Additional Locals

Riley Cook was a business visitor this week from Culver.

M. R. Biggs returned to the city from Portland during the week.

J. I. West, of Bend was a business visitor in the city last Sunday.

J. Frank Stroud is over from Bend spending a few days in the city.

J. F. Morris is able to be out of doors again after an illness of many weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Horney, of Culver, were visitors in the city over Sunday last.

B. Gormley left Tuesday morning for Condon where he will open a tailoring business.

J. H. Windom and daughter, Miss Winnie, were in the city from Culver yesterday.

Lyn Nichols is in the city from Hay Creek where he says the country is extremely dry.

E. H. Smith returned home from Portland Tuesday morning after a month's absence.

Postmaster Summers and daughter returned the first of the week from a visit to the Lewis and Clark exposition.

Heisler post office was established during the past week, notification to that effect having been sent to Postmaster Summers a few days ago. Alfred R. Lyle is named as postmaster of the new station.

Dr. Gesner returned to the city this week. Arrangements had been made by the band to meet the doctor some distance down the road, but he arrived about 12 hours too early.

Rev. J. Anthony Mitchell returned to the city the first of the week after spending three weeks at Freewater, where the Presbytery was held, and at Portland where he visited the exposition.

Will Ford was over from Sisters yesterday. He has finished his work of leasing land for the Willamette Valley & Cascade mountain Wagon Road company, and leaves this week for Portland with his parents to visit the exposition.

W. J. Wright, of Summit Prairie, was in the city yesterday on his way to Shaniko to meet Mrs. Wright who is on her way home from Portland where she has been ill in the hospital for some time.

Services will be held at the Presbyterian church by the Rev. J. Anthony Mitchell next Sunday morning and evening. Subject for the sermon at 11 a. m.: "Lessons from the Life of Joseph." Evening sermon: "Some Lessons from the Fair."

J. H. Templeton will leave early next week for The Dalles to join the delegation of Elks who go from there to Portland. A special day is to be set aside in the exposition city for the lodge when it is expected that they will run every one else out of town.

C. Milton Zell is the first rancher in this vicinity to lay claim to the greatest yield of hay off a given number of acres. This week he finished stacking his harvest of rye off an eight acre tract which lies next to his house, a mile and a half down Crooked river, and 46 tons, or an average of nearly 35 tons per acre, is the record made.

A. P. Rose, who has been in the city during the past week for the Western Historical Publishing company of Spokane, left Monday for the home office. While here he submitted the manuscripts relating to the early history of Crook county to a committee of residents who passed their approval on the facts detailed. The book, which will contain the history of seven counties in Central Oregon, will appear in January next year.

Charles King returned during the week from a visit to the Portland exposition.

Mayor Wurzweiler and son, Nate, returned yesterday morning from a visit in Portland.

C. M. Elkins and wife and son left yesterday noon for Portland to spend a few weeks attending the fair.

Wannie Crooks returned this week from Portland where he has been spending a couple of weeks viewing the exposition.

H. W. Reed, of Lytle, passed through the city Tuesday on his way to Hood River and Portland to look after business interests.

Dr. C. A. Cline and wife returned the last of the week from a trip to their ranch on the Deschutes river.

Rev. C. P. Bailey and Rev. J. W. Mount will hold services in the city Sunday, August 20 at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m.

C. M. Elkins returned this week from Lookout mountain this week where he had been to inspect the work being done at the cinnabar mine.

W. E. Lytle, passenger conductor on the Columbia Southern railroad, and D. A. Hunt, of Shaniko, were business visitors in the city during the past week.

Ralph Jordan will leave next Saturday for his former home in Minneapolis where he will spend the coming two weeks looking after some business interests.

Stroud Bros. are making arrangements to open a new meat market at the Crooks & Sailor old stand next Monday. Besides handling a complete line of meats the new firm will also deal in fresh vegetables and farm produce.

Philip S. Bates, of Portland, publisher of the Pacific Northwest has been in the city this week arranging for a special edition of the magazine in which considerable space will be devoted to Crook county, its resources and developments.

Levi Tillotson came down from Lookout mountain this week, returning Monday. Mr. Tillotson stated that he felt confident the new furnace would be in operation soon after the first of next month. Sheriff Smith returned with him to the properties.

August 28 is the date set for the next trial of the land cases in Portland. Several deputy marshals are in town waiting for word from the court when they will again get busy with subpoenas. The delegation to the federal court will equal if not surpass the two previous ones.

While using burning sulphur for fumigating purposes this afternoon at the Harbin residence, sparks ignited the carpet and before they could be extinguished had set fire to the floor and baseboard and spread through the room. Both fire companies responded to the alarm and had the flames quickly under control.

The county court at its session this week created a new school district in the eastern part of the county. The division will be known as District No. 57 and includes Paulina. The boundary lines of the new district also include townships 17 and 18 south of range 23 east and sections 26 to 36, inclusive, of township 16 south range 23 east.

As the date draws near for the fall hunting to begin, those who are anxious to take a long sight ahead through the Lyman are getting their necessary certificates from the county clerk. Hunter's licenses have been issued during the past week to the following: A. B. Roller, D. F. Young, R. J. Christian, J. A. McClure, Frank B. Foster, Charles Lytle, S. M. Bailey, J. H. Haner, T. F. McCallister and W. R. McFarland.

It will be noted that the announcement in the Portland papers of E. H. Harriman's visit to that city is not attended by the same lines "Immediate Transportation for Central Oregon," or "Columbia Southern Will Be Extended," that have usually been the accompaniment of the railroad magnate's entrance in the Oregon metropolis.

The month of July closed after one of the hottest spells of weather known in the city, but August has opened with the temperature nearly as high. The thermometers in the city during the first part of the week registered 103 in the shade. The extreme heat this summer commenced on the fifth of July and present indications show no signs of a moderation.

Engineer L. D. Wiest came over from Bend yesterday and this morning left with Sheriff Smith for Marks creek and vicinity to take charge of the surveying crew which is making a reconnaissance of the district preparatory to furnishing estimates of the cost of the irrigation work north of this city. The work will occupy some little time, but when completed will be thorough in detail and in such shape that the eastern capitalists who will finance the project will know exactly the amount required to carry the scheme through.

Plastering has begun in the Templeton and Smith & Cleek new buildings, both of which will be ready for occupancy about the first of the month. Work on the First National is progressing slowly, owing to the heavier grade of work, but the completion of the first half of the lower story gives evidence of its being a handsome building when completed. The contractors this week began making arrangements to move the Prineville hotel a block to the east. This will take several days, after which the masons will begin work on the new two-story brick building which is to take the place of the old hotel.

The Portland Journal is making arrangements to send eight young ladies in the state to the Hawaiian Islands. Already sixteen candidates are in the field, votes being given them through subscriptions and by coupons clipped from the enterprising daily. Crook county has been placed in the third district along with Wasco, Moro, Gilliam and Wheeler counties and the young lady receiving the highest number of votes in any one of these counties will be entitled to the pleasure trip which will consume several weeks free of expense. It may be that only a few votes will suffice from the district. Anyway, it may pay some young lady to look to her laurels while the opportunity is well within reach.

A load of piping, retorts, and other material for the new cinnabar furnace, which is being erected on Lookout mountain, came in by freight team this week. With the rest of the material is a Pelton wheel from which power will be derived to run the fans and other machinery needed in the reduction plant. The wheel inside of its iron casing is about 16 inches high and its width does not exceed four inches, yet from this piece of machinery, which resembles a boy's toy water wheel more than anything else, enough power will be generated to run all of the machinery needed. A small stream of water passes through the casing at the lower side of the wheel and enters the cups which revolve around the axle giving the latter its driving power. One of these wheels was on exhibition in the Mining building at the exposition and the number of wheels and amount of machinery which it turned was beyond belief. It is impossible to conceive of so tiny a piece of machinery developing such tremendous power.

Sickening Shivering Fits.

of Ague and Malaria, can be relieved and cured with Electrical Bitters. This is a pure, tonic medicine of especial benefit in malaria, for it exerts a true curative influence on the system, driving it entirely out of the system. It is much to be preferred to Quinine, having none of this drug's bad after-effects. E. S. Munday, of Henrietta, Texas, writes: "My brother was very low malarial fever and jaundice, till he took Electrical Bitters, which saved his life. At J. H. Templeton and D. P. Adamson's drug stores; price 50c, guaranteed."

Byron Milliron and wife, who have been visiting at Hood River and Portland during the past six weeks, returned home this week. Mrs. Wm. Wigle, who went down with them, remained at Hood River but will return in a short time.

MARRIED
Miss Ida B. McDaniel and Mr. John B. Brown, of Haystack, were married at Culver last Sunday by Justice of the Peace, O. G. Collier, at the latter's residence. Mr. and Mrs. Brown will make their home in that section where Mr. Brown owns considerable farming property. Both the young people enjoy a wide circle of friends and acquaintances throughout the county who extend to them best wishes for their future happiness and welfare.

The Woes of the Editor.
It may be that a worse fate can befall a poor mortal than to be a country editor, but the average country scribe would be willing to take a whack at the worst. The people do not realize the position of the editor. He does not make his money in big chunks but it comes in little packages, and that is why it comes so slowly. One fellow says "I owe that editor $2, but he won't miss that small amount." That's right, that $2 would buy a shirt and socks, but newspaper men are not to enjoy such luxuries. Five fellows say the same thing as the first one. The $10 does not amount to much. It would buy a pair of shoes and a pair of pants, and perhaps a necktie might be secured in the bargain. Ten fellows say the same thing as the first one. Well, $20 is not much money. But just think of all the good things it would buy. Hat, coat, vest, not pants but trousers, shoes, and maybe a cigar and a stein on the side. Only ten of our delinquent subscribers would buy all of this, and then think of what one hundred, yes, two hundred, or three hundred, might do for us. It is too much for the editor to think about. Even the thoughts of so much money make him feel like a man among men, dressed in broadcloth, and puffing a pure Havana. But these princely feelings last only a moment, like the soap bubble in the air. A glance at the greasy pants, the last summer's hat, the three-year-old cob pipe, and the country editor is again at work, cussing secretly, his delinquent subscribers, and blowing them up in the paper.—Ex is daily enacted, in thousands of homes, as Death claims, in each one, another victim of Consumption or Pneumonia. But when Coughs and Colds are properly treated, the tragedy is averted. F. G. Huntley, of Oakland, Ind., writes: "My wife had the consumption and three doctors gave her up. Finally she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which cured her, and today she is well and strong." It kills the germs of all diseases. One dose relieves. Guaranteed at 50c and $1.00 by J. H. Templeton and D. P. Adamson druggists. Trial bottle free.

A Grim Tragedy.
