

Prineville Public School Notes

CHIEF EDITORS.—Clyde Bower, Charlie O. Christians.

ASSISTANTS.—Iva Booth, Fay Hodges, Henry Smith, Roy Canand, Bertha Ekins, Nellie Day, Cecelia Nelson and Ruth Taylor.

Wilford Belknap has been sick for several days past.

Roy Walker, was on the sick list the fore part of last week.

Stanley Morris was on the sick list the first of last week.

Loid Yancey, has returned to school after several weeks absence.

Louie Commini, of the IV grade has dropped out of school.

Henry Smith, was absent from school last Monday forenoon.

Mary Commini, has entered the V grade.

Charlie Kotzman and Kate Chambers, of the IV grade were absent last Monday.

Reviews are being hurriedly made, in order to prepare for tests at the last of the week.

Bert Barnes, after several days sickness, is seen on the school grounds again.

Miss Daisy McCallister, was the guest of Ruth Taylor a few days last week.

We have been informed that Miss Ada Taylor will not continue her duties as a teacher in the Prineville Public School.

Roy Foster, is spending several weeks on the farm. We expect to see a well matured farmer when he returns to school again.

From recent observation it is evident that Roy Gray is experimenting with an engagement ring. We hope you will be successful Roy.

"Silas Marmor," the little book that the IX grade are to read, has arrived. They are neat little books similar to "Burk's Speech," which we have just finished reading.

Lizzie Ketchum had charge of the IV and V grade pupils Monday. She filled the vacancy caused by the resignation of the former teacher. The school board is trying to secure a teacher for these two grades.

Professor Orton gathered the pupils of the different rooms together Monday morning to spend a short time in singing and to tell them how rapidly the time was flying, and that over half of the school year had expired.

Frank Taylor spent last week over on Haystack. It seems like Frank spends a large portion of his time over that way. We are not able to find out whether it is farm matters or some other attraction that draws his attention over there.

After a vacation of a week, which was necessary on the account of the scarlet fever, school commenced again on Monday. This break in the school has caused a great deal of disturbance in the different rooms, and we hope that it will not be necessary any more during the year.

Some of the pupils have had the pleasure of being introduced to the young professor. He brought an overflow of happiness to his home and Mr. Orton wears a broader smile now than ever. The young fellow is rosy and strong, but it will no doubt be some time before he will be able to yield the rawhide with much severity.

A STORY.—One night a young lady had a new beau. He was so dainty and nice that she felt compelled to caution her little brother with talking so unseemly. The little fellow kept teasing the young man for stories all the time. Of course he complied with the little chap's request. But as soon as one was ended he would set up his plea of "please tell me another tale." The young lady said: "My dear, you should not say tale, you should say anecdote." Well, before bedtime it began to rain. The little boy went to put his pet calf in the shed out of the rain. In a moment he came running in, his breath nearly gone, his eyes nearly bulging out of his head. "Oh, mister, mister!" he yelled, "Come out here, quick, my calf has chewed your horse's anecdote off!"

A WEDDING NEAR.—A certain lady on the north side of Ochoco, has been making a wedding dress for one of her daughters, who has been going to school, but has now dropped out. It seems queer what that feeling of "love" has upon a person. It is like a mighty magnet unto a few grains of steel. We dare not mention the names of the contracting parties, but will be glad to print their names in golden letters when the final words have been spoken, which will make them one.

In a suburb of Philadelphia lives an old German couple named Skimmekopf. The husband, Fritz, has two dogs, of which he is very fond. One is a pup, while the other is quite old; but as sometimes occurs with dogs of different breeds the old dog is much smaller than the six-months-old puppy.

"There was somedings funny apoud dem dogs already," said Fritz, who was showing them to a friend the other day. "Dot leetlest dog vas the piggest." Mrs. Skimmekopf, realizing that her husband had not made the point clear, thought she had better come to his assistance. "You must excuse mine husband, she said. "De English language he knows not good. Vot he means is dat the youngest dog vas de oldest."

Mother Earth now wears a wire about her waist. The British trans-Pacific cable has been completed and on November 1, 1902, the first round-the-world telegram was transmitted. A press dispatch tells the story:

Charles J. Glidden, of Boston, sent the first cable message around the world by the new circuit. The circuit is the first of the kind to be completed, and the British cable from Vancouver to Australia formed the connecting link.

Mr. Glidden started his dispatch on Saturday, November 1, at 9:15 A. M., addressed to himself. It read:

"Boston, Nov. 1.—Glidden, Boston, Mass., via Vancouver, British cable to Australia, around the world."

This went as an ordinary telegram, taking its place with the regular business of the telegraphic and cable companies by which it had to be handled; and it was received in Boston, by the Western Union Telegraphic Company at 12:35 A. M. on Sunday, thirty-nine hours and twenty minutes after the message left Boston.

A few errors occurred in transmission, the message arriving after its long journey as follows: "Southport, (Australia), Nov. 2, Glidden, Boston, Mass., around the world."

Work Diligently.

With the opening of school on next Monday we will have passed five months of the present school year, and there will remain but four months. It seems difficult for the pupils to realize the fact that, while more than one half of the term has expired, the work is not yet one half complete in many respects, and it will require extra work on the part of the teachers and pupils alike. All pupils must pass the final examination before going on with their class. This is particularly true of the VIII grade class. This class consists of some twenty pupils, bright and diligent, who could handle IX grade work, but to become high school pupils they must pass the VIII grade final examination, the hardest test in the public school. Diligent work is required.
