THURSDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1905

Joe Beall 'ud set upon a keg Down to the grocery store an' throw One leg right over t'other leg An' swear he'd never had a show,
 "O, no," said Joe,
 "Hain't had no show."
 Then shif his quid to t'other jaw.
 An' chaw, an' chaw, an' chaw.
 He said he got no start in life, Didn't get no money from his dad, The washin' took in by his wife Earned all the funds he ever had
 "O, no," said Joe,
 "Hain't had no show."
 An, then he'd look up at the clock An' talk, an' talk, an' talk, an' talk.
 "I've waited twenty year—let's see—Yes twenty-four, an' never struck, Altho' I've sot round patiently.
 The fast tarnation streak of luck,
 "O, no," said Joe,
 "Hain't had no show."
 Then stuck like muckleg to the spot, An' sot' an' sot' an' sot, an' sot.
 I've come down reguler every day For twenty year to Piper's store, I've sot here in a patient way.
 Say hain't I Piper? Piper swore,
 "I tell ye, Joe,
 Yer hain't had no show; Yer too dern patient!"—then hull ratt Jest laffed, an' laffed, an' laffed, an' laffed.
 —Sam Walter Foss.

Over in the mining district around Sumpter and Baker City there is much acclaim over Chas.
 A. Johns as the next sitter in the gubernatorial chair. If lacking in everything else, Mr. Johns will certainly have the hearty support of the gold wing of Oregon.

Commissioner Richards, of the general land office, has forwarded to the secretary of the interior his annual report covering the fiscal year ended June 30 last. It shows that during the year 16,979,500 acres of public lands and 77,546 acres of Indian lands were disposed of, the total exceeding that for 1904 by 550,000 acres. Of the public lands disposed of 12,895, 571 acres were entered under the homestead law, 696,877 under the timber and stone law, 711,124 under the desert land law and 68, 507 acres of swamp lands were patented. The total receipts for the year including those for the sale of the Indian lands were $7, 017,811.

It is very probable that the people of Oregon will elect the next United States senator. That is, they will nominate their candidates in the direct primaries and the legislature will be bound to ratify their choice. The senatorial fight promises to be the most interesting of all the contests for political honors in Oregon during the next campaign. The spirit of the direct primary law is strong.
 The people will insist on it being enforced, the press is unanimous for it and the broad-minded leaders of the republican party are supporting the law. It will be exceedingly difficult to defeat the purpose of the law and upon these premises candidates for United States senatorial honors may rely.
 The contest in the primaries promises to be full of keen interest.
 Several of the ablest men of the state contemplate entering the race for popular majority and the gubernatorial and congressional races promise to be overshadowed by the senatorial struggle.—Pendleton Tribune.

Actions taken in two states, and doubtless there will be more to follow, to prevent the New York Life from doing business within their limits, puts a new and dangerous phase on the life insurance situation. The investigation which is now limited to the New York Life, dearly discloses a condition that warrants all the strictures that have been passed upon the executive officials by the newspapers and policy-holders.
 They are justified in demanding the withdrawal of these executive officers from the company and that course must be followed if the company is to retain a shred of public confidence. What is true of the New York Life is true of all that combination of companies.

 The methods that governed one governed all. All were equally bad, reckless and irresponsible; all were used for purposes of private gain and with an indifference for the interests of the stockholders which is simply amazing to contemplate. It will not be enough to remove these officials and to radically change their methods and management, but the whole financial plan must be so modified as to more fully protect the interests of the policy-holders. This must be a necessary outcome of the investigations now going on.
 But there will be another outcome.
 The great over-shadowing companies will never again be so great and dominating. The smaller companies will gain largely by the investigations and companies organizing or to be organized. Life insurance eventually will be much more largely managed by men who are under the eye and within the reach of the stockholders. It is evident that the present plan does not work any too well and that those in control of the great companies have been without feeling of responsibility to those who have invested their money with them. They have practically milked dry the coconut and they must pay the penalty which they so richly deserve.—Journal.

It appears that William R.
 Hearst and Tammany are to lock horns in the approaching New York municipal contest. The result will be watched with some interest by the rest of the country as determining Mr. Hearst's real value as a politician. There is no doubt but the New York newspaper editor and his friends will take his Mayorality canvass in a very serious spirit. It is altogether probable they will be elated with the hope of winning. Mr. Hearst we conceive to be something more than a shrewd advertiser, although we have never reached that optimistic view regarding his prospective political fortunes that would lead us to put him down as a successful politician, even in embryo.
 How far this lack of faith in Mr.
 Hearst's ability to climb the heights may be shared by the voters of New York City is a matter which he is bent on putting to the test. The issue, if decided adversely to him, will undoubtedly put Mr. Hearst out of the political running altogether. The only advantage which this aspirant for the Mayorality possesses in New York which will count for anything like a showing of strength is the political support he can command in his own Congressional district, and among that class of men who are ready to rally about any political banner on which is inscribed the slightest reference to municipal ownership. The conservative friends of a reform government, in a city like New York, are impressed with the idea that there is a little—perhaps a considerable—strain of the quack in the newspaper man's political make-up. Whether there be justification for this opinion or not is not to the purpose. The opinion is entertained by this class of people, and by this class Mr. Hearst will not only be denied support, but if his canvass should approach the danger line of success as against Mr. McClellan, he would encounter their opposition.—Telegram.

It is painful to again chronicle the fact that railroad engineers are again making a stamping ground of Crook county and making cobweb lines over the surface of the country. It is painful to make mention again of the fact if the outcome is not any more tangible than it has been for several years past. But somehow there is a different kind of agitation in the atmosphere than there has been heretofore. It really begins to look as if the vast resources of Crook county had at last got tan-glefooted in the brains of the railroad corporations. At least we must so judge from the outward demonstrations, the different corps of surveyors now at work, the presence in the county of influential railroad men who come and go silently but continue to keep their forces at work. It is a wavering hope, to be sure, because so often dashed to earth in the past, but there is a feeling prevalent this time that hope, like truth, is rising again after serving for some months in the capacity of a corpse.

Four representatives in Congress are promised Oregon in 1910, when the next Federal census is taken, according to the estimates of the growth of population of the state. She has but two now. It is believed that the growth of Oregon for the next five years will be very great, and that when the next apportionment is made the state will make a much better comparative showing than in the past.
 According to the last census taken by the state, Portland has had an increase in population in the last five years of more than twenty-two per cent. It is reasonable to suppose that the entire state has grown in proportion to the city, and if this is so, Oregon has a population of about 500,000, which, according to the last apportionment of congressmen, would give the state another representative. Railroad building and other great prospective enterprises indicate that the increase in the next five years will be more than for any like period in the past, and will easily give the state another congressman.

A Missouri editor who grew tired of wielding the whitewash brush in the matter of obituaries, decided to reform and tell the truth just once. He commented as follows upon the death of a well known citizen: Died—, aged 26, year, 9 months and 13 days. Deceased was a mild-mannered pirate with a mouth for whiskey and an eye for boodle. He came here in the night with another man's wife and joined the church at the first chance. He owed us several dollars for the paper, a meat bill and you could hear him pray six blocks. He died singing, "Jesus Paid it All," and we think he is right, as he never paid anything himself. He was buried in an asbestos casket, and his many friends threw palm leaf fans in his grave as he may need them. His tombstone will be a favorite resting place for hoot owls.
