U. S. Cowles was in the city the first of the week. Mr. Cowles said both the Matoles and Deschutes rivers were a foot lower at the point where his saw mill is stationed than they have ever been before. The light fall of snow in the mountains last winter is the cause of the decrease in the streams. Mr. Cowles said they were running a full force of men at the mill and that the demand for lumber was steady.

With the close of July the first hot spell of the summer was brought to an end. The highest temperature recorded in Prineville occurred Saturday, July 22, when the mercury reached 107 in the shade. High temperatures were prevalent that day, however, in every section of the county, Madras claiming the record with the mercury standing at 112. So far during the continued hot spell, Bend has distinguished itself with the lowest temperature, the heat there being of such variety that on the hottest days the mercury was held about 10 degrees lower than in other sections.

J. W. Bledsoe left yesterday for Portland with a collection of some of the magnificent landscape views which he has taken in this county during the past few weeks. The last of the week Mr. Bledsoe, accompanied by Sheriff Smith, went up the Ochoco where numerous views were taken of the country around Marks creek. These will be placed in the hands of the engineers who will later examine the district before deciding upon the work to be pursued in the irrigation scheme north of the city.

County Clerk Smith has been the target during the past week for many pert missives in which the writers have demanded the whys and wherefores concerning the delinquencies in answering inquiries, recording papers, etc. The answer is that Uncle Sam subpoenaed the County Clerk about the first of July and held him in Portland a couple of weeks. At the same time the grasping government took by the arm all the lawyers, judges and practically all other persons competent to look after affairs in the clerk's office, so that the latter place was compelled to take care of itself. The result is an accumulation of work which will take some time to straighten out, but Mr. Smith promises to work a night and day shift, as he has done most of the time since being in office, until all complaints are satisfied and the work brought down to its normal tone.

Death of James A. Boggs.

News has been received in Reno announcing the death of James A. Boggs at Salt Lake City last week. Mr. Boggs was well known in Reno. He founded the Washoe County Abstract Company more than a year ago. He also assisted in placing the Lincoln Park tract at Sparks on the market and for some time was agent for that property.

Several months ago Mr. Boggs' health began to fail and in the hope of recovery he went to Los Angeles. At that place he grew steadily worse until last week he started for his home in the east. At Salt Lake City his condition was such that he was taken from the train and placed in an ambulance. While on his way to the hospital he passed away. Mr. Boggs was quite well known in Reno. He was a hard worker and a bright man, well liked by those who knew him.—Beno Journal.

Mr. Boggs was a resident of this city two years ago and practiced law here for some time. He left here in the summer of 1903 for Lakeview where he remained a time before going to Reno to establish an abstract and real estate business. Death was due to consumption from which he had suffered for several years. A widow and two children survive him in Minnesota, his former home, where he was one time a representative in the state legislature.
