J. A. Fegoles, of Burns, was a visitor in the city the latter part of last week.

W. L. Harris was down from Post the fore part of the week attending to business matters.

B. F. Jones was up from his farm Saturday morning with a large hay-rack on his wagon.

F. F. and T. E. Townsend, of Shaw, were business visitors in the city the fore part of the week.

G. E. Sjolund was down from the Deschutes the latter part of last week looking after timber matters.

C. M. Lister and family were down from their home on Mill creek Thanksgiving and took in the Circle ball.

Ed Kutcher was up from his farm in the Agency plains country last week taking in the Thanksgiving festivities.

H. L. Ellerts was a business visitor from Spokane the fore part of the week looking after timber land matters.

Lee Wigle was down from Upper Crooked river the latter part of last week to attend the stockgrowers' meeting.

C. F. Smith and wife were in from Lamonta last week enjoying Thanksgiving festivities with relatives and friends.

B. F. Parsons, the erstwhile sewing-machine man of Albany, is now in the city looking after eye business. He is now located at Crawfordsville.

Andrew Morrow was over from the Grizzley sheep ranch Saturday making his regular trip on business matters.

Henry Stroud and family have moved to the farm and have rented their house to Rev. E. A. Childs, who has moved into it.

George Onal, the Paulina stockman, was down from his ranch the latter part of last week after some fine bucks, which he took back with him.

Ed Parker was down from the stock farm of Wigle & Parker the latter part of last week attending to business matters. He reports having had a pleasant trip to the Valley this fall.

C. W. Colby was in from his Crooked river ranch Saturday attending the meeting of the stockmen for the purpose of finding out about range in the reserve.

Subjects at the Union church Sunday will be as follows: Morning, "Looking at the Unseen." Evening, Address to young people.

E. A. Childs, pastor.

Miss Kate Brogan, who attended the business college in Portland and has since been a teacher in St. Mary's Academy there, returned home yesterday and will leave tomorrow to accept a position as assistant stenographer for the Wasco Warehouse Co. at Shaniko.—Dalles Chronicle.

Rev. Childs informed the Journal reporter that he was getting settled in his new quarters and through the kindness of friends who had donated the use of household necessities himself and family are able to go to house keeping in advance of the arrival of their furniture and other goods from the railroad.

The Social Club has secured the Odd Fellows Hall and will hereafter hold its meetings there. A ritual is being prepared as well as the secret work and there will be several initiations at the next meeting. This is a secret society and is composed principally of the pupils of the High school and those of the higher grades in the public school.

Our correspondence from Ashwood and McKay were crowded out for want of space this week and will appear in our next issue.

Miss Nellie McDaniel returned Tuesday from a protracted visit to relatives in Shaniko. She is glad to get back.

Uncle Dan Powell left Wednesday morning for California to spend the winter. We hope he will have a safe journey and pass a happy winter.

On Christmas Eve the Knights of Pythias assisted by the Rathbone Sisters will give a grand ball. Arrangements are being made and a program will appear in the next issue.

Fred Powell was down from Paulina during the fore part of the week looking after work on his new dwelling which will soon be ready for occupancy.

The old court house building that has seen so many of the vicissitudes of the early life of this county, is to be transformed into a livery and feed stable in the near future.

Park Doak opened up his butcher shop last week and reports a fair share of business. See his ad in another column. He has one of the tastiest shops in eastern Oregon.

A light mantle of the beautiful white snow was thrown over the hills and valleys in this neck of the woods Tuesday night, but was not sufficient to cover the ground and all went away in a short time, but from present appearances we may expect a snow of greater magnitude at any time.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Smith entertained a few friends at their home Tuesday evening. Social converse was indulged in and interspersed therewith by a few games of "High Five" until a late hour, when refreshments were served. A very pleasant evening was spent and all pronounced Mr. and Mrs. Smith capital entertainers.

The Thanksgiving ball given by Juniper Circle W. of W. was one of the events of the season and was a success financially as well as socially. The only fault to find with the whole affair was that there was too large a crowd for the hall. Everything was well conducted by the ladies and they deserve great praise for the good order preserved during the evening. If there was any one who did not get all the dancing wanted it was their fault.

Henry Gray was down from his ranch on Crooked river Saturday, to attend the stockgrowers' meeting and reports having sold his yearling heifers to S. S. Stearns for $50 per head, which is a good stiff price for yearling and speaks well for a little judicious breeding. Mr. Gray takes more than a passing interest in such matters and is ever in the front of every movement for the building up of the stock industry of this county.

W. F. Hammer, ex-county clerk of Linn county, was in the city the fore part of the week and paid this office a friendly call. Mr. Hammer has large real estate interests in the Haystack country and has moved to this county for the winter and may reside here permanently. We are always glad to extend the hand of welcome to such citizens as Mr. Hammer, for he is an enthusiastic worker where ever he is and no doubt but Crook county will feel the effects of his efforts for advancement of its interests.

Tomorrow Messrs. John Gavin and J. S. Landers will leave for Crook county to locate timber land in the Bend country. Both have been attacked by the timber fever, and will not be cured until a genuine Crook county chinook has blown through their whiskers.—Dalles Mountaineer. As the gentlemen have come and gone we presume they got cured of the fever, but as there has been no chinook we doubt if their whiskers were wafted away while in the timber.

A Good Idea.

An item in the Chronicle of yesterday would indicate that it has been besieged by "reformers" as this paper has been the past two or three weeks—people who want the papers to pounce upon and trample into dust, everybody who don't think and act as they do. The Chronicle offers them good advice in telling them to write up their charges against evil doers and publish their articles over their own signature.—Dalles Mountaineer.

All persons knowing themselves indebted to Smith & Cleek will please call and settle. This means you. Smith & Cleek.

Notice To Wood Contractors.

Proposals are invited for furnishing at U. S. postoffice, Prineville, Oregon, thirty, (30) cords green juniper wood and ten, (10) cords dry juniper wood, bids to be mailed sealed not later than 1 p. m. January 3rd, 1903.

GEORGE SUMMERS, Postmaster.

Irrigationists to Meet.

There will be a meeting of the Crook County Irrigation Association on Saturday, December 6, at 2 o'clock p. m. Business of the utmost importance requiring immediate attention will come before the meeting and a full attendance expected.

Artisan Election.

Monday night was the regular semi-annual election of the United Artisans and a merry time was had. The election resulted as follows: Master Artisan, Amanda Elkins; Superintendent, Mary L. Smith; Inspector, Fannie Stearns; Secretary, A. O. Mogier; treasurer, Jennie King; conductor, Mrs. A. C. Knighten, master of ceremonies, Maggie Price; junior conductor, Lora Cleek; physician, H. P. Belknap. These officers will be installed the first Monday in January when the outgoing officers will treat the incoming ones to ice cream in order that they may be better fitted to fill their respective stations.

Cattlemen Organize.

On Saturday afternoon a representative lot of cattle men met at the court house after the adjournment of the Stockgrowers' meeting and proceeded to form a permanent organization as per adjournment two months ago. The meeting was called to order by the temporary president, J. H. Gray and after some preliminary talks, the report of the committee on constitution and by laws was read and adopted with a few amendments. The association then proceeded to elect permanent officers and transact such other business as was deemed necessary. The next meeting will be in February when the annual election will be held. The officers of the permanent organization are: M. R. Riggs, pres.; A. Thompson, vice pres.; J. H. Gray, secretary and C. Sam Smith, treas. On motion it was ordered that the executive committee formulate a program of entertainment for the annual meeting.

After getting things under good headway a committee was sent to wait upon Mr. Langille and ask him to address the meeting on matters pertaining to the grazing of cattle in the Cascade reserve and as to the probable action of the government in the matter of the Blue Mountain reserve. Mr. Langille stated that the methods employed by the cattle men in the vicinity of Dufur who herd their cattle on the open hills until the grass is well grown in the mountains and they do not allow their cattle to congregate around the springs where they will stamp out all the grass and gradually cause the springs to go dry as has been done in many places in Colorado. He also recommended the sowing of grass in the barren spots and on the low hills and said that by corresponding with the Division of Agronomy, Department of Agriculture, Washington D. C., that all the necessary information about such grasses and the method of their propagation, could be had.

A resolution was offered by A. R. Lyle for presentation to the legislature for the repeal of the scalp bounty law, which was referred to the committee on legislation.

A rising vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Langille for his talk and explanations. It was ordered that the executive committee be instructed to make a map of those portions of Crook county that the association wished incorporated in the Blue Mountain reserve in addition to such as has already been withdrawn from sale. The meeting was an enthusiastic one and will be the means of fostering the cattle industry in this county more than any other one thing.

Double Wedding.

SIMPSON—CROOKS—CLIFTON —CROOKS:—At the home of the brides parents in this city Thanksgiving night, Robert E. Simpson and Miss Effa L. Crooks, and Granville N. Clifton and Miss Minnie Crooks were united in marriage by Rev. E. A. Childs.

The young ladies are the accomplished daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Crooks and too well known to need any eulogy from us, while the grooms are well known business men in this city. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the family and a few intimate friends and was a very quiet affair. Mr. and Mrs. Simpson have gone to Portland for a brief visit and will take up their residence in the city on their return. Mr. and Mrs. Clifton have gone to house-keeping at the residence of Wm. Wigle. The Journal unites with the many friends of the contracting parties in wishing them a long and prosperous voyage o'er life's tempestuous sea and when they have crossed to the farther side may they find a safe and pleasant harbor wherein to cast their anchor forever and a day.

PRINEVILLE'S BUSY STORE.

Our 1902 stock of Oliver Gang, Sulky and Walking Plows is far the most complete we have ever carried. These plows have no equal as a breaking plow and will plow ordinary sage brush without grubbing.

The new Oliver Sulky's have a great improvement over last years in the shape of a hand lever giving the operator full control to regulate the width of cut on turns and curves. The Oliver is one made to do the work and will do the work they are made for. Call and inspect them.

Our stock of repairs is exceptionally complete, not only the iron posts but wood as well.

We can save you time and money and patience.
