

Local Mention.

J. L. Allen, of Hay Creek was in the city Sunday.

Ralph Hutchison, resident dentist. Crown and Bridge work a specialty.

Roy Chitwood was over from Willow creek the fore part of the week.

See those beautiful Carbon Finish photos at Kelley's studio, Prineville.

J. W. Gilchrist was down from Paulina the first of the week.

Chas. Mishler of Paulina was in the city the fore part of the week.

Sam Compton and wife were Prineville visitors the fore part of this week.

Rev. H. C. Clark will preach at Howard next Saturday evening and at Claypool on Sunday, at 11 o'clock.

A full house listened with attention to Rev. G. M. Booth, at the Methodist Church on last Sunday evening.

E. S. Dobbs has moved into the residence of Mr. Slayton and will make this his home during the winter.

Park Doak is wearing the star now during the absence of marshal Harrington, who is up on the Deschutes having his timber claim surveyed.

J. H. Harvey, S. H. Killingbeck and W. R. Ruble, representative citizens of Haystack were transacting business in the city the fore part of the week.

Rev. G. M. Booth, presiding Elder of the M. E. Church reports the work here to be in good condition—and is optimistic of the future.

Ike Ward came up from The Dalles the latter part of last week. He will be here two or three weeks looking after his business interests.

Dr. Gesner returned Sunday from his trip to California points. He reports having had a fine trip and he looks as if he had enjoyed the trip. He looks the picture of good health.

You will want to have your shooting eye with you the 16th if you expect to win one of those fine turkeys of Davenport Bros. as there will be some good shots to beat.

A shooting gallery is the new addition being put in next to Dillon's saloon. The boys will have a chance now to practice some for the big turkey shoot which Davenport Bros. will give the 16th.

Subscriptions are coming in fast now, the people realizing the efforts of the JOURNAL to make this the best paper in interior Oregon are having their names put on the subscription list.

Dr. W. W. Taggart, the eye specialist at the Poindexter Hotel, will attend to your eyes, fit spectacles, cure your headache and nervous troubles. Charges reasonable. One charge for one year. Glasses ground in Portland. Care of children a specialty.

Miss Leland, a former teacher in the Crook county schools, but who has been ill at the Umatilla House for some time past with consumption, was taken to Portland last night, Dr. and Mrs. Geisendorfer accompanying her.—Dalles Chronicle.

Next Sunday at the M. E. Church, Mrs. M. E. Hexter, of Portland, who represents the Florence Crittenden Refuge Home for Oregon will speak at 11 o'clock. At 3 p. m. she will speak to ladies only. At 7:30 she will give a free lecture. Subject: Work Among the Fallen.

John Geiger will have some of his thoroughbred chickens on exhibition at the fair grounds during fair week. John has a first class lot of full blooded Cotchin and Plymouth Rock chickens. He says that he will be able to supply the people with all the eggs they want for setting next year as he has some more fine chickens coming.

The fair grounds presented a busy scene Monday morning. The carpenters were busy building stalls for the stock and the different horse men were exercising their racers. The horses from Shaniko, Dewy Miss and Black Bess, look as if they would give the horse that beats them a run for the money. From all indications there is going to be some good races.

Bonney's restaurant will give the ball suppers on the 17 and 28 of this month.

"Cobby" Stroud is busy painting W. R. McFarland's new residence. Cobby is an all around good artist in his line.

T. W. Marshal, the genial traveling man was a business visitor in the city last week.

J. H. Haner, the timber cruiser, was a visitor from the pine woods in the Deschutes country last Friday.

H. B. Read was over from his farm near Sisters last week laying in a supply of seed grain and provisions.

J. B. Ogier arrived from San Jose, California, Sunday and will visit with friends for a time.

There is still quite a lot of wheat coming in from the Culver country and the haulers complain very much at the condition of the roads.

Wallace Post was down from his farm on Crooked river Friday attending to business affairs and greeting old friends.

Hiram Gibson was down from Cold Springs Saturday laying in supplies and attending to various business affairs.

Frank Borsini was down from his ranch near Crook the latter part of last week laying in supplies for the winter.

Judd Palmer has taken an interest in the Deschutes Echo and the paper will be run under the firm name of Palmer Bros.

Earnest Weigand was a visitor over Sunday from his home at Lamonta. He came in to spend Sunday with his wife who is running the photo gallery in the old Maling building.

C. T. Lillard returned Monday from his trip outside with horses and mules. He visited Sacramento, California and Seattle. He disposed of them at fair prices.

B. F. West, of Lava was in the city the first of the week. He reports every thing up that way to be in good condition, but an unusual dry season, and that ducks have not commenced coming in to any extent yet.

A number of Siwash are to be seen on the streets at present. They are here to attend the fair and brought a few of their race horses with them to enter the races. They always believe in letting the best horse win and they get all the run out of him that is possible.

Isaac Foster, the Silver creek stock man, was in the city the fore part of the week attending to business matters and laying in supplies for the winter. Our merchants do a considerable business on Silver creek and could do more if we had a telephone line through there.

The Southern Stock Co. completed their weeks performance here Saturday night and Sunday morning left for Albany where the different members of the troupe will go their various ways having finished their seasons run. Mr. Meade says that he will bring another company here again next summer and the citizens here will be glad to see him, as their show was the best ever produced here.

There is quite an exodus from The Dalles to Agency Plains these days, those who have taken up claims there taking advantage of this beautiful weather to go out and spend the allotted time on them. A number left yesterday and this morning James Harper and Isaac Joles and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Phillips were among those thither bound. It was tempting to see the latter in their big wagon, filled with a splendid camping outfit and all ready to enjoy their ten days outing.—Dalles Chronicle.

Talk about a land office business, they are doing it in the office at The Dalles these days. Yesterday they were besieged with timber applicants and some idea of what was accomplished may be gleaned when Register Lucas himself entered twenty-nine applications and rejected five; fifteen original homestead entries, two homestead proofs, one desert land proof and two cash sales. He certainly had no time to spare with such an amount of work accomplished. Indeed there is no time lost in that office at present.—Dalles Chronicle.

Prineville, - - Oregon.

Portland Club Whiskey, a pure bourbon, well matured. Recommended by leading physicians. For sale everywhere. sp4m6

Cornett & Elkins, the enterprising and up to date blacksmiths have just had some new signs painted on their building and it adds materially to the looks of the building.

H. E. Moore and L. E. Brooks arrived from Dufur with some fine stallions which they will dispose of during the fair. This is one of the many advantages a fair is to the county, it brings the people together and many outside people will come here to dispose of stock and in that way a market will be established, not only where our people can buy, but where they can sell to others.

Four of our local sports were out to Circles place Sunday hunting jack rabbits. Two of the boys coming in first left word that they would hunt along the road to town and the other boys to bring the team on and overtake them. The boys brought the rig on alright, but when they passed the boys on the road they had the team on the run and the boys were fast enough to catch them and took a few shots at the rig as a parting farewell. The boys had the fun of walking and hunting the rest of the way into town, and from their version of the story they enjoyed it. To make things more pleasant they arrived in town too late for supper and had to go to bed hungry, which is very pleasant for a hungry man. They claim they got all the hunting they wanted and had a very enjoyable time.—Moral; Always get the team and stay with it if you don't want to walk 8 or 10 miles to get home.

One on the Editor.

Miss Virginia Deaton owns, edits and publishes the Ione Post, a neat little weekly printed in Eastern Oregon. She writes the copy, sets the type, does the press work, in fact is "it" around the print shop. We know of several good printers who would gladly relieve her of part of the work, and can recommend one in particular, Editor Fogie, of the Prineville Journal. He is rather an aristocratic sort of cuss, but then could be tamed with proper handling.—Albany Herald.

PRINEVILLE'S BUSY STORE.

Our 1902 stock of Oliver Gang, Sulky and Walking Plows is far the most complete we have ever carried. These plows have no equal as a breaking plow and will plow ordinary sage brush without grubbing.

The new Oliver Sulky's have a great improvement over last years in the shape of a hand lever giving the operator full control to regulate the width of cut on turns and curves. The Oliver is one made to do the work and will do the work they are made for. Call and inspect them.

Our stock of repairs is exceptionally complete, not only the iron posts but wood as well.

We can save you time and money and patience.
