A heavy hail storm swept down the Ochoco valley in the vicinity of Howard Saturday afternoon, doing much damage to the growing grain and crops. James Sears, who came over with the Mitchell stage, said the fields were battered down for a distance of several miles.

Hadley & Stevens saloon building at Bend was destroyed by fire at an early hour last Sunday morning. The blaze started about 3 o'clock from a defective flue and consumed the entire building with its contents. There was no hope of saving the building itself and the work of the fireman was confined to saving the buildings in the immediate vicinity. None of these was damaged. The loss amounts between $8000 and $9000 with an insurance of $4000.

J. W. Bledsoe, the Bend photographer, was in town this week. While here he rented the gallery of Mrs. Jas. S. Kelley and has made arrangements to begin work here at once. He will maintain branch galleries at Bend and Sisters where his work is well known. Mr. Bledsoe has taken many excellent views in Crook county, a large number of which are now on exhibition at the Lewis and Clark fair, and will continue to do landscape work as well as portrait. Several of his views of Crook county are in the windows around town and have caused much favorable comment.

It is estimated by dealers in furs that the species of wolf known as the Oregon coyote is being killed at the rate of 15,000 annually in this state says the Portland Journal. But the number living is on the increase. Despite the removing of the state bounty from coyote scalps, more skins are received in the Portland market now than ever before. One Portland firm bought 12,000 coyote skins last year. Many were shipped direct to the east by dealers in small towns and the total marketed last year was not less than 15,000. The skins bring from $1.50 to $2 apiece. H. Liebes, of the firm of H. Liebes & Co., said: "We receive more coyote furs than we did five years ago. The price has advanced in the last few years. The skins are used for making sleeping robes and for other purposes requiring cheap furs."

FOR SALE—New upright piano. Been used but a few months and will sell at a bargain. Address H. care of The Journal.

The old reliable Peter Schuttler Wagons can be found at J. F. Morris' Light build, durability and easy running qualities have sold a great number of these wagons and will sell more.

A water spout coming down Muddy last Tuesday afternoon is reported to have done great damage to the Mays ranch, taking out a bridge that had withstood the fury of previous onslaughts, and covering the alfalfa fields with mud and debris. A band of 4000 sheep which was being trailed through to Shaniko, narrowly escaped destruction, being checked within thirty yards of the flood. There were four bands in the outfit, being owned by Chapman & Shown, R. N. Donnelly, Butler Bros., and Robert Keys.—Antelope Herald.

J. G. Edwards, of the Baldwin Sheep & Land Company of May Creek, was in town on Tuesday morning, on business connected with the shipping of the sheep purchased for him by Farquhar McRea during the Spring. Mr. Edwards recently sold a carload of registered rams to Wright & Dimmock of Vermont, who will send them to Natal, South Africa, for breeding purposes. The rams purchased were Rambouillet and "Baldwins," and were purchased after Wright & Dimmock had visited the principal sheep plants of the United States in search for choice rams. They stated that the 50 head which they bought were the finest they had found in the country.—Antelope Herald.

High School Students Graduate.
Commencement exercises of the first High School class to graduate in Crook county were held at the Methodist church last Friday evening. Every seat was filled with an interested audience of patrons and friends of the class, who found the program enjoyable throughout. The class colors were effectively used in decorations, and a banner inscribed with the class motto, "We launch tonight, where shall we anchor," was draped in a V shape over the rostrum.
The program was opened with a selection by the orchestra followed by the class history by Miss Iva Both who, in a short address, told of the work of the graduates and the changes which had occurred in the class during the three years of its existence. Charles Christiani chose for his valedictory address the class motto, "We launch tonight, where shall we anchor," and his words were in the nature of a plea to the graduates to choose wisely the various walks of life into which they must soon step.
Miss Gertrude Sharp contributed a well rendered and pleasing piano selection which was vigorously applauded.
The different selections by the class members were interspersed with enjoyable vocal solos by Mrs. A. C. Strange and Miss Colla Nelms who added greatly to the program.
Rev. W. P. Jinnett gave the class address after which Prof. Strange spoke briefly and well before presenting the diplomas.

Funeral of Prior Smith.

The remains of the late Prior L. Smith, brother of Sheriff Smith and Champ Smith of this city and Deputy Sheriff Smith of Bend, were brought to Prineville Tuesday and laid to rest in the afternoon.
The following account of his death is taken from a dispatch from Lewiston, Idaho.
"The body of Prior Smith, who dropped dead last evening at a ranch on Dog creek, north of the Little Rockies, was brought to Lewiston today. Mr. Smith, who was a well known cattleman and the owner of a bunch of cattle, had been in the employ of the Coburn cattle company. He and others of the Coburn outfit were camped with the Oscar Stephens roundup outfit at the Swope ranch on Dog Creek. About 7:30 o'clock in the evening, Mr. Smith left the camp, walked out on the prairie a short distance and then started to return. As he neared the camp he was seen to stagger and after a few steps fell. When some of those in the camp reached his side, he was dead. He had long been a sufferer of heart trouble and this is presumed to have been the cause of death."

Prior L. Smith was born in Brownsville and was 39 years old at the time of his death. When only 15 years of age he moved to Eastern Oregon and joined his brothers here, James and Sam, who were engaged in the stock business. He remained with them for four years, then went to work with other cattlemen in whose employ he continued until 1890. In that year he again became associated with his brother, C. Sam Smith, and for eight years they were together. In 1898 Prior Smith left Crook county and took up the work he had been following at Ontario. The following spring he moved to Montana where he had been living continuously up to the time of his death.
A residence in this county of more than 18 years gave the deceased an acquaintance and list of friends enjoyed by few, and not a person in the county who knew him, but will express a feeling of deep regret at his untimely death.
The funeral services were conducted at the Union church Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock by the Rev. O. W. Triplett, pastor of the Baptist church, and were in charge of the Knights of Phythias, of which lodge Mr. Smith was a prominent member while living here.
Besides the three brothers living in this county, a father and four sisters survive him. They are W. B. Smith of Brownsville; Mrs. Rebecca Davis, of Portland; Misses Ida and Sarah Smith of San Francisco, and a sister, Fanny, living in Salt Lake City.

Lamonta Loses Second Game.

The Prineville High School baseball team took revenge from the Lamonta ball tossers Sunday for the game which they lost at the latter place two weeks before by winning a well played game by a score of 8 to 4. Hyde officiated at the slab for the students and with good support shut out the Lamonta boys for five innings. Freeman pitched a good game, striking out a dozen of the local players, but poor support cost him the game.
Lamonta scored two runs in the sixth and took another in both the sixth and seventh, tying the score. There was an opening then for them to take the game, but the last half of the eighth proved disastrous. With only one out the Prinevillers applied in four runs. Albert Barnes drove a line hit into right field for a complete circuit of the bases and three hits following with a couple of costly errors won the game. Lamonta failed to score in the ninth. The story by innings follows:
Prineville 0 10 11 0 4 8
Lamonta 0 0 0 0 2 1 1 0 4
