Culver Outings.
Fine rain last week.

Rodman & Stroud report the longest run with thresher they ever have had, over 40 days.

Loucks Bros. are rushing their new building in the new town, of Palmain in Willow creek basin.

Three wagon loads of emigrants from Kansas and Mo., came in a few days ago and will settle near Culver.

Mrs. J. P. Hahn was summoned to Prineville to the bedside of her sister, Nettie Hearing, who is very low with fever.

Chas. Lawson, Ed Cox, Geo. Miller and others have returned from Sherman county where they went to harvest.

J. P. Hahn reports business good and Sept. a nearly double any former month since he has been in business at Culver.

Mr. Hammer, of Albany, ex-clerk of Linn county, has moved here where he has a homestead and will make his home near Culver.

There are many new houses going up on the plains near here and mostly by people who come to stay, and people from the east who know how to rustle.

As harvest is over Hahn will give a grand harvest ball on Oct. 3. Hall will be decorated with grain, and seats made of sacks of grain. This is expected to be the greatest ball of the season.

Farmers are busy hauling grain to town this week as threshing is over. Most every one report the yield below that of last year caused by dry weather and jackrabbits. Many report the loss of their entire crop by jackrabbits.

We are sorry to learn that Messrs. Loveland, Osborn and O'Brian encountered very hard stone with seams, in which they were unable to drill on account of seam running at angles, which the drill would follow and cramp the drill so they could not drill through it.

The Maori women of New Zealand do not kiss but rub noses. There is a large field for missions in New Zealand.

John W. Gates has sailed for Europe. When he returns, Mr. Osgood will give the Gates a jar.

The gunning season has begun, foot-ball will be due after the colleges open and the automobile is always with us. Surgery is a paying profession.

You can keep a rooster from crowing by fastening a string to his foot and passing it over his neck. He never crows unless his head is thrown back.

If the Alphonse Bryan, of the Commoner, does not cease bowing and scraping to Gaston Bryan, of perpetual-presidential-candidacy-ambition, the nomination catastrophe will come along with disastrous results.

The year that has passed since the death of the lamented McKinley, shows how thoroughly President Roosevelt has kept the faith. He promised to carry out the policy of his predecessor and he has done it. He may say with the late, respected Uncle Jere Rusk, "I seen my duty and I done it."

Economic conditions are reflected by the work of inventors with wonderful certainty. At present, the scarcity of anthracite coal and the cheapness of Texas oil finds expression in the inquiries relating to oil and vapor burning apparatus on which it is evident a large number of inventors are at work.

If Senator Hanna ever had any presidential ambitions he is displaying great magnanimity in his readiness to go to Oyster Bay and give Mr. Roosevelt the benefit of his experience and sagacity in the current campaign. Mr. Hanna is too large a man to permit his personal interests to interfere with the national welfare.

Working Night and Day.
The busiest and mightiest little thing that ever was made is Dr. King's New Life Pills. These pills change weakness into strength, listlessness into energy, brain lag into mental power. They're wonderful in building up the health. Only 25c per box. Sold by Adamson Winnek & Co.

On last Thursday an orderly crowd of 300 citizens of Marshfield Oregon, hanged the lifeless body of Alonzo Tucker on the bridge leading to South Marshfield. Within 24 hours after he had committed a criminal assault on a white woman, Mrs. Ben Dennis, his body was hanging on a bridge. He had been arrested and placed in jail, made his escape from the officers with a mob at his heels and spent the night in hiding under a wharf. After daylight the search was renewed and about nine o'clock two small boys discovered the fugitive under Dorn & Co's store, where he had crawled back on the ballast as far as he could get.

When he found he was discovered he made a rush for the boys with a threat that he would ring their necks, but luckily did not catch them. The boys raised the alarm and the negro crawled out and started to run across the street between the warehouse and the store when he was fired upon by his pursuers. When the fugitive was nearly in front of the store he threw up his hands and staggered but did not fall, and turning, he ran into the store. Seeing Elijah Lewis in the store, he again threw up his hands exclaiming, "Oh, oh Lord, have mercy!" He ran on through the main store and started up the stairs leading to the second story, and just as he reached the head of the stairs one of the pursuers fired. The negro reeled and fell through a door which leads to the loft over the wareroom. Several men reached him a moment later and as he was not dead a rope was placed around his neck and his body lowered to the wharf below. The crowd then started to take him to the scene of the crime but he died before this was reached and his lifeless body was hung on the bridge. The verdict of the coroners jury was that the deceased came to his death at the hands of parties unknown while resisting arrest for a felony, and that no crime was committed thereby.
