Grave Trouble Forseen.

It needs but little foresight, to tell, that when your stomach and liver are badly affected, grave trouble is ahead, unless you take the proper medicine for your disease, as Mrs. John A. Young, of Clay, N. Y. did. She says: "I had neuralgia of the liver and stomach, my heart was weakened, and I could not eat. I was very bad for a long time, but in Electric Bitters, I found just what I needed, for they quickly relieved and cured me." Best medicine for weak women. Sold under guarantee by Dr. P. DRAKE STILL BLOCKS WAY

Fences Up Canal Intake of D. I. & P. Co.

HOWLS "TRESPASS"

When Company Commences Work To Increase Flow of Water In Canals.

Although Judge Bradshaw has partially dissolved the injunction brought by A. M. Drake against the D. I. & P. Co. for alleged trespass on and injury to his private property, it seems that these people are still at it hammer and tongs and Mr. Drake is still using every method known to him to hamper the irrigation company in its work of reclamation. The following is from the last issue of the Bend Bulletin:

When the D. I. & P. Co. started to build the wing dam at its headgate south of Bend Tuesday the workmen found the land adjoining enclosed with a wire fence and trespass notices posted by A. M. Drake. The company has disregarded the notices and will continue its work.

Superintendent Rowlee, when interviewed by a Bulletin man, said: "The company is acting wholly within its rights. We are simply completing construction work which we had not finished. The D. I. & P. Co. purchased that property from Mr. Drake, and we are firm in the belief that we are trespassing on no one's rights."

Regarding this latest move on the part of the company Mr. Drake said: "When the P. B. D. Co. sold its interests to the D. I. & P. Co. it conveyed specific property recited in the deed, including the Pilot Butte flume as constructed and right of way from the headgate which the P. B. Co. had acquired from me over my personal lands. This gave the ditch company no more right to invade or appropriate my personal lands or property than that of Mr. Staats or any other neighbor. They don't seem to appreciate this but help themselves generally to anything pertaining to me, when and where they please. On my remonstrating I have been told to shut up or they would put me out of business."

"When I obtained an injunction last fall against this trespassing, they denied under oath to the judge any intention of further trespassing. He dissolved the injunction in part, whereupon they immediately rush in a force of men with tools and machinery. I had inclosed the premises and put up trespass notices, which they boast they will defy, leaving the law to take care of itself."

"Negotiations had been in progress for settlement of the issues between us, and within a week I have had a letter from one of the officers of the company assuring me of their desire to make amends for the wrongs that they had done and pleading that if I would preserve a truce pending the negotiations no move would be made by them adverse to my rights or interests. The moment that they ceased to be restrained by law, they broke faith."

"As they can acquire no rights through violation of law, I shall now carry matters to the final court. I shall also proceed against their officers on criminal charges as well as bring a big damage suit against the company itself for violation of their contract with me for a perpetual flow of 25 cubic feet of water per second. I am, through temporizing with such people."

May Change Timber Laws.

Congress is considering a change in the existing timber laws, and sometime during the present session the timber and stone act is likely to be repealed. In its place a law will probably be enacted authorizing the sale of public timber at something like its real value. The law as it stands is considered unjust and vicious for the reason that the amount of timber on a claim or actual value from location or other points of advantage does not govern its price. One hundred and sixty acres of timber away up in the Rocky Mountains costs just as much as the valuable timber lands of Oregon. The same price that now prevails could be obtained for the poor timber of some districts while the splendid forests of Oregon would bring a price easily double or triple that at which claims are now being patented.

The money received from the sale of timber lands is the main source of revenue for the prosecution of government reclamation projects and for this reason Western men will not consent to a simple repeal of the law but will insist on a substitute which will provide for the sale of mature timber on public lands, so that the revenue for the continuance of reclamation work will not be diminished. Under existing laws the government is selling timber from the forest reserves but this money goes into the federal treasury and is not used on reclamation works. There is being made the demand for a law which will authorize the sale of mature timber from public lands, the title of the land to remain in the government. In support of this proposed law its advocates point out that the destruction of the timber will be properly controlled and make the matter of reforestation of the land feasible.

LECTURE AND MUSIC

Ladies Annex and Rev. Mitchell Present Meritorious Program.

The Athletic Club's gymnasium was comfortably filled last Friday evening by those who had assembled to enjoy the musical and literary entertainment arranged by the Ladies' Annex and the Rev. J. A. Mitchell, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Rev. Mitchell's portion of the program was a lecture on the subject of "Courtship and Marriage." The Williamson quartette, composed of J. N. Williamson, Mrs. J. H. Rosenberg, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Elkins, was a feature of the evening and their numbers were accorded hearty acclamation. The artistic make-up of Mr. Elkins as the Dutchman in the song, "The County Fair," at the hands of Joe Smeizer was alone well worth the price of admission.

Rev. Mitchell's lecture was in a vein of humorous satire. But with it all he made some strong impressions on the relations which ought to exist in the home and the requirements necessary on the part of both the husband and the wife for the enjoyment of a happy wedded life. He summed up briefly and said: A woman wants work, dress and appreciation. A man wants work, food and appreciation. He recited Dickens's "Dr. Marigold" illustrating married life under some conditions, and while his lecture was withal an entertaining and scholarly discourse, the only criticism that could be offered is that there was too much Dickens and not enough Mitchell.

The program opened with a selection by the orchestra, "Daughter of Love." The Williamson quartette presented "The Auctioneer" and responded to an encore. Mrs. A. C. Strange sang in her sweet pure voice "When the Roses Bloom" and responded to the encore with "I Know a Lovely Garden." Mrs. Carey W. Foster gave the reading "That Old Sweetheart of Mine" a most pleasing interpretation. Mrs. S. I. Belknap sang the solo "Dear Old Girl." The Williamson quartette rendered "The County Fair" in a manner that brought down the house. During the program the orchestra also played the March two steps "Yankiana," "Yankee Grit" and "Just at the Break of Dawn."

The proceeds amounted to about $60, which were divided between Rev. Mitchell and the Ladies Annex. The entertainment was one of the best that has been given in the city this season.

Bluerock Shoot.

Last Sunday afternoon a number of the local shotgun men practiced on clay pigeons at the trap grounds. Several interesting and closely contested sweepstake matches were shot off and some good scores made. A general summary of each man's score is here given:

Targets	Broke	Percentage
B. Millhorn	32	15	47
A. Powell	77	63	82
M. Balley	82	58	70
C. Lytle	35	25	71
J. Templeton	26	14	54
A. Baldwin	24	13	54
B. Cady	27	15	55
H. Crabtree	22	9	40
Wurzweiler	20	9	45

Another shoot will be held next Sunday when a match will be made for a rifle, should the weather permit. For the information of those who might like to take part all are cordially invited to participate. Ammunition can be bought at the grounds and the cost of shooting is 5 cents per shot including targets and shells. Hereafter the rules usually governing shotgun matches will be observed.

TALKS ABOUT FRUIT TREES

T. H. Lafollett Furnishes Some Timely Hints.

HE HAS SUCCEEDED

Discusses the Different Varieties and Advises All to Plant Orchards for Home Use.

Editor Journal: It will soon be time to order fruit trees for spring planting. A few words concerning varieties might be appreciated by the many new settlers beginning to build homes in our county. About the most discouraging thing to have is a tree which bears shyly. If at all, while requiring as much attention and occupying as much space as one which never fails.

I have a small orchard at the eastern end of Powell Buttes which has been bearing over 15 years, during which time it has never failed to produce some fruit and is often heavily laden. Some varieties, however, do much better than others.

Of summer apples the Tetosky is first to ripen, usually about the last of July; never fails to bear fruit and is a good summer apple in every respect. The next to ripen is the Duchess of Oldenburg, a good apple and sure heavy bearer. Then follows the Striped Astrachan, a good apple and a sure bearer with us. We have the Fourth of July, a very fine apple, but a very light bearer, often falling entirely. Next in season is the Gravenstein, not a heavy bearer, but seldom falling entirely. Following this is the Wealthy, a splendid fall apple, heavy, regular bearer of large and attractive fruit. Tree a vigorous grower. The Rambo is next in season, seldom fails, but not a heavy bearer as a rule and is small and unattractive with us, though it keeps well often until February.

Of winter varieties the best we have is the Pewankee, a sure heavy bearer of good sized attractive fruit which keeps until late in winter. This apple deserves more than passing notice. It is a splendid cooking apple. If I were planting a commercial orchard this would be the principal variety. The Yellow Newtown Pippin is a shy bearer in our orchard, though it is such a fine keeper we would not do without it, often keeping until summer apples come again. Golden Russet is a light bearer, but seldom fails entirely and is worthy a place in the orchard. Willow Twig is a light irregular bearer, but a fine keeper. The Blue Pearmain is also a very light bearer with us, often falling entirely.

Of Crab apples we have Hyslop Transcendent and Montreal Beauty, all regular bearers. The Hyslop is our favorite. It grows large and is a fine keeper; bears young and never fails.

The above varieties planted where they do well will keep a family supplied with apples the whole year. Peaches do well, never failing completely. Plums do well, too. Bradshaw is our favorite. Prunes do fairly well, seldom fail, but are small. Most small fruits do well and always bear except blackberries, only one variety. Evergreen, succeeding and it sometimes freezes back if not protected in winter.

My advice would be to plant an orchard no matter where you are located. Put it where it can be irrigated if possible, if not, mulch heavily to hold the moisture during dry weather. If you irrigate take the water off early enough to allow the wood to harden and your trees will stand the winter all right.

While this county will never rank with some other parts of the state as a fruit country, we can and will grow enough to supply the home market.

Murderous Wildcat.

Henry Carlon, who resides 25 miles up Crooked river had 75 pure blooded chickens in his henhouse recently. One night not long ago he heard his dog barking at some length but as a high wind was blowing he thought the dog was disturbed on that account and did not go out to ascertain the cause. Next morning he arose at about five o'clock and on going out found his dog sitting quietly by the broken glass window of the henhouse. He thought this action peculiar and opened the henhouse door, when a huge wildcat leaped onto his breast and hurled him to the ground. Mr. Carlon gathered himself together and made for the house where he got his gun and returned to the fray to find the big cat serenely awaiting him. One shot dispatched the varmint. On taking a look in the henhouse Mr. Carlon was confronted by a pile of dead chickens which the cat had killed and heaped up. Every one of the 75 choice fowls had been killed and placed in the heap. Mr. Carlon would be glad to sell the cat's hide for a sum equal to value of the chickens.

Killed Three Cougars.

George Miller and Ben Helfrich, of Lamonta, were in town Monday on their way home from a trip to Pine Mountain. They report the snow about three and one-half feet deep there. The boys killed three big cougars, a bobcat and a coyote. The cougars were all treed by a diminutive black dog named Nig. Nig is certainly entitled to a place on the roll of honor for thus assisting in ridding the range of these stock destroyers.

Candidates Getting Busy.

The political pot is beginning to boil in real earnest in Crook county but the only bubbles that have yet arisen to the surface are all branded "clerk" or "sheriff" with one candidate for county surveyor, while the seekers after political triumph have thus far remained oblivious to the allurements offered by the offices of joint representative, county commissioner, county treasurer and coroner, all of which must be filled at the coming election. The only additions that can be made to the verified list this week are the names of W. F. Hammer, of Haystack, who will endeavor to land the democratic nomination for clerk and Knox Huston who wants the job of being county surveyor on the same ticket. J. H. Haner aspires to the republican nomination for clerk, Sam Collins is circulating his petition for the nomination as republican sheriff, while Jake Stroud is going out after the democratic nomination. These are the only aspirants which can be positively announced as candidates at this time.

Agonizing Burns.

are instantly relieved, and perfectly healed, by Bucklen's Arnica Salve. B. Rivenbark, Jr., of Norfolk, Va., writes: "I burnt my knee dreadfully; that it blistered all over. Sisters Correspondence.

Sisters, Jan. 23.—Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Edmondson were visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Allen last Sunday.

D. N. Riggs was up from the Matoles Saturday.

Isaac New who has been attending school here this winter has returned home.

If you want any rough riding done enquire of George Wilson. He can ride the calf any day.

Danlet New was up from the lower desert recently. He says there is nothing "new" down there except himself and he was away.

Mr. Davis who is working at the Dorance sawmill, was at Sisters last week getting a bronco shod. He says his wife, who has been sick most of the winter is much improved.

E. H. Sparks reports that the well on the Long Hollow ranch of the Black Butte Company has been sunk 40 feet and will be continued until bedrock is reached or water struck.

Cline Falls News.

Cline Falls, Jan. 29.—G. W. Moore, who owns a 40-acre tract at the west end of the new bridge at Cline Falls is preparing to promote a townsite on his land. He is erecting a store building and has already purchased a stock of goods and will open his store to customers in a very short time. A large force of men have been working at the building and it is being completed as rapidly as lumber can be delivered. It is a two-story building and is 18x25 feet. Mr. Moore has cleared the land of sage brush and is preparing to lay it off into town lots. He is offering the public liberal inducements and is handling his project in the manner that is thought will make a town.

W. H. Webb, the school teacher at Cline Falls, attended a meeting of the water users' association at Redmond last Saturday evening.

Plowing is in progress at the Cline Falls Power Co.'s farm this week.

Fraud Exposed.

A few counterfeiters have lately been making and trying to sell imitations of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, and other medicines, thereby defrauding the public. This is to warn you to beware of such people, who seek to profit, through stealing the reputation of remedies which have been successfully curing disease, for over 35 years. A sure protection, to you is our name on the wrapper. Look for it, on all Dr. King's or Bucklen's remedies, as all others are mere imitations. H. E. BECKLES & Co., Chicago, Ill., and Windsor, Canada.
