E. B. Hollis, of Des Moines Iowa, left for his home the first of the week after a three weeks' visit with his son, E. E. Hollis of Crook. Mr. Hollis has had an opportunity to see a considerable portion of Interior Oregon during his stay here and expressed himself as being well pleased with the appearance and prospects of the country.

The coming term of court promises to be one of the busiest periods of the year in the city. Aside from the large docket to be disposed of, scores of country people are coming in at that time to do their trading for the winter. So the two weeks that court is in session will probably be as profitable to the merchants as it is to the lawyers.

Rev. G. M. Booth, presiding elder of the M. E. Church, will hold quarterly meetings on the 17th and 18th. Quarterly conference at 2 p. m. Saturday. Preaching on Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. Everybody invited to attend these services. Because of quarterly meeting the pastor will not preach at Claypool next Sunday afternoon.

Only a small number of persons attended the first meeting held at the residence of Mrs. C. M. Elkins last Friday evening for the purpose of organizing a golf club, but this was due to the business arrangements of many of the men which could not be overlooked. The meeting tomorrow night promises to be a large one and definite arrangements will be made for the organization.

The members of the A. O. U. W. were given a surprise party at their regular meeting last Monday evening. Just after grand lecturer G. C. Hague had delivered his address, the ladies of the Sunbeam lodge presented themselves with arms full of refreshments which were received with all the cordiality which the lodge is capable of extending to any person or anything—in the eating line.

W. Z. Bayless was in the city Tuesday to make final proof on his homestead. He has just returned from Klamath county where he has been handling J. E. Roberts' sheep during the past summer. He states that just before leaving there Wm. Smith and Charles Casey disposed of 2000 head of lambs to California buyers who will take them through to that state this fall. The price paid for them was $1.50 per head.

The orders issued by the last council to the marshal regarding the repair of sidewalks in various parts of the city have had some gratifying results. New planks have replaced old and broken ones, and a complete renovation of many of the walks has been made. It is to be hoped that the good work will be carried on until every sidewalk in the city is in a respectable condition, and not, as some of them have been in the past, an open jeopardy to life and limb.

Orin Kinnersley, who represents the Blake, McFall Co. of Portland, passed through here, Tuesday, from a trip through the Interior. He states that stockmen will suffer heavy losses this winter should it be a hard one, as feed was never so scarce before, and even now sheep are selling at Bend for 65 cents and at John Day for $1.00 per head—June Post.

The Journal suggests immediate treatment for the above mentioned gentleman. He has evidently been doing considerable traveling while asleep.

Cattle and sheep men are congratulating themselves over the recent rains which have been general the past two weeks in early every section of Interior Oregon. Reports from up the Ochoco and Crooked rivers have it that fresh grass is appearing and that winter pasture will be of the best kind. There are facts which will be welcomed by the stockmen, for the shortage of hay this season and prevailing high prices would have worked many a hardship during the winter had the fall weather been warm and dry. The grass is especially good along the lower edge of the Blue mountains, through the Horse Heaven district and as far south in that basin as Hampton Buttes. But little rain has fallen in the Haystack country, and pasture there is said to be short and the soil dry.

Last Friday evening while a Journal man was passing the residence of Councilman C. M. Elkins, his attention was called to an incident that forcibly illustrates the habits of the red man and his stoic curiosity. The fine home of Mr. Elkins was lighted up and the front parlor well filled with ambitious warblers, who had assembled on that evening to perfect an organization of a golf club. It might have been their facial contortions that attracted the lone fine example of male aborigines, but it occurred to us that the books had been called there by the quiet and brilliancy of the parlor assemblage together with the handsome residence, and as they stood with folded arms gazing at the scene they looked as though they might have been there always. Not a word was being spoken, and the copper colored cheeks were evidently comparing the modern residences with that of the aborigine. It may have been with a pang of regret that they realized that such a place was not a resort for war dances, pipe smoking, and dried venison and salmon, but the Indian with his stoicism would never communicate such a thought to a white man, so why know?

Athletic Club to Decide on Building Site Tonight.

Definite arrangements for a building site for the Athletic club have not as yet been made, although it is probable that a decision will be reached at the regular meeting which will be held tonight. The committee which had the matter in charge reported at last Thursday's meeting that there were several propositions in view and that an understanding would probably be reached inside of a week.

At last week's meeting, at which 50 members were present, it was decided that blue and white should be the club's colors, the latter to be used also in the pin which was adopted. The club will incorporate in a short time and it is expected that numerous business features will be taken up to defray some of the running expenses.

At present the secretary has $500 in cash with as much more in sight. As soon as the association has collected a thousand dollars building operations will be started. That sum will be enough, it is thought, together with the club's real estate to warrant a loan of sufficient size to cover the cost of equipments and furnishings.

Crook County's Production of Large Fruits and Vegetables.

At this season of the year when the products of the gardens and orchards are being gathered, a person sees some remarkable types of various fruits and vegetables. The Journal office has had many of these on exhibition during the past month and they usually go a long way toward convincing a person that Crook county's soil has few equals.

The Journal has had on display this week some Siberian crab apples which were raised on the J. L. Windom ranch near Culver. The specimens are so large that it is hard to believe they are not a full sized orchard apple of some other variety, and it is only the taste of them which discloses their identity. The fruit is not much smaller than an average sized June apple and presents about the same appearance. They were raised along with many other varieties of apples under a partial irrigation, and Mr. Windom states that they attain the same unusual proportions every year.

Better Than Pills.

The question has been asked—In what way are Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets superior to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is—They are easier and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle and so agreeable that one hardly realizes that it is produced by a medicine. Then they not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and aid the digestion. For sale at 25 cents per bottle by all druggists.

Jury List is Drawn for the October Term.

The following have been drawn to serve on the jury for the circuit term of court commencing next Monday October 19:

Ketchum, Steve Yancy, E. T. Slayton, A. Davenport, Wm. Meadows, Vanderpool, J. B. Merrill, Prineville; B. Gram, Cross Keys; John Atkinson, Lava; J. F. Taylor, Lamont; A. W. Boyce, Lamont; Geo. Dee, Grizzly; Joe Hawkins, Howard; Chas. Gilchrist, Fife, Floyd Houston, Crook; D. W. Barnett, W. H. Peck, Culver; G. P. Ray, Post; Joel McCollum, Ashwood; H. C. Grater, Ashwood; J. A. Allen, Hay Creek.

Many Mothers of a Like Opinion.

Mrs. Pilmer, of Cordova, Iowa, says: "One of my children was subject to croup of a severe type, and the giving of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy promptly, always brought relief. Many mothers in this neighborhood think the same as I do about this remedy and want no other kind for their children." For sale by all druggists.
