MORE PIE EATING

The statement of F. S. Stanley, secretary of the Deschutes Irrigation & Power Company, relative to the Drake suit and the attempt of the plaintiff to keep the company from filing new water rights in order to insure a supply for its canals, shows a little more conclusively the real object of the plaintiff's attack. The irrigation company, however, is probably able to cope with the species of pettifoggery which at present is obstructing its path and delaying the work of reclamation. As suggested by the plaintiff's representative, the Bend Bulletin, there may be two sides to the damage suit, but the most elaborate excuse for the plaintiff's action in attempting to keep the company from renewing its water rights, would be a poor excuse indeed. To the average mind the fabric of the whole prosecution is exposed to view. Mr. Stanley strongly hints in his statement, published elsewhere, that the removal of the company's headquarters to Redmond is the underlying cause of the aggravating proceedings taken by the plaintiff and his demand for this, that and the other thing. Just what Mr. Drake expects to get out of the company or away from it remains to be seen, but if the enrichment of his pocketbook is the main object there may be some little difficulty experienced before the clasps are brought together.

HAD EVERYTHING READY

It was to be expected that the henchman of Bend's codfish aristocracy, he who presides at the desk of the Bend Bulletin, would have something to say relative to the local papers' synopsis of the Drake suit against the irrigation company. Contrary to the Bulletin's statements, The Journal had nothing to say of a derogatory nature concerning Bend itself, nor did it wish to do so. Bend, like other of the smaller towns in Crook county, will take care of itself. That much is admitted, and there was no occasion to misconstrue this paper's statements regarding the Drake suit into an attack upon Bend. The editor of the Bulletin, however, will admit that ever since the transfer of the irrigation rights Bend has been a center of controversy, and the removal of the present company's headquarters to Redmond as an outgrowth of the itching for trouble, was, we repeat, a serious blow to Bend, and the latter act probably had considerable to do with the suit now pending. We cannot see that a mere review of a matter in which not only the whole county but state is interested is justly interpreted as an attack on Bend. The editor of the Bulletin states positively that he does not care to be drawn into the controversy, but it will be noticed that in matters savoring strongly of extreme pettiness he generally gets four or five fingers in the pie before attempting to pull them out.

THAT WILD MAN

The Journal is in receipt of the following letter, written in a semi-humorous vein, concerning the mysterious man who is occupying a dug-out some miles south of the city. We tremble in publishing the letter in fear lest the Oregonian makes much ado concerning the lawlessness and unsafety of life in Crook county. Here's the letter:

"The Wild Man from Borneo, or some other seaport in the vicinity, seems to have taken up his abode on the desert south of Prineville. He has never been seen, but several of the ranchmen report having seen his tracks and two different dens or dug-outs in which he lives. It was a mystery how he lived until a while ago. When several fat calves were found with the choicest of the steak gone it was seen that Borneo himself knew what Oregon cattle were good for. There is talk of organizing a vigilante committee, as the ranchmen are afraid to leave home not knowing what freak he may develop next. It is generally supposed he is some criminal or else some poor fellow who has become demented. However, this seems like a good time for the authorities to show what they can do, as there is likely to be serious trouble if it is left to the neighbors to deal with him. D."

Uncle Harvey tells in a very elaborate manner in the issue of the Oregonian of the 21st the reasons why he is not Oregon's senator, and how he could have been but wasn't, and how he might have been but isn't. And all the while Uncle Harvey was writing his excuses for the edification of the public mind there was a big bunch of grapes (sour) hanging just above his desk upon which his eyes were reluctantly fastened.

The Central Oregonian is still unconvinced that the mystery surrounding the disappearance of a woman near Sand Springs, an explanation of which was given in last week's Journal, has been solved. The Oregonian says: "her horses passed through this valley and were long ago seen in Sprague river valley; she had but one set of harness—" That's it exactly. Queer we didn't see that before. Why, of course, she hitched herself up in that one set of harness and drove herself away. Sure, that's it.

Willow Creek

T. F. Buchanan returned last week from Portland where he has been receiving medical treatment.

Mrs. Hunt, who lives at Gray Butte, was visiting her mother, Mrs. C. Montgomery, the first of last week.

Miss Ada Pennington, of Prineville, spent a week with her sister, Miss Myrtle, who is teaching the Willow creek school.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dee, Mrs. Newbill and Mrs. Crooks were in Prineville the first of the week.

Grizzly school is progressing nicely, and it has been decided to have a four-months' term instead of three.

Willow creek is to have a new pastor, the Rev. Craig, of Madras. This will give us service every two weeks, but we regret very much to lose the Rev. Jimmett.

Henry Montgomery and others have recently purchased a thoroughbred stallion for which they paid $3200.

John Lewis is adding many improvements to his store which will enable him to carry a much larger stock.

Miss Myrtle Pennington went to her home in Prineville last Friday to stay until Sunday.

C. W. Elkins is offering a present to every cash purchaser equal to one sixth of the purchase. For further information see his large display ad. in another part of this paper.

The small office building formerly occupied by Dr. C. A. Cline, was summarily moved across the Ochooc, Monday, to the Charles Huston feed yard. The front end of the building was mounted on two wagon wheels and the rear end dragged on skids. Six horses walked along with the house. The old D. P. Adamson residence was also moved to lots owned by Mr. Adamson on Third Street near the High School building by Steuering & Mitchell, where it will be fitted up for renting.

No Poison in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

From Napier New Zealand, Herald: Two years ago the Pharmacy Board of New South Wales, Australia, had an analysis made of all the cough medicines that were sold in that market. Out of the entire list they found only one that they declared was entirely free from all poisons. This exception was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, made by the Chamberlain Medicine Company, Des Moines, Iowa, U. S. A. The absence of all narcotics makes this remedy the safest and best that can be had; and it is with a feeling of security that any mother can give it to her little ones. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is especially recommended by its makers for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. This remedy is for sale by D. P. Adamson.
