OFFICIAL PAPER OF CROOK COUNTY.

THURSDAY, MAY 25, 1905.

What was the Hibernian's name who called this gentle spring?

Will some one kindly crack a peanut shell in Manchuria lest we forget that the J-R war is still in progress.

The strike breakers in the Chicago strike to all appearances have struck a strike that strikes but won't strike out.

The county is anxiously awaiting the coming of the next railroad rumor. Board and lodging will not be furnished unless first class recommendations come with it.

Mayor Williams' campaign for the chief seat in the municipal government of Portland is meeting with as strenuous opposition as is possible to print on sheets of white paper. The Portland Journal, in its uphill struggle for clean politics, does not vary its sentiments a great deal from those of the ordinary commonwealth when it assumes the position that a man who served in Grant's cabinet and who is now backed by all the corrupting influences inside the city limits, is a trifle too old and too vacillating in character to hold the reins of power in a growing and progressive city. The present mayor would be all right were it not for the fact that he is principally all wrong, so far as his present position is concerned.

The appalling tide of immigration which is pouring into the country, is a matter swiftly evolving itself into a national question. It is likely that Congress will at the behest of the president take restrictive steps in the matter at its next session. Certainly it is time for such action. The class of emigrants at the present time is such that Uncle Sam's broad acres are threatened with pauper homes, to say nothing of the illiteracy and criminal characteristics evinced in the major portion of the new arrivals. On the other hand Uncle Sam's dominion is capable of housing many millions besides the present population. There is room for them. But they should be the right kind. Sunny Italy sounds pleasant to the ear. Her scenery and climate are great, but her migrating sons, who land at Ellis island, would give the lie to a panorama of paradise itself.

It is a matter of regret that just at the time when the fetters of the law were about to fasten themselves about Arch McKay, that the extreme carelessness of Gilliam county's sheriff should permit the prisoner to escape. Of course, the county is better off minus a shrewd cattle rustler, like McKay, but his depredations in this county alone were enough to insure him a long period of punishment during which time he would have had no opportunity to prey upon another community in which he is less intimately known. As it is his first landing place will in all probability be the next to suffer from his smooth and winning ways and eventually, after he has been a source of loss to other stockmen, he will land in the place where members of his tribe generally land—the gilded and barred cage. But his inevitable denouement does not in any way mitigate the color of Sheriff Keeton's supreme carelessness in sleeping while game walked away. If ordinary diligence had been followed, McKay would soon have been before the court in Crook county to be tried for the numerous crimes on the public range of which he has been accused. But McKay is gone. Sheriff Keeton is probably wiser now than he was. The region that McKay visits next will probably also be wiser after he has gone.

Additional Locals

A. W. Pope was a business visitor from Lytle the first of the week. Williamson and Gesner will begin shearing their sheep this week.

Mrs. Owens, of Eugene, is in the city, the guest of Mrs. Sarah Stevens.

Frank Glass was over from Bend yesterday looking after land business.

W. H. Staats and son, Prince, were over from Deschutes yesterday on a business trip.

Hugh Lister is down from his Paulina ranch visiting with his family for a few days.

Arthur Martin, of Silver Lake, was in the city the first of the week to purchase supplies for his sheep camp.

Mrs. U. S. Cowles, who has been ill at the Redby the past week, is much improved and will leave soon for her home at Madras.

Alfred Ellefson, of Chicago, a brother of Oscar and Ollie Ellefson is in the city having arrived here Saturday night. He will make his home in Prineville.

Frank Foster has purchased the interest of J. E. Calavan in the Bazaar. The new firm now going under the name of Rideout and Foster.

C. M. Elkins left yesterday for Portland where he goes to place an order for the pipes and irons to be used in the cinnabar furnace which will be erected on Lookout mountain.

Rev. W. P. Jinnett will conduct the regular services of the Methodist church next Sunday. Preaching at Howard school house in the morning, Claypool in the afternoon, Prineville in the evening.

W. T. Fogle, formerly of this city but who is now residing in Portland, underwent an operation last week for cancer of the leg. This is the second operation which has been performed in the past month.

Rev. W. P. Jinnett and wife and Miss Birdie Morris returned Wednesday from the Methodist district convention at The Dalles. Miss Bertha Horney, who went down with the party, came back as far as Culver.

W. R. McFarland has sold his feed yard on the north side of the city to I. W. Spear. Jas. Gregory, who has had the McFarland yard leased, has secured lots east of the brewery and is erecting a feed and livery barn there.

Levi Tillotson and C. Fitzgerald left this week for Portland. They will return here as soon as final arrangements have been completed for shipping the brick for the mercury furnace to be built on Lookout mountain.

The Bend ball team has defeated Prineville three times, and Bend boasts of its team. Wish they would come to Lakeview the Fourth of July and take a part in the $500 tournament to be given here they would probably get some of the snap taken out of them if they bucked up against Lakeview's tossers. Hurray for Lakeview. Come on Bend boys: we can beat you.—Lakeview Examiner.

The Rev. J. Anthony Mitchell will preach next Sunday morning and evening at the Union church. Miss Julia Hatch, of Portland, will occupy a portion of the time at one of the services to speak briefly about her missionary work in Siam to illustrate which she has brought many curios from the far Eastern country. Services in the morning will be conducted at 10 o'clock.

Stray Notice.

Dark Bay, left eye gone, branded Z Z on left stifle. Owner please call at my ranch on Johnson creek, 5 miles north of Prineville. Barney Watkins.

M. Christiani will move his Main street building, now occupied by the Bazaar, and will erect on its site a two story brick building. The work of moving the building will begin this week and construction of the new building as soon afterwards as possible.

The High school baseball team played its first game of the season at Lamonta last Sunday and met a graceful defeat to the amount of 11 to 12. The Lamonta youngsters batted out eleven runs in the first three innings and then a change in the local team's lineup held them down to a lone run during the next six innings. Prineville's eleven runs were scattered through the nine innings of the game. The batteries were: Zevely, Hyde and Hinkle; Freeman and McMeen. The Lamonta boys will play a return game here with the High school team a week from next Sunday.

George Summers, who is now recognized as the leading telephone promoter in the county, is having a directory published of the phones in use on the Ochoco and Madras lines, both of which he built himself. At present there are 46 connections on the two circuits and it is very probable that this number will be greatly increased in a short time, especially on the line between Prineville and Madras.

"The History and Resources of Crook County," a 30 page illustrated booklet dealing with the subjects indicated by the name, was issued from The Journal press this week. The booklet has been compiled and edited by the High School pupils and the subject matter treated in a highly satisfactory and commendable manner. About 400 copies have been printed and it is the intention to sell these at a nominal sum to defray the cost of publishing. The little volume is an excellent collection of county matters and would well satisfy any of those persons on the outside who are making inquiries concerning this region.

Mrs. L. E. Jordan, Mrs. D. F. Stewart, W. A. Booth and wife, Edgar Stewart and Ralph Jordan left Sunday for The Dalles to file on timber claims. The party returned yesterday. The rush to the land office to file on claims did not materialize as was expected. Only a few applicants were on hand when the office opened Tuesday morning and the number increased to about two dozen during the next two hours. Many applications were rejected owing to conflict with other filings and no homestead entries were made, all applications being for timber. No scrip was offered and no contests are expected on the applications made.

Baseball Next Sunday.

The Bend ball team will play its fifth game with Prineville next Sunday afternoon at which time the locals hope to shake for good and all the sad-faced hoodoo which has been following them around since the season opened. The new grandstand has been completed since the last game and everything put in readiness for the accommodation of the crowd which will witness the contest.

Saturday night a dance will be given in Athletic hall for the Bend boys.

Work on the Auto Road.

The work of widening and preparing the automobile road for the big auto was commenced at the Madras end of the road this week and working toward Cross Keys. John Hammond is superintending the work and has seven men and a road grader employed.

When the big auto first passed over the road, the grade was found in many places to be too narrow, the catwalks were defective and in several places the road was not properly rolled. Where the auto road was solid and properly rolled the big machine gave perfect satisfaction, and the crew now employed will place road in good order so that when the auto next starts it will probably meet with no obstacles.—Madras Pioneer.
