County Clerk Smith has recently added a fine Fisher book typewriter to his office equipment which is especially adapted to the work for which it was purchased. It is an up-to-date machine similar to those to be found in most county clerk's offices, and can accommodate a book of any size. It is much more rapid than with a pen, and also saves space in the records, as one book typewritten, will contain about three times the number of records written by hand.

Through some motive, no one knows what, some find incarnate last week distributed poisoned meat promiscuously over the western part of the town, and as a result a number of valuable dogs have been lost. A person with even a spark of feeling for dumb animals is put to guessing what manner of person this is, that could do such a deed, and what their motive could be. It is said that poison has been put out in our town in this way a number of times. Is it not about time that some steps were being taken to apprehend and severely punish the guilty party.

The Prineville Social Club is progressing nicely. Their present officers are: President, W. T. Fogle; Vice President, Henry Smith; Secretary, J. Newsome; Treasurer, Nellie Day; Sergeant at Arms, Ralph Poindexter. New members are being added every meeting, their present membership being about 50. The principles of the society are praiseworthy, and efforts are being made to get the society on a footing, whereby they can carry them out, and work to the advancement of the mental and social faculties of the young folks.

Among the new machinery added by the Journal last fall, there was an article, which has been named by some mechanical crank, a gasoline engine, but we would call the confused thing an "internal machine." We have to depend upon it for power for our Pot or press, and in consequence of its many pranks we are getting premature gray hair. Won't some of our subscribers give us a bid on it? If any of them can find any use for it, we can strike a trade pretty easy. It will run anything from a coffee mill to an ice cream freezer, but when it comes to a newspaper press it balks.

The Cattleman's Meeting.

The Cattleman's Association held its annual meeting today (Wednesday) at the Court House. The morning session was devoted solely to business relating to the association, while the program planned will be at the same place this afternoon and evening. Owing to the date coming at a time when all are busy feeding, many of the members were unable to attend. However, the date will be changed to a more convenient time of the year and every effort made to make the association an organization that will compare favorably with any on the coast and one from which the members will derive great benefit. Owing to the fact that the meeting comes on the Journal's press day, we are unable to give a full account of the proceedings. They will appear in full in next issue, however as well as the speech of Hon. C. J. Mellis, O. R. & N. Livestock agent, who through illness was unable to attend.

The miners in Josephine county are protesting most of the timber claims filed in that district on the ground that land grabbers filed on them for the ledges and placer fields and say there is not enough timber on them to fence the claims.
