Dwight Roberts, a Salem nursery man, was in the city this week on business matters. While here Mr. Roberts gathered some statistics relative to the state of some of Crook county products, which he said he would use to convince the Valley residents that Eastern Oregon produced something besides dry rains and sage brush.
Jockey Club Races Commence.
Race week, of course, was the signal for the weather man to bring on cloudy days and more or less moisture. A light rain fell Wednesday forenoon, but the races were pulled off under favorable weather conditions. Only three races on the opening day. The first was a running match between three Warm Spring Indians, who mounted their steeds bare back and made the circuit in true warrior style. The three-eighths of a mile free for all was won by Beaver Tom, a horse entered by S. S. Hawkins. Tempest coming in second.
In the three-eighths of a mile for two-year-olds, Judge Biggs Yalta V. carried off the honors, with Dr. Clum's Barney B. finishing in a close second. The time was :32.
In the half mile dash on Wednesday's events Win. Justin's Leroy won; May W., second; Fanny and Latah, third. Time :55. Following this race was one in which seven squaws rode a mile. The finish was close and was made in good time. One squaw on the last half was thrown from her horse but was not seriously injured.
The race of the day was the last one in which Nontoya, John H., Beaver Tom and Tempest took part. Beaver Tom finished a length ahead with Tempest second; Nontoya, third, and John H., fourth.
Squaw Creek Mill Again Hauling
The Squaw Creek saw mill, which was closed down during the summer, has commenced operations again, and according to reports cannot supply the demand in that part of the country.
The mill started the last September and at present is turning out about 6000 feet a day. Considerable building is going on in the vicinity of Sisters and the lumber is hauled from the mill as rapidly as sawed. A large quantity of logs is on hand and it is the intention of the owners to run the mill through the greater part of the winter. F. B. Davis, who is the largest stock holder in the plant, says the mill could dispose of thousands of shingles if they had the facilities for cutting them.
Paulina Notes.
Nights cold and frosty, days warm, fine weather for farming.
The cattle business is dull in this district this fall, but little stock having been sold.
Mr. and Mrs. Treichel have gone to Prineville to spend a few days.
Cap Corbett is building a stage station on his Grind Stone ranch which will be one of the best in the county when completed.
Hay is scarce in this part of the county, and it is probable that the stockmen will suffer this winter owing to the shortage.
