

LOCAL MENTION

A. M. Drake, of Bend, was a passenger for Portland on Monday's stage.

L. S. Logan and Austin Klaz were business visitors from Crook the first of the week.

C. D. Wells was over from Deschutes this week attending to his real estate business.

Mrs. J. B. Henderson left last Friday for Portland for an extended visit with her daughter.

E. E. Gillenwater was down from Post the last of the week transacting business matters.

J. R. Heath was down from his homestead near Howard Tuesday. He reports that little snow left in that vicinity.

B. F. Willott and family moved in to town the last of the week from their Paulina ranch where they have been for the past six months.

Frank Arnold was over from Squaw creek Friday laying in a supply of carpenter's tools. He left for the Bend where he had his brooklet. Leo, will engage in building this summer.

Sara Lytle came down from Paulina last week to secure medical aid for Mrs. C. G. Cornett who was taken seriously sick last Thursday. Dr. Edwards went out with him, returning the first of the week.

Chester Avery was over from Silver Lake this week looking into the cattle market. Mr. Avery sold his stock last winter, but intends to purchase another bunch while here if he can secure them at the right price.

George Schlicht, of the Deschutes Echo, was a passenger for Wisconsin on the 9th. He goes to be at the bedside of his mother now very dangerously ill, and while east will capitalize a $10,000 plant for the Echo office.—Mora Observer.

The new summer schedule of the Columbia Southern railroad went in to effect last week. That road is now running two trains a day over the line. They both make about the same time as there is no danger even if a collision should take place.

Wm. Holder came over from Paisley last Thursday to take his family back to his Lake county ranch. Mr. Holder has laid down the editor's pen for good, as he says, and will now devote his time and attention to raising the best grades of garden produce and stock.

J. B. Cornett returned the last of the week from the Willamette valley where he and his family have been spending the winter. Mr. Cornett left early in the week for his Summit Prairie stock ranch to look after his cattle. His wife and children will join him the first of June.

W. A. Dindley came over Sunday from the Bend where he has been holding down a seat on the Bulletin for the past eight months. He gave up his position there last week and goes to Portland to buy goods for the furniture store at Bend in which he has recently become interested.

L. R. Lafollett and Sam Collins last week purchased the Hahn and Fried ranch about three miles below the city. It is the intention of the new owners to seed a greater portion of the ranch in alfalfa and feed the product to their stock, part of which will be kept in that vicinity.

The first wood sales of the season occurred last week when the Pendleton Woolen mills bought 250,000 pounds of the new Yakima clip at 12 cents. The grade is not of the best and the sale is looked upon as encouraging to this season's output. It is believed that the average price of wool this year will be one or two cents higher than last year.

The new Crooked river steel bridge has been in danger of being washed down the stream during the past week. The high waters have torn away great areas of the bank on both sides of the bridge, and towards the last of the week it became necessary to enlist a crew of men to haul jumpers. The trees were placed along the banks to break the force of the stream as much as possible which is rather a difficult undertaking at this time.

T. G. Condon, of the Shaniko Warehouse company, and E. T. Harburt, cashier of the Shaniko bank, left for Burns the last of the week to look after the freight business in that section. The warehouse people are striving to divert the bulk of the Burns shipment in this direction, and it is probable that a major portion of the overland traffic will pass through Prineville to that point this summer. The Burns shipments now are heavy and it is the intention of the Shaniko company and the stage company to increase this if possible.

Some heroic measures have been used during the past week to save the new Crooked river bridge. The continued high waters have washed away acres of land in the vicinity of the crossing and Monday it became necessary to fill several deep cracks with rocks and gravel and place them around the piers and banks of the stream. It is thought now that all danger of the bridge being washed out has passed. The Gray ranch just south of the bridge is some fifteen or twenty acres less in size than it was before the river began cutting a new channel for itself.

Calico Ball tomorrow night. Don't forget it.

Henry Gable was a business visitor in the city last Saturday.

Lew Bennett was a business visitor from Post the first of the week.

Walter Knox was a business visitor or this week from his ranch at Post.

H. G. Caldwell, of Laven, was transacting business in the city Tuesday.

E. F. Batten, of Bend, was registered at the Prineville hotel the first of the week.

Mrs. Chas. Hindman, of Sisters, was registered at the Palmetto Wednesday.

D. P. Farr was in the city from Crook the last of the week transacting business matters.

Alec Thomson and Walt Ray left Monday noon on a business trip to the Beaver creek country.

J. H. Gray was down from his Ochoco ranch the last of the week attending to business matters.

George Milligan was in the city from Bear Creek the last of the week transacting business matters.

Rev. Frank Day returned Monday to his home in Hillsboro, after holding two weeks of successful services in the city.

Mrs. M. E. Perreval, of Cross Keys, arrived in the city Saturday and will spend the next two months visiting with Henry Crain and family.

A marriage license was issued last Friday to Jesse Harcrow, of Bend, and Ota M. Lovelace, of Cultus. Rev. G. W. Triplett left for the Haystack Saturday to perform the ceremony.

The last grand ball before the fourth of July will be given tomorrow night at the Athletic club. The dancing will begin at 8:30 and continue as long as the dancers and the music remain.

Ralph Brown and wife, of Madras, were in the city last Friday. Mr. Brown returning to his home this week. Mrs. Brown left Saturday to teach the spring term of school at Johnson creek.

Telephone poles for a distance of over two miles and a half have been set along the canal line of the Deschutes Irrigation & Power Company and before long wire will be stretched from one end to the other of the ditch.

A. H. Kennedy last week purchased the Prineville Review from Wm. Holder, and will now assume the duties of chief quill pusher and proprietor. Mr. Kennedy has been the lessee of the plant for the past six months.

Fourteen hundred and forty acres of land under the Columbia Southern's canal were sold last week to parties from different points in this state and Washington. It is the intention of most of the purchasers to clear the land and sow it this year.

Bennie Booth this week purchased the interest of Mrs. Nasal Salomon in the general merchandise firm of Salomon, Johnson & Co, and will take an active part in the future management of the business. The firm will be known as Johnson, Booth & Co.

The addition to the Pilot Butte Inn at Bend, of which A. C. Lucas and L. E. Allingham are proprietors, has been completed on the outside and the work of finishing is being carried on as rapidly as possible. The addition to the building makes the hotel one of the largest in this county.

Will Wuraweller and W. A. Bell returned Sunday from Portland where they went to attend the state and congressional conventions. The delegates state that Dr. Geisner, was the strong man and would have won the nomination for senator had not a misunderstanding thrown the Lake county support to Judge Laycock.

Ed Crabtree and Charlie Lytle returned the last of the week from a fishing trip on the Deschutes. They had several baskets full, but the joke of the matter is they came back with their hooks in good shape and their lines not even water soaked. A leather medal is to be awarded to the two anglers by the local sportsmen.

C. L. Roberts, of Lebanon, arrived in the city Tuesday and will remain in this section during the summer. His wife and family will come here as soon as the mountain roads open to take up their permanent residence. Mr. Roberts represents the Salem Nursery company which enjoys a wide patronage throughout this locality.

Following is the school report of District No. 17, for the month beginning March 21st and ending April 15th 1904.

J. W. Howard returned from Silver Lake Sunday where he has been leading a large number of stock cattle during the past winter. Mr. Howard has sold most of his cattle to California firms during the past four months.

A. S. Fields this week opened his new grocery store three doors south of the bank. Mr. Fields is carrying a full line of staple and fancy groceries and will undoubtedly enjoy a good trade. Some of his stock is still delayed in Shaniko, but he expects all of it to be in by the first week in May.

At Cook was in the city from the Haystack country the first of the week. He stated that a crew of men began work the last of the week on the automobile road out from the Brown & Lyle ranch. Five miles of the surveyed line will be completed at once and a machine put on for the trial run.

John Ray, a prominent cattlemen from Bear Creek in Crook county, was in town on Sunday and Monday, accompanied by Mrs. Ray. They are on their way to Portland where Mrs. Ray, who has been in very bad health for several months, will enter one of the hospitals for treatment.—Antelope Herald.

G. A. Cook, J. F. Corwin, J. J. Hinton, W. A. Stewart and Walter Hunter were in the city from the Haystack district Monday on their way to Beaver creek to round up a bunch of 300 or 400 head of range horses, part of which will be brought to Prineville. The party expects to be gone until about the last of July.

H. W. Reed and John Stebb, of the Deschutes Lumber company, came over from the river Saturday to look after business matters. They went down to the Haystack country to buy some work horses to use on their logging wagons. They stated that the lumber from their mill was being disposed of as fast as it was sawed.

C. E. Rowley, who is connected with the new irrigation enterprise at Bend, was in town on Monday with a score or more of men who will work on the big ditch. Mr. Rowley stated that this is only "the beginning" and that a large force of men would be put to work in the reclamation of the Crook county desert in the Bend neighborhood. With the large irrigation enterprises under way, and the finest body of yellow pine timber in the West at its very door, the outlook for Bend is exceedingly bright.—Antelope Herald.

The Great Southern Railway Co., the lately incorporated company building from this city to Dufur, filed yesterday for record a mortgage with the clerk of this county for $5,000,000 to the Washington Trust Co., of Seattle. This mortgage covers all property now in possession of the company or which may come into its possession by reason of building said line of road. As set forth in the document the object of the company is to construct and operate a line of railroad from a point near The Dalles, Oregon, southerly to San Francisco, California, and northerly through the state of Washington. This is the largest single mortgage ever filed for record in the county clerk's office, and if the object is fully carried out The Dalles will be the terminus of a very extensive railroad.—Dalles Chronicle.

Presbyterians Call Their Pastor.

At a meeting of the First Presbyterian church and congregation, held last Saturday afternoon at the Union church a unanimous call was extended to the Reverend Z. W. Comerford to become the settled pastor of the church.

The pastor elect began his work here in October and under his direction every department of the work has progressed and the reports sent to the Presbytery this year are the best in the short history of the church. The prospects for the future are bright and with the new building which is now in progress the church will have a fully equipped place for its good work.

Registration of Voters.

Below is given the total registration so far this year as shown by the records kept by County Clerk J. J. Smith. The 1904 list will be changed each week as the registration increases up to May 15. At that time those who do not wish to have their votes sworn in at election must have their names on the register by 5 o'clock on that day.
