THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1903.

Jonathan Bourne, Jr., the man whose strength was very apparent as a candidate for the United States senate from Oregon, was born February 23, 1856, at New Bedford, Mass. He came to Oregon in May 1878, and has made his home in Portland since that time. Mr. Bourne graduated from Harvard in the class of 1877 with the degree of Bachelor of Arts and was admitted to the bar of Oregon in 1881. He is regarded as one of the best educated men in the state. He engaged in the active practice of law but a few years when he turned his attention to mining in Oregon. He has spent more money in Oregon mines both in Southern Oregon and Eastern Oregon than any other man residing in the state. His enterprises and investments have not all been successful and in 1893 Mr. Bourne lost almost his entire fortune consisting of about $3,000,000 left him by his father who was one of the wealthiest men of Massachusetts. Since his misfortunes Mr. Bourne has been more successful in his mining affairs and is in a good way toward regaining part of his lost wealth. He owns the E & E mine near Sumpter which is considered worth half a million dollars besides other mining properties in eastern and southern Oregon. His home is now in Portland. He was married in 1893 to Miss Lillian E. Wyatt who is a sister to the well known lawyer, John R. Wyatt of Albany.

We are reliably informed by several parties that Editor Holder, of The Review had taken the trouble to write the American Type Foundry, with whom both The Review and The Journal do business, as the Journal's business standing. It seems that his information has been of such a character that his dwarfed conception saw fit to circulate the report that Mr. W. T. Fogle was still a partner in The Journal. That there had been no sale, but that he had withdrawn his name from business effect. This is an injustice to both The Journal and Mr. Fogle inasmuch as the sale was bona fide. Had Editor Holder come to The Journal like a man we would gladly have referred him to our accounts which are open to the public. Better still, he could have consulted the County Clerk's records. In either case he would have found the sale to have been a bona fide one.

We make mention of this in a spirit of defense and not through malice.

The election of U. S. Senator from Oregon was accomplished on the 42nd and last ballot, and had a logical termination. The Journal believes Fulton, the successful candidate, was the choice of a majority of the voters of the state of Oregon and the legislators who stood by him through thick and thin are to be commended. With Mitchell and Fulton in the Senate and Williamson and another able man as Tongue's successor, say Binger Herman, Oregon will have a delegation in our national body of which any state might well feel proud.

A Challenge.

Prineville, Ore., Feb. 21st, 1903.
Mr. Editor:
In studying the plan of salvation as expounded by the first disciples and early church fathers, I find that they made much of water baptism as taught by our Lord and his Apostles, [i.e.] "He that believeth and is baptized, shall be saved," etc., Mark 16:16 and Acts 2:38. "Then Peter said unto them, 'Repent ye and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ unto [or] for] the remission of your sins; and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost.'"

I find that from these passages and others the doctrine was taught that water baptism was a part of the plan of salvation as was faith and repentance; and being put upon the same sentences and a part of the same phrases, it was counted an essential.

I also find that for nearly three hundred years there was no other mode than immersion sanctioned, and that not until the Council of Bayenna 1311, A. D., did the Roman Catholic Church declare it to be indifferent whether affusion or immersion was practised, and even now there is one or more cathedrals where immersion is taught and practiced by the Catholic Church. I also find that the Episcopal Church returned to the ancient practice when they split off from the Catholics, and they continued this practice for about one hundred years. This was also true of the Presbyterian and Congregational Churches; and Martin Luther tried to do the same. John Wesley, and many others who have been leaders in religious thought, believed in and taught immersion and practiced the same.

Now forasmuch as this with other things, taught plainly by the word of God, and has been laid aside by many professing ministers of the gospel in their attempt to build denominational and sectarian churches, and because of this the people, who are led by them, are kept from a knowledge and participation in what many of us consider essential truth: I propose that a limited space in your valuable columns be opened to us for a calm discussion of this subject. By this method all can hear and the discussion will be devoid of heated words and atmospheric disturbances. I for one want to know and do the truth as it was practiced and taught by our Lord and his apostles. None can lose sight but error by such a discussion, and we all want to get rid of that, I am sure. By the present segregation of denominational walls there is little chance of an exchange of views, and hence many are kept in enforced ignorance on subjects that by this method may be laid open to the unbiased judgment of all in this community. I hereby challenge proof to the contrary of the above affirmations.

E. A. CHILD.

To Reclaim the Oregon Deserts.

A measure that is intended to cause the desert to blossom as a garden and to bring forth fruit has passed the Senate and is now before the House for action. Those who were interested in it most declare it to be the greatest step forward that has ever been taken in the colonization and cultivation of the State of Oregon. This is Pierce's Senate Bill No. 181, regulating irrigation and conferring upon irrigation corporations and districts the right of eminent domain in order that none may stop them in their labor of upbuilding the State.

While the law it is proposed to enact does not in any way rob others of their right to water from all streams that flow within reasonable distance of the land they wish to irrigate, it does provide for the transportation of that water by means of ditches, pipes or flumes across the property of others. This will prevent the stubbornness of others, or the rivalry of opposition companies or districts retarding developments.

In some ways the Pierce law re-enacts that now on the statute books, but it goes further, although in reality only intended to make the present law operative. The irrigation law now in force was copied from those of Idaho, California, Utah and several other states and was found to be wanting in several respects when applied to Oregon. All those resident in the arid sections of the State have petitioned for legislation along this line and Senator Pierce has drafted a bill which is aimed to supply all needs. After having been drafted this measure was submitted to those most concerned and not until it had been approved by them was it placed before the Legislature.

It provides for elections in irrigation districts and for officers, oaths of office, etc. The treasurer must furnish a bond in a sum twice as large as that he is considered likely to have in his keeping during his term of office. Senator Pierce is being highly praised for his work along this line.

A New Cabinet Officer.

President Roosevelt last Saturday signed the bill providing for a department of commerce, thus concluding its enactment into law. That morning in accordance with the usual form, it was sent to the department of justice for examination by the attorney general. It was returned to the president late that afternoon with Attorney General Knox's recommendation that it be signed. Soon after President Roosevelt affixed his signature in the presence of Secretary Root and Secretary Cortelyou. The signing of the measure creating what promises to be one of the most important departments of the government, was attended by no ceremony.

A Directory for Prineville.

Mr. Child is collecting facts and figures for a Directory for this city which he will issue soon. He expects to put into it a historical sketch of the earliest beginnings of this county and also colate other facts of interest to all. It is now the purpose to put a copy of this publication into every one's hands free of charge. A part of the city and a so cuts of certain of the finest residents and photos of the prominent business men will be inserted if they can be had without too much cost. The business men will be asked to place their card or ad in the work to help pay the cost of the printing. Mr. Child is doing the work for the sake of obtaining a thorough knowledge of the city and gaining systematic access to the homes in his pastoral capacity.

Willow Creek Items.

Mud, mud, all is mud.
The snow is all gone except the drifts.

Mr. J. W. Hale left Friday for Trout creek.

Messrs John Newbill and Joe Montgomery attended the dance at Haystack last Friday night.

Mr. Nat Newbill has been improving his homestead located on the west side of Grizzly Butte.

Mr. C. Newbill has been hauling hay this week from Mr. George Fogle's. Mr. Fogle seems to be the lucky man as he has hay to sell.

Our school building has now a different appearance, the result of Sailor Jack, the carpenter's, Saturday's work. New windows have been put in the place of the old ones making quite a change for good. It is said, "I you get a good thing in progress keep it going." There is said to be also some rumor that the school house is to be repainted in the near future.

Roy Chitwood has left school and is now working for Mr. Wheeler.

Several of the pupils were absent at different times last week.

Last Friday afternoon was principally spent in a spelling contest, in which Ray Joslin of the V grade took first place and Fay Chitwood second. The lesson was taken from the V grade work.

Visitors for the week were Messrs Henry and Joe Montgomery and Wm. Roberts.

WILLOW CREEK SCHOOL.

Howard Items.

Sunday night a very wet snow storm prevailed with one inch of snow on Monday morning. Roads are very muddy.

Horse gatherings here have ceased for the present as the range is so muddy and slick, riding can only be done with very poor success.

Last week Mr. Hogg and family moved up to their ranch on Upper Ochoco.

Mike Mulvihill had one of his legs sprained by his horse falling on him. He is at present housed a John Hogg's but doubtless will be able to be around in a few days.

James Hawkins has added quite an artistic extension to his house in the shape of a 10x26 bed room.

Hawkins Bros. (the Duncan creek lumbermen) intend to build a new furnace for their engine. John Lowden is at present hauling brick from Prineville for that purpose.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dyer have moved into the Upper Ochoco neighborhood.

Clyde Wright intends to start about March the first for Dawson City.

Alfred Hogg is breaking horses for Clyde Hon.

Clyde Hon now has most of his horses in his pasture. For saddle or driving horses they are hard to beat, and Clyde is offering them for sale at reasonable prices.

PROF. BILL BANKS.
