Fresh Oysters at "The O'Neil".
L. Michel left for Portland Sunday on a business trip.

Hardy Allen was over from Sisters the last of the week on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Boone were passengers on Saturday's stage for Portland.

There are 29 voting precincts in the county this year, county court having changed the boundaries and added five more precincts to the old number during its last session.

Honore T. Jones, special agent of the department of the Interior, came in from Portland Sunday to remain a week on government business. He went over to Bend Monday morning.

County Clerk Smith opened the registration books the first of the week for the primary and general elections. These will remain open until April 10 and will be closed then April 25 to allow for the primary election which takes place on April 20.

Wm. Panenka, of Powell Buttes on whose property a seepage of water was struck a short time ago, was in town yesterday. Mr. Panenka said he was confident that with further drilling a good flow of water would be found. Operations have been discontinued for the time until the drill can be repaired.

Chas. E. Reed and wife, of Redmond, were in the city Monday on their return home from a honeymoon trip which has been spent at various points in Washington. They visited a few days at Mr. Reed's former home in North Yakima, and then made a tour of the state, spending a short time at all of the principal cities.

Irving Reed, who was so seriously injured by a powder explosion near Bend a few weeks ago, was in town Saturday with his parents on his way to Portland where he will have his eyes treated. With the exception of his sight, which is greatly impaired, he has recovered from the effects of the painful accident. It is thought that the Portland oculists will be able to save the sight of one eye if not that of both.

"Do to"

The O'Neil for Fresh Oysters.
J. M. Henke was a business visitor for the first of the week from Grizzly.

Mayor A. L. Goodwillie, of Bend, was in town last Saturday to take the first degree in the Masonic lodge.

Carpenters are at work in Athletic hall laying the floor for the new bowling alley which will soon be ready for use. The alley will occupy the south side of the building in the portion of the club house which has not before been used.

Game hunters in this county who secured licenses last year to permit themselves the use of the shooting rods with a clear conscience, should not forget that those permits expired on the last day of 1905. It is necessary that new licenses be issued for the present year.

Wm. Wigle is arranging to give another of his dances at Athletic hall a week from tomorrow night. The usual order of floor managers has been reversed and five young ladies will have care of the evening's program. They are: Mrs. Angie Bonney, Misses Maude Vanderpool, Iora Ward, Gertrude Sharp and Berna Poindexter.

Boschen-Salomon Wedding

Miss Mary L. Salomon, of this city, who has been a student at the Willamette University the past three years, was married in Salem New Year's day to Arthur L. Boschen. The Salem Statesman gives the following account of the wedding:

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was witnessed on last Monday evening, January 1, 1906, at the residence of Gen. W. H. Odell, when Miss Mary Lucile Salomon and Arthur L. Boschen were joined in the bonds of wedlock. President J. H. Coleman of Willamette university performed the ceremony, using the ring form of service.

The spacious parlors of Gen. Odell's residence were prettily decorated with Oregon grape and fern and potted plants, and there were about thirty guests present. The ceremony took place in one of the bay windows under a large white floral bell, suspended from an arch of smilax, while on either side were banked plants for a background. The bride was gowned exquisitely in cream silk tulle, with garlands of lace and insertion, and carried a bouquet of bride roses.

Many numerous and costly gifts were sent from friends both out of town and in, consisting chiefly of silver, cut glass, china and linen. Some little time was spent socially, then the bridal party and guests adjourned to the large and elegantly furnished dining room, which was tastefully decorated in red and green. Suspended from the chandelier was a large red horseshoe, and garlands of smilax. The table decorations were red carnations and smilax. The favors were small red horseshoes, bearing the name of the guest, and silken bags of rice. A delicate and appetizing luncheon was served, the color scheme of red and green being carried out as far as possible, in the dishes served.

THE JOURNAL has a supply of blank petitions for Primary Nominations which are on sale at this office at regular legal blank rates. All candidates for the offices will find them very convenient for securing the signatures of voters as required by law.

The Oliver, Haystack and Madras country has been visited by a six-inch snow storm, which fell yesterday and today. This will rejoice the farmers who have found conditions too dry for working the soil. Heavy snows are also reported at The Dalles and Shaniko and telephone lines are down between Prineville and Portland. No snow has yet fallen here.

Sisters correspondence received too late this evening for publication. It will appear next week, keep a comin'.

Raising Blooded Poultry.

G. Springer, whose home ranch is located at the eastern foot of Haystack mountain, four miles from Culver post office, this week showed a Journal representative some as fine chickens as can be seen in any man's country. Mr. Springer is making a specialty of the three varieties, Barred Rocks, Black Langshans and Wyandottes, and his fowls are all pure blooded and of the highest type of perfection. Each year he imports from the best fanciers pure blooded cocks from the yards of the foremost poultrymen in the United States and has carefully eliminated from his stock any birds which show the slightest deviations from the requirements of the American standard. As a result he has some beautiful birds for which he has not yet been able to fill the demand.

Mr. Springer has long been known as one of the foremost breeders of blooded horses in Central Oregon. He now has on his ranch about 60 head of young animals, Clydes, Standard Trotters and Hackneys, all splendid looking colts.

Services will be held at the Methodist church next Sunday morning. The pastor will take for his subject: "A Petition for the New Year." Sunday school at 10 a. m. Epworth League at 6:30 p. m. There will be no preaching at night.
