Land Withdrawn in Lake County For a Forest Reserve. Government May Yet Develop Deschutes Irrigation.

Forest Reserves in Lake County.

The Interior Department has decided upon another forest reserve for Oregon, this time in Southern Lake County, in the Warner Mountain country. By direction of Secretary Hitchcock, the vacant public lands in a tract of over 900,000 acres in Lake county, and 44 townships adjoining, in Northern California, have been temporarily withdrawn from all entry, with a view to their examination to determine the advisability of creating a forest reserve about the town of Lakeview. The Oregon lands withdrawn are: Townships 34 to 43 inclusive, ranges 16, 17 and 18; townships 37, 38 and 41, range 19; townships 36 and 37, range 20; townships 36 to 41 inclusive, ranges 21 and 22, all south and east. The township in which Lakeview is located, and the townships immediately north, south and west, are not included in the withdrawal.

A forest reserve in the Warner Mountain region is recommended by the Geological Survey, not only for the preservation of the timber, but the conservation of the water supply. Goose Lake lies in the center of the withdrawal, and a number of streams which supply it with water, have their headwaters within that region. Moreover the headwaters of Sprague River, Drews Creek, Warner Creek and a number of other streams would all be protected by a forest reserve in this region.

In view of the development of irrigation enterprises in Lake County and in Northern California, the creation of this forest reserve is considered most essential. The lands withdrawn are to be examined this summer, and such tracts as are found unsuitable for reservation will ultimately be restored to entry. The remainder, beyond a question of doubt, will be permanently reserved.

The creation of this reserve was recommended by the Geological Survey, and a number of forestry officials three years ago, but the recommendations were ignored by Blinger Hermann, then Land Commissioner, and the case was smothered. It has just been revived by Commissioner Richardson, who recommended the withdrawal.—Oregonian.

Central Oregon Surveys.

The geological survey has completed the details of surveying that is to be done in Oregon and Washington the coming summer, and is about ready to announce the official programme. It has been decided that one topographic party will be engaged in Oregon during the coming summer, in mapping the country lying east, north and south of Union, including a portion of the Wallawa Valley. This party, consisting of eight or ten men, will be in charge of C. W. Sutton, and will commence active work about the middle of May, outfitting at Union. They will gather data upon which to draw the topographic map of the Union quadrangle, as the area will be known. Something over 800 square miles will be covered by the surveying party, a portion of it extending into the proposed Wallawa forest reserve, which has never been completely surveyed by the General Land Office. Some of the data collected by this party will be considered by the secretary of the Interior in final fixing the boundaries of this forest reserve.

A party of surveyors under C. F. Urquhart will enter the field immediately south of Canyon City, and work southward as far as Burns, traversing a considerable portion of the Blue Mountain forest reserve. Most of this country has been heretofore surveyed by the Interior Department, but never before by the Geological Survey. The work in this region will be purely triangulation forming the basis for more complete topographic surveys next year. After crossing the mountain and reaching Burns, the party will turn westward working towards Prineville, and if sufficient time remains triangulations will be extended southward towards the headwaters of the Deschutes river. The desirability of this region for irrigation purposes has attracted the attention of the Geological Survey, and notwithstanding that private interests have gone in ahead, the Government has not taken its eye from the Deschutes Valley as a possible site for a future National irrigation system. All these surveys will prove valuable alike to the Government and to private irrigators.

Shortage in Wool Crop.

It is estimated that the output of wool for Utah this season will not be less than 3,000,000 pounds short of the usual amount. The entire crop, it is believed, will not run over 9,000,000 pounds, and of this 6,000,000 pounds have already been shipped. On account of this shortage the market is higher than last year, but this increase is in no proportion to the falling off in the wool. The average market price is now about 134 cents as against 12 cents last year. The wool raisers have lost heavily in their flocks, the wool is 25 to 30 per cent light and the buyers claim they are paying more than they can get for the wool in the eastern market. As they express it, this is an off year for the wool business, and if the buyers make any money it will be because they held their purchases until there is a better market. The sheepmen are, of course, making a little on better prices, but this does not repay them for the losses they have had in sheep during the last winter.

"FINGERS" TALK.

A Study in Arithmetic—Why You Should Buy Your Pianos at the Eilers' Piano House.

Why not use the same business judgment in the purchase of a piano that you employ in buying an ordinary article.

There should be no mystery about piano buying or piano selling.

The retailing price of a piano consists of its cost to build plus the cost of selling it to the retail dealer.

By cost of selling it is meant the expense of maintaining a store, freight, drayage, advertising, salaries and commissions to salesmen, teachers, etc.

This being the case, it is evident that one store may be in a position to name lower retail price on the same instruments than can others. A little dealer, who sells but four or five pianos a month, cannot reduce the cost of selling much below $125 to $150 on each piano. Nor can he buy his pianos at a close price from the makers.

The average large dealer does not sell to exceed 25 or 30 pianos a month. And if his total expense each month is, say $3000, then it follows that his average cost of selling a single piano, is also from $100 to $120.

Now comes the New Method Store. Instead of selling a limited number at the old time high prices, Eilers Piano House is organized to sell 150, yes, 200 pianos each month. That means a selling cost from $15 to $20 a piano. A direct saving to the retail buyer of a clean $100 to $120 on this item alone.

There are dozens of other advantages possessed by the Eilers Piano House. Please call or write and let us tell you about them.

Bear this in mind. We're not selling cheap pianos, but we're selling pianos cheaper. And remember the place.

Yesterday was the last day on which Oregon school lands could be had for $1.25. Commencing with today it will be $2.50 per acre. As a result of this increase in the price asked by the state land board many sales have been made during the last few days.

Dudley Evans, who recently visited our section in the discharge of his duty as state quarantine officer, is accused of extorting $10 from two Clackamas county youths, who were under quarantine for smallpox. They were made to believe that this sum must be paid for fumigation, and on learning their mistake filed a complaint against Evans.

Yesterday was a great day for the Odd Fellows of Oregon. On Tuesday the Grand Encampment of Oregon held its 29th annual meeting in Arion Hall at Portland, and Wednesday and today was consumed in the 48th annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of Oregon. On last Tuesday the Bekah Lodge of Oregon held its 17th annual meeting in the I. O. O. F. Hall.

The Burns freighters have asked the business men of that city to have their goods shipped to Shaniko instead of Ontario and Huntington. This move was prompted by the poor roads between Burns and Ontario, they claiming that their trip to Shaniko by way of our city could be made by them cheaper or on account of feed, and in about the same length of time. It seems that this would be to the Burns merchants' interests as Portland freight shipped to Shaniko would be much cheaper than their present shipping points, Ontario and Huntington.

The will of the late Mrs. Mary V. Gesner, who died in Salem May 4, last, was probated last week. The estate disposed of by the will is valued at $12,000 and is divided among the children of deceased, as follows: Alonzo Gesner of Salem, 90 acres of land; B. B. Gesner of Salem, 90 acres of land; Vanison Gesner of Prineville, Rebecca A. Haskell of Chehalis, Wash., and Sarah M. Gesner of Salem, 120 acres jointly; to Harriet Randall of Salem, Romelia Munkers of Asbland and Amey V. Davidson of Salem, $10 each. The rest of the property is divided equally among the heirs named. Alonzo Gesner, and B. B. Gesner are named as executors, without bonds, and they were so appointed.

A Remedy For Smallpox.

From the Stockton (Cal.) Herald.

I herewith append a recipe which has been used to my knowledge in hundreds of cases. It will prevent or cure the smallpox, though the pustules are filling. When Jenner discovered cow-pox in England the world of science hurried an avalanche of fame upon his head, but when the most scientific school of medicine in the world—that of Paris—published this recipe as a panacea for smallpox it passed unheeded. It is un-failing as fate and conquers in every instance. It is harmless when taken by a well person. It will cure scarlet fever. Here is the recipe as I have used it to cure smallpox; when learned physicians said the patient must die it cured! Sulphate of zinc, one grain; fudge (digitals), one grain; half a teaspoonful of water. When thoroughly mixed add four ounces of water; a teaspoonful is a dose. Either disease will disappear in twelve hours. For a child, smaller doses according to age. If countries would compel their physicians to use this there would be no need of pesthouses. If you value advice and experience use this for that terrible disease.

Obituary.

Katharine Helfrich was born in Antelope Valley, Colusa Co., Cal., Dec. 1, 1870. At the age of nine years she was left motherless, and with the care of her younger brothers and sister.

Faithfully did she keep the promise made her dearly loved young mother, "to be a mother to the little one." Throughout her life she has ever been loving, generous and true, always thinking first of the happiness and comfort of others, and it was through the performance of a kind act that she met her sad death. She believed from the first that the dread disease which appeared in Prineville, some weeks ago, was smallpox, but nothing daunted, she continued to wait on one of the afflicted ones, and later went to Portland, putting herself under the care of one of the best physicians and used every possible precaution. The terrible disease attacked her just after the doctor had assured her that she was not going to have it, and on May 5th, after an illness of only a week her precious soul passed away. She was laid to rest in the Lone Fir cemetery in Portland.

An aged father, four brothers and one sister are left to mourn her loss.

"Holdings!" So the German people whisper, when they hear the bell tolling from some gray old steeple. Death's familiar air is felt; When they hear the night breeze, Sweeping out from the ocean's bosom, And the singers' chanting notes, "Holdings!" Awe is going home; "Holdings!" We are all so weary, And the sleepers as they pass, Softly sighing, see us by dreamy, Who sit in the tranquil grave; When the golden pleasure's dream, With its drags or with its team, And the tender words are spoken, "Holdings!" We are going home. M.
