had no faith in the matter that there is not an abundance of all kinds of fruit and berries raised in this country.

Dick Breeze was down from his farm at the head of Gravy Gulch on Poverty flat last week and reports that he has his hay and grain all in. One would naturally infer from the name of the locality where he lives that it was not a very desirable place, but Dick has some of the finest hogs and cattle in the county, not to say anything of his fine farm. He complains that there has been a lot of needless crippling of sage hens on his premises and that a recurrence of the matter will cause him to post trespass notices and keep hunters off his premises altogether.

T. H. Lafollett was in from his stock farm the latter part of last week making final proof on his timber claim. In speaking of the matter of a stock show Mr. Lafollett expressed himself as highly in favor of one and thought it would be a great thing for the farmers and stockmen to get together and talk over conditions prevailing in this county. There is no doubt that such a meeting would be of untold benefit to all concerned and would be an inexpensive affair as those exhibiting stock would do so more for the benefit to be derived from such an exhibition than for any money prizes that could be hung up. This affair could be conducted at the time of the fall races, if there are to be any this fall, and thus bring a larger number together.
