A corps of Columbia Southern railroad engineers has infested the country in the vicinity of Madras during the past week. Another crew is surveying between Cash creek and Sisters and T. H. Curtis of the Corvallis & Eastern is in Bend taking note of various things that don't get away from him. What an awful joke it would be on Crook county if both lines got busy at the same time trying to head off the other.

Crook county's mineral resources are well advertised in the mineral case in the front of Templeton's drug store. The case contains samples of cinnabar from Lookout mountain, gold ore from the Oregon King mine at Ashwood, several chunks of bituminous coal, rock carrying arsenic and nickel and many fine specimens of petrified wood which have been taken from the rim rock a mile east of town where a small petrified forest projects above the surface of the ridge. Besides the latter there is a variety of fossils. Altogether the collection is an interesting display of the county's geological formations which recently have attracted the attention of the mining world.

Twenty crack sportsmen gathered in the Vanderpool field Sunday afternoon to shoot clay pigeons for the Stevens shot gun which was offered for the highest score. F. Lawton, of Hay Creek, broke 12 out of 20—the score which carried off the prize. The other competitors laid their low averages to the wind, the sun, their eye sight, the cloudy weather and various other causes. One of them was heard to remark that a recent cyclone in Arkansas had upset his nerves. Anyway, the results didn't speak very gloriously for the local shooters, but there is consolation in the fact that they can do better and probably will redeem themselves when the event is repeated.

Tillman, formerly a resident of Grant county, and who was at one time confined in the county jail in this city to await the investigation by the grand jury of some offense with which he was charged, was arrested Tuesday at LaGrande on information that he was wanted in Crook county on a charge of horse stealing. A warrant has been forwarded to Sheriff Ambrose, who expects to leave tonight for La Grande to bring Tillman to this city, where he will be held awaiting the arrival of the Crook county officer. Crook county authorities recently arrested a man named Burris on a charge of horse stealing, who, it is said, implicated Tillman in the matter.—Canyon City Eagle.

Good Showing in Tax Collection.

Tax collections on the 1904 roll, the balance of which became delinquent the 2nd of this month, have almost reached a record breaking point. The amount still outstanding on the total assessment of $63,294.14 is only $5051.94, and there are still practically four months remaining before the list of delinquents will be published. Deputy sheriff Haner thinks that the list as it will appear about the first of next February will have quite a number of names, but the total amount still delinquent at that time will be exceedingly small. The collections made by the Sheriff this year have been unusually satisfactory and the roll was checked up and balanced inside of a few days after the 2nd of October, the delinquent date. Following is the summary of collections and data as turned over in the report to the county clerk:
