

Local Mention

Lynn Nichols was up from Hay creek Saturday.

J. J. Pierson was down from his home on Upper Ochoco Saturday.

Walter Mee was down from Howard Saturday.

A. C. Knighten was down from his ranch Saturday delivering some beef.

H. L. Bayless was in from Bear creek the first of the week.

O. G. Colver, the Culver merchant, was a business visitor in the city last week.

B. C. Low was in from the Deschutes the latter part of last week after a load of supplies.

R. M. Powell was in town a few days last week and reports his sheep in good condition.

Mrs. George Summers is in the city from Prineville, having arrived on No. 1 yesterday.—Dalles Chronicle.

M. F. Hawthorn and wife were down from their home a Lava Friday finishing laying in their winter supplies.

R. O. Carland was in from his ranch in the Haystack country last week looking after business matters.

James Bice, of the B. S. & L. Co., came up from the Hay creek ranch Saturday and spent Sunday in the city.

J. W. Wimer, the cheese manufacturer, was down from his home near Post the latter part of last week on business bent.

More sidewalks and cross walks are being built this winter than there has been for years in this city and there is still room for more.

County Assessor Lafollett is closing up his work for the year and will soon have his books in shape to turn over to his successor.

Randolph Gibson and wife were down from their home in the Camp creek country last week and paid this office a pleasant call.

J. Biear, one of the prominent sheepmen of the Upper Beaver creek country, was transacting business in this city the fore part of the week.

Don Rea, formerly of Shaniko, but now of Portland, was in our city Monday, enroute home from Agency Plains, where he has located a home-stand.

Forest Quimby was down from Lava last week. He says their was some snow up that way and the greatest variety of ducks that he has seen for some time.

Thos. Arnold, now of Sisters, Crook county, is spending a few days in this section. He came over the mountains afoot, but will return home via Portland and The Dalles.—Lebanon Express.

F. M. Smith came down from his ranch on Grindstone some two weeks ago and joined the ranks of the irrigators who went to Portland. He got back from the latter place Sunday and doesn't look any worse for the trip.

C. H. Foster, justice of the peace for Sisters precinct, was over from his ranch on Squaw the latter part of last week and reports everything in fine condition over there. Mr. Foster does not come to town often, but then he always remembers the Journal office.

C. B. Dinwiddie closed a very successful term of school in the Johnson creek district Friday and opened another at the Upper Rye Grass school on Monday. Mr. Dinwiddie is one of Crook county's successful teachers.

Dr. W. W. Taggart, the eye specialist, at the Poindexter Hotel, will attend to your eyes, fit your spectacles, cure your headache and nervous troubles. One charge for one year. Care of children a speciality. Glasses ground in Portland.

C. W. Staar, a nephew of Hon. J. N. Williamson, and who was formerly a resident of The Dalles, came down from Prineville yesterday and will spend about three weeks with his sister, Mrs. H. B. Richards, of Fairfield, and friends here.—Dalles Chronicle.

T. C. Taylor, a special agent of the Department of Justice, Washington, D. C., has been in this county for several days looking up data in connection with the timber land business.

John Laham was up from Palmain the first of the week. He was suffering from a felon on one of his fingers and came in to receive medical treatment for it. He reports things quiet over that way and very little building now being done on account a scarcity of lumber.

High Roller, a young man "handy with the brush," has been doing some window decorative work in Lakeview the past week. A very pretty sign appears on the window of Frank Smith's tonsorial parlor, and an appropriate inscription can be seen on the window of Wendell's meat market.—Lakeview Examiner.

Good reports keep coming in from the Morning Star Camp, where work on the shaft is progressing steadily. The rock is showing up well, and with their new machinery just installed, they are making great headway in their shaft. If perseverance is really the only true road to success, this company deserves a great mine out of their property, for they have worked unceasingly on it since the property came into their hands.—Ashwood Prospector.

Next Sunday, November 30th will take place the regular rabbit shoot for Rye Grass gold medal. All parties desiring to enter the contest will register at J. H. Templeton's drug store. This medal is now held by Dr. C. A. Cline and must be won three times by the same person before it becomes the property of any individual. There are some good shots in this community and there is lots of fun promised before the medal is won for the final time.

County Clerk Smith informs us that the past month has been the banner month in the history of Crook county for the collection of fees, $219.50 being collected. The business of the clerk's office has been steadily increasing and it will soon be imperatively necessary for more help to be added to the clerical force in this office.

C. B. Don came in from the summer range last week where he has been with a bunch of sheep. He summered in the vicinity of Black canyon on the John Day river and reports having discovered a very promising quartz ledge. He brought out several specimens that show up well and we have no doubt but that the ledge will develop into something beyond the average for this section of the state and as the country tributary to where Mr. Don found his ledge, is rich in mineral we predict that he has a good thing when it is developed.

C. H. Dealy was a business visitor in the city Saturday from his Bear creek hills ranch. He is preparing to feed all of his thin sheep and will erect sheds and racks for that purpose. A peculiar feature of a portion of the country lying adjacent to the Bear creek buttes is the fact that wells sunk there will yield an abundant supply of water for a time and then go dry, then by going only a short distance and sinking another one a similar supply of water may be obtained. This has been repeated for several years. The subsoil is gravel and why this phenomenon should exist in such a formation is more than can be accounted for by the ordinary individual.

J. N. Hammond was over from Cline falls the latter part of last week looking after business matters and reports having in an amount of grain and alfalfa ready for spring. There was some grain raised on the property this year and the result of the irrigation of a portion of the desert by water power at that point will be watched with interest by many people, for there is an abundance of power along the Deschutes that can be utilized in this way if it is shown that there is any profit in so doing.

It will be remembered that a week or so ago the report gained credence and was published in The Chronicle, (information having been obtained from his friends) that John Frates had had the misfortune to lose his sheep by drowning in California. A letter received by French's bank from him this morning, informed them that the report was erroneous and instead of having lost his flocks, they are in fine condition about twelve miles from Stockton, he and Mrs. Frates making their headquarters in the city, where they will remain during the winter.—Dalles Chronicle.

J. E. McGarrey, one of the proprietors of the Lake County Examiner, died November 18th, from the effects of poison administered by Fred Magilton, a morphine fiend. The poison was given hypodermically to cause sleep, without murderous intent. Mr. McGarrey was one of the ablest newspaper writers in that part of the state.

K. D. Huston was over from Ashwood the first of the week and reports everything booming over there. The King mine started up Monday and in consequence everybody is happy. While in the city Dean did not forget the Journal and called to take a look at the new press and incidentally to add his name to the list for another year.

Green Hampton, one of the pioneer settlers of the norther part of Lake county, was in the city the first of the week enroute to his old home in Lane county. Mr. Hampton was a boyhood friend and schoolmate of Judge Booth, and this will be his first visit to the old home in forty years. He went overland with a team to The Dalles, where he will take the boat for Portland and then proceed by team on up the valley.

An incipient blaze at the residence of W. F. King Friday evening caused considerable excitement for a time, but it was put out without the use of the fire apparatus. The fire was caused by a small coal lodging in a crack near the comb of the roof and falling down into where the shingles were dry. A breeze was blowing and fanned the coal until it started a blaze and there would have been a lively little fire had not Mr. King took prompt measures to extinguish it.

Mr. C. Montgomery, was over from his home on Willow creek the first of week and reports no damage done so far by the freeze. Flowers have been left out of doors and are still blooming and there are plenty of leaves on the fruit trees yet. Willow creek has always been held as the frostiest part of this county, in the settled portion, but this certainly does not look that way. Mr. Montgomery is one of the most enthusiastic believers in the future greatness of this county.

Rev. H. C. Clark will preach at Culver, Nov. 30th, at 11 A. M.

The Journal is informed that the entertainment planned for the Lamonta school house on December 2, has been indefinitely postponed.

G. Springer, proprietor of the Haystack Stock ranch, was a business visitor from Culver Monday.

Frank Bogue and wife were visitors from the Upper Deschutes the fore part of the week.

Portland Club Whiskey, a pure bourbon, well matured. Recommended by leading physicians. For sale everywhere. sp4m6

Mr. G. E. Bolter of Cross Keys was in town last Saturday, visiting his daughter, Mrs. Sanford Shultz.—Antelope Herald.

W. C. Conleton was down from his stock ranch in Paulina valley, the fore part of the week and reports everything in good shape up that way.

On Monday morning Dick Vandervert again became a papa. It is a girl and weighs eight pounds. Dick is about the happiest man in town.

Dr. Belknap is adding some material improvements to his office. He is having it repapered and will be more comfortable in his new quarters than heretofore.

Lowe Allingham has moved up from the Deschutes for the winter in order to take advantage of our school system for his children.

Ed Nelson was down from Post the fore part of the week and paid this office a pleasant call. He reports cattle in that vicinity thinner than usual at this time of year.

C. A. Gilchrist and wife passed through here Tuesday enroute to Indianapolis, where they will spend the winter. Mr. Gilchrist reports his stock in good shape for the winter.

Mr. J. G. Edwards was in town last Saturday, on his way home from the McGreer Timber Culture. We are informed that he bought from Mr. McGreer, a band of yearling ewes.—Antelope Herald.

All persons knowing themselves indebted to Smith & Clerk will please call and settle. This means you. Smith & Clerk.

J. L. Windom was a business visitor in the city the fore part of the week on his way home from Bend where Mrs. Windom made final proof on her timber claim. Jess said that there had been to a of farming going on in his neighborhood before the freeze.

Birthday Party.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Combs was a scene of merriment on Saturday afternoon Nov. 15 it being their daughter Willa's thirteenth birthday. The many school friends each did their part to make the afternoon a pleasant one, and Miss Willa proved to be an ideal entertainer. Games of different kinds were entered into with enthusiasm by all, until they were summoned to lunch, which had been daintily prepared by Mrs. Combs. Miss Willa was the recipient of many presents and the good time will long be remembered by Willa and her friends.

Those present were, Willa Combs, Birdie and Stanley Morris, Lorene Winnek, Verna Howard, Nellie and Louise Summers, Verna and Beulah Cline, Rosa McDaniel, Celia Nelms, Beulah Crooks, Nona McGowan, Lee Rowell and Roy Canning.

JOHNSON—NULL—At the residence of the brides parents near Sisters, C. L. Johnson and Miss Jennie S. Null were united in wedlock by C. H. Foster, J. P. on November 16.

FULLER—HEREFORD—At the residence of H. A. Belknap, in this city on November 6th, Jas. E. Fuller and Mrs. Rena Hereford were united in marriage by Judge Booth.

The Journal unites with the many friends of the contracting parties in wishing them a long and prosperous journey through life.

NICHOLS—GRIMES—At the home of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grimes, near Rye Grass, on November 23d, at 6 p. m. Miss Florence Grimes to Mr. Lyn Nichols, of Hay Creek. Rev. H. C. Clark, officiating.

A number of relatives and friends were present. After the ceremony and congratulations, Mr. and Mrs. Nichols, with their friends sat down to a table loaded with good things to eat, the product of culinary art. If this is any indication of the provision Lyn has made for his bride in her new home, I think it would be a good place to board.

Mr. and Mrs. Nichols departed Monday for their new home near Hay creek. May a long and happy life be their lot.

A FRIEND.

Elkins & King

PRINEVILLE'S BUSY STORE.

Our 1902 stock of Oliver Gang, Sulky and Walking Plows is far the most complete we have ever carried. These plows have no equal as a breaking plow and will plow ordinary sage brush without grubbing.

The new Oliver Sulky's have a great improvement over last years in the shape of a hand lever giving the operator full control to regulate the width of cut on turns and curves. The Oliver is one made to do the work and will do the work they are made for. Call and inspect them.

Our stock of repairs is exceptionally complete, not only the iron posts but wood as well.

We can save you time and money and patience.
