E. H. Sparks returned to the city the first of the week from Fobey Springs where he spent several months ago for the benefit of his health. Mr. Sparks is much improved and states that he spent an enjoyable summer in the mountains.

Thron Thronson returned last Thursday evening from Dayton Wash., where he went to attend a meeting of the Oregon Mayflower company. Mr. Thronson stated the storm which visited Crook county the first of last week extended into Washington although not as heavy there as in this region.

Rev. Mitchell announces that he will preach in the Presbyterian church next Sunday, September 24, morning and evening. He asks that the members arrange to meet with the Christian Endeavor Sunday evening before the preaching service at the Union church.

G. W. Noble, A. J. Noble and Meyer & Brown, of the Paulina district, turned off a bunch of cattle last week. The Nobles sold 100 head and the latter firm a small bunch to Walt Brown, of Ize. The price paid for three and four-year-olds was $30, dry cows bringing $17.

John Ogier, of San Jose, Cal., was in the city this week on his way to Crook to visit for a couple of weeks with the Shaddock family and friends in that locality. Mr. Ogier is a former resident of this county and a firm believer in its future and that irrigation will transform the sagebrush land into the best of farms. This is Mr. Ogier's first visit here in three years and he expressed surprise at the steady growth which the county has had in that time, especially in this city where many new buildings have been erected since he was last here.

R. G. Smith and family returned this week from a two weeks' visit to the Portland exposition.

P. B. Davis has resigned his position as local agent of the Prineville-Shaniko Stage company, his place being filled by Earl Barnes.

Someone, either through accident while out hunting, or else intentionally shot and killed a valuable calf belonging to John Geiger last week. He had missed the animal several days and after a day's search found the body some little distance beyond the brick yard where a bullet hole in the head disclosed the cause of death.

Mrs. C. A. Rosenberg, who has been visiting with her son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Rosenberg, for several weeks, left yesterday in company with Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Cline on a trip across the mountains to Coburg. From there she will go to her home in Portland. Dr. Cline and wife returning after a short visit in the Valley.

An automobile, carrying two passengers, caused serious injury to three horses, hitched to a freight team, near Lamonta last week. A six horse wool team on its way to Shaniko from Silver Lake met the auto in a narrow stretch of road. The animals became frightened and made a short turn into a barbed wire fence, the sharp prongs cutting deep gashes in the shoulders and legs of three of the horses. The tongue of one of the wagons was broken, but through a fortunate circumstance escaped further injury.

About sixty per cent of the average crop will be the yield of wheat in Wasco county this year. While last year many acres averaged from 40 to 45 bushels, and one producer told us of a good 52 bushels, now it is running from 12 to 20 bushels, a few averaging between 20 and 35. Lack of moisture is mostly responsible for the deficit, some of the spring-sown grain getting no moisture until the latter part of June. The price also is falling short this year. At this date in 1904, 75 cents a bushel was being paid; today it is 63 cents. One reason for the decrease in price is the fact that less is being exported.—Dalles Chronicle.

Peter Kelley, a ranchman who owns a homestead in the vicinity of Grizzly was adjudged insane in Justice Luckey's court Tuesday afternoon and was confined in the city jail pending the arrival of state officers who will take him to the asylum at Salem. Kelly is possessed with the idea that some of his neighbors are trying to poison himself and his dog and cut and his actions during the past few weeks were such that residents near his homestead feared that he might become violent and do someone bodily injury. On all other subjects, during the examination, he appeared perfectly rational. Drs. Rosenberg and Edwards made the examination.

Don't forget the closing out sale at J. F. Morris', for the way they are selling it will not last long. Many thousands of dollars worth of goods, including Dry Goods, Groceries, Wagons, Buggies and Hacks are included in the sale. Your special attention is called to the sale of buggies as having a large lot of them on hand a big cut in prices has been made to close them out, also a small reduction on the Schuttler wagon which is sold at a very small profit. Owing to the excellent material used in this wagon it is valued for its superior strength, great endurance, light build and light draft, all of which make it one of the most satisfactory wagons that can be bought.

The jovially inclined person who sent Deputy Sheriff Haner a small package of matches through the mail not long since, and who so far managed to keep his identity unknown to that official, has enjoyed by this time in all probability a long and pleasure lending laugh. But Deputy Haner has been on the verge of spontaneous combustion during the past few days and says his laugh more than discounts that of the other fellow's because the joke now is on the latter. The aforesaid joker when he handed those matches to Uncle Sam for transportation through the mails intentionally violated one of the postal laws providing against the transmission of combustible or inflammable matter likely to cause damage to the mail and if his identity becomes known he is liable to a heavy penalty for his act. In consequence Deputy Haner's curiosity regarding the identity of the person who took such infinite pains to wrap and rewrap the package of matches with pink ribbons has subsided into a snail which is converted into a laugh whenever the matter is mentioned, and he is enjoying to the limit the ticklish position in which the practical joker has placed himself.

F. C. Rowlee was over from Redmond the first of the week.

J. W. Bledsoe and J. W. Shattelfelt left this week for Portland. Mr. Bledsoe will continue on his journey to California where he and his family will spend the winter. Mr. Shattelfelt expects to locate for a time in the vicinity of Goldendale, and will go from there to Portland to resume his work as staff photographer for the Oregonian.

Mercury Flows From Lookout.

Pure, white quicksilver, worth $40 a flask, flowed from the new circular furnace on Lookout mountain for a short time Wednesday and then operations were discontinued until a drier can be built. A few hours work at the furnace, which has been undergoing the process of being "blown in" during the past ten days, demonstrated two things: that the ore is rich with mercury, and that owing to the excessive amount of moisture which it contains it will be necessary to absorb this water before the ore can be successfully treated in the furnace built for the purpose.

About ten tons of ore were burned Wednesday out of which there was condensed about 150 pounds of quicksilver. A large percentage was lost in the tailings and escape of the gases caused from too sudden slipping of the ore down the pitch of the furnace when the ore matter became dry. Otherwise results are highly satisfactory and construction will begin at once on a drier so that as little time as possible will be lost before getting the maximum daily output from the furnace.

Range Troubles Are Over.

"Crook County range troubles are over for good, I believe," is the declaration of J. G. Edwards, who bears the sobriquet "Oregon Wool King," because of his vast range acreage in Crook County and his thousands of fine Merino sheep.

"When division lines were established recently, I believe the Crook County range troubles were ended, and I have no reason to anticipate a fresh outbreak," he continued.

"Sleep men in this state never had cause to be as happy as they should be now. The demand for wool and mutton is better than ever before and the prices for the next wool crop will be larger than they have been in nearly a quarter of a century."

Mr. Edwards has about sixty sheep on exhibition at the Exposition. He raises only Rambouillet, Spanish Merino and Delaine stock. This ranch, one of the largest in the state and the largest thoroughbred ranch in the United States, has been established since 1873 and has an international reputation. It is located on Hay Creek. Mr. Edwards controls 30,000 acres of range and owns 40,000 to 50,000 head of sheep.—Telegram.

Public Schools Open.

The public schools opened on Monday with a large attendance. Prof. Ford thinks the attendance is larger than at the opening last year and looks for an increase for several weeks. There is already an overflow in Miss Kidder's room, and Miss Vanderpool will be compelled to hear recitations from the third grade in order to relieve the crowded condition. All the teachers and pupils have taken up their work with pleasure and vigor and the outlook for the coming year is promising.

At the opening exercises Monday morning the pupils were addressed by Judge Brink and Principal Ford, both of whom filled their remarks full of the spirit, which if followed, will give added credit to the local schools when the school year has been brought to a close.

BORN

To the wife of George Cyrus, Sunday, September 17, an eight pound son.

DIED.

Elmer Hawkins, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hawkins, died at their residence on the Ochoco, September 15, and was buried in Mill creek cemetery. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. J. T. Moore, assisted by the Rev. W. S. Cook. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of a host of friends.

A Warning to Mothers.

Too much care cannot be used with small children during the hot weather of the summer months to guard against bowel troubles. As a rule it is only necessary to give the child a dose of castor oil to correct any disorder of the bowels. Do not use any substitute, but give the old-fashioned castor oil, and see that it is fresh, as rancid oil nauseates and has a tendency to gripe. If this does not check the bowels give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and then a dose of castor oil, and the disease may be checked in its incipency and all danger avoided. The castor oil and this remedy should be procured at once and kept ready for instant use as soon as the first indication of any bowel trouble appears. This is the most successful treatment known and may be relied upon with implicit confidence even in cases of cholera infantum. For sale by D. P. Adamson.
